

NORTH BEACH LEAGUE TELLS WHY IT FAVORS ANNEXATION

The North Virginia Beach Improvement League has issued a bulletin to its members giving reasons why it favors annexation of that area by the City of Virginia Beach.

In the bulletin signed by Charles A. Mowry, president, a comparison is drawn between Princess Anne County and the City of Virginia Beach in various municipal functions. The bulletin draws the conclusion that annexation by the City is desirable, although several points outlined are unpredictable in nature.

Princess Anne County recently reduced the tax rate in the area by $1.55 per $100 valuation, but the bulletin states that the tax rate will be only pennies less than that levied by the city.

The bulletin further stated that "it is inevitable that the deficit financing by the county and the increased costs of school debt service will result in a sharp increase in county taxes in the near future."

"Lower County taxes are no longer a reason for opposing annexation." An example is shown in which a piece of property, valued at $10,000, is assessed at $1,500 by the county. With a tax rate of $7.85 per $100 the tax bill amounts to $117.75. The same valuation in the city would be assessed at $4,000 with a tax rate of $2.38. This would make the bill $95.20, or "19 per cent less."

In this same category it is pointed out that, in the city, assessments for tax purposes are made by a Board of Assessors.

'Hopping Mad' Signers Decry Petition

The telephone was ringing in the Sun-News office Wednesday as a result of a news article appearing in Tuesday's Norfolk Ledger-Dispatch relative to petitions being circulated urging three men to run for the Virginia Beach City Council.

The calls were from persons who had signed the paper thinking it was the ordinary petition for an election. The indignant signers were quite perturbed when the news article reported the petitions stated that the signers had pledged their support to the election of these men.

Reactions were practically the same with each caller, they were "hopping mad" to be misled into signing such a petition phrased in such a manner. However, they needn't worry because it is not binding on them to support any individual or group of individuals.

UNITY TICKET HEARS SUPPORT VOICED BY REPRESENTATIVES OF COMMUNITY

Interviews with many business and social leaders of Virginia Beach this week brought a marked degree of unanimity in approving the platform of unity as set forth by the Unity Ticket recently in announcing for three seats on the Virginia Beach City Council, subject to the June election.

The Unity Ticket is composed of Mayor F. P. Murray, Frank D. Tarrall, Jr., and John A. Taliaferro. In announcing that they would seek the three seats on the Virginia Beach City Council in June, the trio issued a joint statement in which they stressed their desire to serve all the people and their hope that political differences of the past could be forgotten so that the city might move ahead as it should.

All persons interviewed wholeheartedly approved of the principle as outlined in the joint statement issued by members of the Unity Ticket.

W. Russell Hatchett, former town manager and former commissioner of the revenue for Princess Anne County, stated that the men who have announced for council on the unity ticket in a forthright statement released by them, have pledged themselves to work in the interest of unity and the welfare of the whole community.

Hatchett said, "they represent various sections and various interests, and their efforts to unite these for the good of all the people shall have my wholehearted support in the coming election."

Mrs. Grayson H. Harding, owner of the Atlantic Hotel, said: "I am very much in favor of any group desiring to create unity in our city which could grow immensely if we all pulled together. With turmoil throughout the world we need unity, I am for it."

Richard G. Brydges, an attorney, who was defeated in the 1952 councilmanic election, stated that "if there is ever any value in a conflict it can only be determined by the justness of the cause, and the unselfishness of the result in the minds of the participants. For if the cause is not just and the end not unselfish then the result is bitterness, hatred and civic decadence."

"We have been hopelessly engaged in such conflict since my coming to Virginia Beach and from my understanding long before that. The feeling is so vehement and all engulging that even a few individuals who try to reconcile these political differences by unselfishly seeking office seem doomed to be enmeshed in the web of a group whose only thought is to agitate, embitter and infuriate the citizenry of this community into voting them into political offices which they have not been able to win on any healthy, constructive or purposeful basis."

"I like every other individual in our city and county have suffered the social, economic and political results of this philosophy and when I hear the word unity it is like a voice in the wilderness pleading to be heard. We must believe it is sincere; we must cling to it and practice it lest we destroy ourselves."

Herbert Terry, secretary-treasurer of the Virginia Beach Federal Savings and Loan Association, stated that "it is a mighty good thing if we could have unity. Past bickering and squabbling has been bad advertising for the beach. I think the idea of unity is a wonderful approach to cure our ills."

Albert V. Crosby, Jr., manager of the Beach Theatre, said: "I think it is a good idea. I believe we could well afford unity and I am strongly in favor of the principle."

Woody Seamans, Virginia Beach's First Citizen for 1953 and owner of Seamans - Thompson variety store, said: "I like the thought of unity and if it can be carried out it will be a boon to our community."

Beach Advertising Gets Underway on April 4th

One of the most intensive campaigns in recent years gets underway this weekend to advertise the Virginia Beach resort.

According to the Chamber of Commerce announcements, more than thirty-three newspapers and publications will carry resort ads beginning April 4th and continuing in a planned program through August.

The Chamber of Commerce Advertising Committee, under the chairmanship of Sidney Banks, released a budget of $14,500.00 for paid space this year - an increase of twenty-five percent over 1953.

The Laura Lamb Advertising Agency of Virginia Beach was appointed to handle the more than 200 different advertisements which will feature the newly constructed beach in a series of ads in newspapers throughout the eastern United States and Canada.

In working out the schedule consideration was given to results of the past two years' advertising program according to Leo Hearty, resort Chamber manager.

It was pointed out that the newspaper program in part coordinates with that of the State Conservation and Development Commission. Hearty also reported that copies of the schedule had been provided all hotels, motels and cottages at the beach, with an appeal to coordinate the individual hotel advertising with that of the Chamber.

Commenting on the extent of the program, Laura Lamb indicated that a variety of ads would be used, featuring various recreational aspects of the beach in several different sizes for a total of 17,435 lines.

The following newspapers appear on the Beach Chamber's schedule: Baltimore Sun, Baltimore Post-Examiner, Baltimore Sun, Baltimore Sun.

TIPPING THE CHAPEAU

Have you ever seen Mrs. T. Lewis Johnson in action? That is, with a broom or any other garden implement you may care to name. The result is that her colorful garden is almost as vibrant as she is. In her bluish red hat cradling in her "Fire Chief Red" station wagon. Her wielding of the garden tools is bringing to the T. Lewis Johnsons of Birdneck Point, the highest award of the week. Their place has been selected by the Council of Garden Clubs as the beauty spot of the week by that organization's judges. Mrs. Johnson is an active member of the Birdneck Garden Club and how proud they must be of such a asset to their area! The Johnsons' garden is a mass of bloom at this time, consisting of dahlias, tulips, pansies, and the like, all sloping towards the water a huge bed of nemesia just about to burst forth in bloom.

Congratulations, Mr. and Mrs. T. Lewis Johnson!

Beach Clubs Plan Intra-Civic Support of Blood Collections

At all-out effort to make all visits of the Red Cross Bloodmobile to Virginia Beach a success, a group of civic leaders met last week to arrange for intra-civic club sponsorship of the Bloodmobile.

This latest move was motivated by the civilian club which has nearly three years, according to Duane Current, the club's blood chairman. He pointed out, that despite all efforts, no one organization in the past five years has been successful in providing sufficient blood donors to meet the quota of 150 pints per visit. However, he added that the combined efforts of a large group of clubs proved that it could be done earlier this month when, at all time high of 164 pints was collected.

At the meeting Current was re-elected by unanimous approval to continue as general blood chairman with a committee of various sub-chairmen representing each participating organization.

The committee plans to meet regularly and to embark upon that first-hand knowledge can be learned and passed on to club members. To encourage the study of blood, Harold Kellam, Red Cross Chapter chairman, was on hand to point out that material for study can be obtained from the chapter. Red Cross speakers are also to be made available to all organizations before the next Bloodmobile visit slated for June 28, Kellam added.

Representatives of various clubs invited to the meeting were Mrs. T. Cornell Berry, Princess Anne Junior Women's club; Mrs. William R. Hunnicutt, Junior League; W. Stacy, American Legion; William Fantone, Rotary Club; J. Mel Goad, Lion's club; Wyndham Brown, III, Junior Chamber of Commerce; W. R. Johnston, Exchange club; Mrs. Arthur S. Hill, Red Cross Blood chairman; her assistant, Mrs. D. H. Batchelor, and Mrs. Stuart Mallory, executive secretary.

Any other club interested in sponsoring the Bloodmobile is requested by Current to contact him or the Red Cross, 838.

steadily with this group, since his first appearance in "Mr. Angel." As the young playwright in "The Gorilla," he adds another role to his performances, having been seen in "Craig's Wife," "Doughnuts," and "Out of the Frying Pan." George Mullen returns to the stage as the rich uncle of Alice Denby, who has won applause for his appearance in "Doughnuts" and the Little Theatre success "My Sister Ellen." Mr. Mullen has worked with the Dominion Theatre in Norfolk and the Norfolk Little Theatre.

In almost every murder mystery there must be a butler and "The Gorilla" is no exception. Jefferies Lee is divertingly portrayed by Allen Tyler, who won great praise as Danny in "Night Must Fall." Ann Donahoe is well known to Little Theatre enthusiasts. She has appeared in "Here Today" and "Goodbye My Fancy." The part of a girl reporter is hers in "The Gorilla."

Other members of the cast include Thomas Ellis YN2 of Dam Neck, who has previous experience with the Chataqua Summer Show; Buck Young AC2 from Oceana, who has worked backstage with the Virginia Beach Little Theatre, and has appeared

"Gedunk Wagon" Popular Supplement to Navy Exchange

The "Gedunk Wagon," a mobile canteen that reaches patrons all over the base, is a popular supplement to the Navy Exchange Operation at U. S. Fleet Air Station Training Center, Dam Neck, Virginia Beach, Virginia.

The novel canteen has long been desired by the Commanding Officer, Captain H. P. Christ, USN. The "GEDUNK WAGON" maintains a daily schedule whereby it reaches the various school classes, gun line, offices and shops during the "break" periods. On its evening schedule the truck makes the rounds of the various barracks areas.

The truck is arranged so that the men enter the front door, serve themselves, pay the cashier and exit through the rear doors. Self-service with no waiting is an advantage to the patron, while the smooth flow of traffic and minimum operating personnel decidedly facilitate the canteen management.

Along one side of the truck's interior, shelving has been erected so that sandwiches, potato chips, snacks, etc. may be displayed. Along the opposite side is a stainless steel bin which holds a variety of canned juices. There is also a small box for ice cream. Coffee and doughnuts can also be served. The truck can be equipped with a record player and an outdoor loud speaker. These can be used to herald the canteen's approach and to advertise any special events such as baseball, softball, etc.

The mobile canteen is operated merely as a convenience to station personnel who are not close enough to the main canteen to avail themselves of snacks at odd times.

Another note of interest is the fact that the mobile canteen does not cost the taxpayer a single cent. Its purchase and maintenance costs represent money spent from the profits of the Navy Exchange Operations.

In the Junior Women's Club Bazaar, and Barney Hayes, who completes the cast with the exception of the gorilla, whose identity has been well concealed.

This play enjoyed a long run on Broadway and was very well received in many large American cities. It was also most successful in England.

Plans Complete For Virginia State Daffodil Show

Final plans were reported today for the Garden Club of Virginia State Daffodil Show at Williamsburg on April 7 and 8.

Co-sponsored for the second consecutive year by the Williamsburg Club and the Garden Club of Virginia, the show will be held at the Mathew Whaley School gymnasium here. Public exhibition hours will be 3 to 9 P. M. on Wednesday, April 7, and 10 A. M. to 5 P. M. Thursday, April 8. Awards will be presented at 4 P. M. Wednesday by Mrs. J. Robert Walker, who will also be exhibited at the show.

Exhibitors should read and study the schedule, and rules carefully, according to Entries Chairman Miss Eleanor Perrin and Mrs. Louis Maxfield of Gloucester. Flower arrangements should be rehearsed in advance, and all varieties of daffodils should be correctly named, using the Royal Horticulture Society Classification of 1950, they add.

Exhibits will be received at the Mathew Whaley gymnasium at the corner of Newau and Scotland Streets here from 2:30 to 9 P. M. on Tuesday, April 6, and must be in place for judging by 11:30 Wednesday, April 7.

All 23 classes in the show are open to amateur flower growers with professionals participating by invitation only. Two classes and three special exhibits are open to members of the Garden Club of Virginia only. Ribbons will be awarded in all classes, and a Sweepstakes award will be presented to the winner of the greatest number of points. Among the many cups and prizes, the Eleanor Trust Harris cup is awarded annually for daffodil culture to an individual member of the Garden Club of Virginia. Among the professional growers invited to exhibit this year are the Daffodil Mart of Gloucester and J. Lionel Richardson who will have his remarkable collection flown in for the show from Ireland.

Daffodil specimens from the test collection, which the Garden Club of Virginia maintains in Martinsville under the direction of Mrs. J. Robert Walker, will also be exhibited at the show.

Entrants are reminded that conditioning of the flowers is particularly important. They should be cut after sundown or early in the morning, according to the entries chairman, and should be plunged into deep containers of water. In arranging, the experts suggest that soft leaves be kept submerged in water for several hours before using. Necessary equipment at the show is a must, they say, and it is best for the arranger to be sure she brings everything along she will need.

Nickel has many uses in the manufacture of tools, both in alloy steels for cutting edges and moving parts, and for trims and finishes resistant to wear and corrosion.

Dr. Sanger said that reports so far from the forty-nine different chapters of the Easter Seal Society on the returns from the current Easter Seal campaign were encouraging. He urged everyone who has not already made a contribution to do so. Contributions may be sent to "CRIPPLED CHILDREN" in care of any post office in Virginia.

THE PUBLIC REACTS

Expressions of approval of the principle outlined in the platform of the members of the Unity Council Ticket have come from a wide segment of this community's population and it speaks well for the three citizens, who have offered their services and experience to the people of Virginia Beach.

The Council Ticket of P. F. Murray, Frank D. Tarrall, Jr. and John A. Taliaferro seems to incorporate all of the wishes the voter desires in a public official. Their sincere approach in desiring to bring unity to the community is appreciated by many of their fellow citizens.

However, sincere and however qualified these men might be, Virginia Beach still is cursed with a group of old hard core "antis" like Dixon, Baum, Bryant, Dunn and others who seem to feel that the only way this fair city can prosper is by agitation and disunity. Certainly it has been this tempest of agitation and disunity that has kept the community in the welfare of this community.

And, of course, it is this same Dixon - Baum - Bryant - Dunn combine that has already injected the thought that the election coming up is being influenced by political figures in neighboring Princess Anne County. This is their approach in all matters - to confuse and make wild statements.

However, the Dixon - Baum - Bryant - Dunn group has hit the nail on the head this time. Word is that a Princess Anne County political figure is mixing into Virginia Beach politics. It is the only known influence being exerted by someone outside the City of Virginia Beach. This influence, if you might call it influence, is emanating from Princess Anne County Sheriff C. Roger Malbon, who seems to feel it necessary that he endorse and sponsor a council ticket in the City of Virginia Beach.

While this group will unquestionably continue to agitate and attempt to bring disunity into this city, it seems that, according to the expressions of a number of individuals printed elsewhere in this newspaper, it will have little or no effect on the result of the forthcoming council election since thinking citizens have become wary of the discontent and discord as propounded by the Dixon - Baum - Bryant - Dunn type of person.

It would seem that the Unity Council Ticket has stuck a responsive note among the citizens of Virginia Beach and there will be no turning back, no hesitation, while a small hard core of "antis" try to confuse the issue and retard the progress of this fine city.

It is this newspaper's earnest hope that the citizens of Virginia Beach will give the Unity Ticket the opportunity to put into action what they have put into words by electing these men to membership on the Virginia Beach City Council in June. We feel certain that the people of this community will join together in this unity effort.

TRANSPORTATION

Today a celebration is scheduled to be held at the bus terminal on Seventeenth Street in which Mayor Murray and other civic leaders will take part. It will be the christening of a Trailways bus "The City of Virginia Beach" in the initiating of through bus service between Virginia Beach and Dallas, Texas.

The new bus company has extensive plans to promote Virginia Beach through its nationwide system and it should be a boon to this community. Virginia Beach, in the past, has suffered from a lack of promotional effort in this direction.

While the new operators have announced wonderful plans for putting Virginia Beach on the travel map, it is hoped that they will not overlook nor neglect bus service and schedules serving local residents. Schedule changes are set to go into effect today by the new company and there has been some grumbling that local residents will have limited service.

We feel that the new company is sincere in wanting to provide the best possible service in and out of Virginia Beach, and trust that they will confer with our city fathers in matters pertaining to local service so that the overall service will benefit all of our local population as well as our summer visitors.

BOY SCOUT MOVEMENT HAS VALUE TO NATION

The pressure of my Senate duties makes it difficult for me to accept many speaking engagements away from Washington, especially at this period of the year when our Appropriations Committee is handling the big money bills. But two invitations I could not resist were those to address meetings sponsored by the Robert B. Lee Area Boy Scout Council in Richmond last month and by the Stoneval Jackson Area Boy Scout Council in Staunton this week.

Since the Boy Scout movement was not organized in the United States until after I had graduated from college I had no opportunity to participate in formal scouting as a boy but I had an early introduction to hunting and fishing and in connection with those recreations enjoyed many of the wholesome out-door experiences which are part of the Boy Scout program today.

I also became more intimately acquainted with the scout movement when my own boys reached the age to participate and I was proud when my older son achieved the rank of Eagle Scout. I have continued to keep up with scouting since that time and feel privileged to be a member of the Stoneval Jackson Area Council.

This year's special scouting project, which emphasizes an educational campaign to promote protection and wise management of our soil, water, mineral, forest, grassland and wildlife resources, has particular appeal for me because of the conservation of our renewable natural resources has been one of my major interests as a

East Ocean View Civic Groups Join In Youth Work

Eight East Ocean View Civic Organizations have banded together to obtain playground and recreational facilities for the children of this community. The organization will be known as "The Youth Recreational Association of East Ocean View."

Mrs. Everett K. Wilson and Herman Gills have been chosen as co-chairmen. Some progress has been made in clearing these playground areas, and anchor fencing has been purchased for the smaller children's playground.

On Wednesday, April 7, at 8 P. M. Sgt. R. P. Racine, of the Norfolk Police Force, will speak to this organization on "Parental and Juvenile Delinquency." This meeting will be held at the East Ocean View Presbyterian Church located on Ninth St. General Public is urgently invited to attend.

member of the Virginia General Assembly, as Virginia Commissioner of Game and Inland Fisheries and as a member of Congress.

I have believed in this program not merely because of its economic value and because of the enjoyable recreational opportunities afforded but also because of the value which communing with nature has in the development of character.

This was realized by the British Army Officer, Robert Baden-Powell, who founded the Boy Scout movement to encourage the development of the heroic qualities which must be possessed by every nation which has to conquer a frontier.

These qualities involve love of nature, fellowship of man and respect for God. They are summarized in the oath in which every Boy Scout promises: "On my honor, I will do my best to do my duty to God and my Country, and to obey the Scout Law; to help other people at all times; to keep myself physically strong, mentally awake and morally straight."

I agree with the National Scout Executive who recently told me in a letter: "How well the young men of tomorrow will meet the challenge of the times will depend upon the training that they receive today in character development, participating citizenship and personal fitness."

Because I believe so strongly in this program I felt there was nothing I could do during a day in Washington that would be more important than to lend my presence to a gathering for the purpose of expressing the thanks of the people of an area of Virginia to the dedicated men and women who have given their time as volunteer scout leaders.

They are weaving their unselfish devotion into the stuff of other men's lives and are building from the youth of our generation the only effective bulwark we can have against future aggression which may threaten our democratic way of life.

It is estimated that almost half of the free world's production of nickel during 1953 was allocated to its military, atomic energy and stockpile requirements.

Jaycees Conduct Heart Fund Drive

The Virginia Beach Jaycees turned over a total of $552.22 to Tidewater Chairman, Edward Brinkhouse of the United Heart Fund campaign. This total culminated a successful drive under the co-chairmanship of Sam Foot and Lin Clements.

February 14th, was selected as heart Sunday and door to door canvassing was carried out by members of the Jaycees. Plastic Hearts were distributed by members of the Jaycees and the American Legion Auxiliary to every business establishment in the area. The Jaycees express their thanks to everyone connected with the drive.

Evergreen Club Making Plans for Clean-up Drive

The Evergreen Garden Club held its March meeting recently at the home of Mrs. Francis Taylor.

Plans were discussed for the annual "Clean Up Campaign" which will begin April 1st, for Seaside and Virginia Beach. All residents of the two communities are asked to put forth every effort to make their surroundings as beautiful as possible.

Reports of the Martha Washington Tea held at the Spacious home of Mrs. Astoria Owen, during the February meeting, were given.

The Club still sponsors the Community Center of Seaside. Plans are in progress for the beautification of the center during the Clean Up Campaign.

Mrs. M. E. Preston, who is president, made mention of the many activities that the club will be engaged in during the Spring months.

Members present were mesdames, M. E. Preston, R. H. Greene, M. Kellam, R. Lonesome, R. Davis, L. Gibbs, H. Mason, B. Etheridge, S. Taylor, J. W. Jones, and Miss Doreatha Taylor. Guests of the evening, Mrs. Georgia Roberts, mother of Mrs. L. Gibbs.

Following the meeting the hostesses served refreshments. The next meeting will be held with Mrs. R. H. Greene.

Mrs. Betty Kellam entertained recently at a dinner party in honor of Mrs. Priscilla Grimes of Riverside, New Jersey at her home in Seaside.

The Kellam home was decorated in white and pink camellias and foliage with white candles in silver holders.

The table in the dining room was arranged with pink camellias and white candles in silver holders, banked with green, carrying who received his degree in 1949 from—right, Notre Dame.

However, attendance at the banquet will not be limited to Irishmen. Tickets to the banquet, priced at $2.50, are available to the public and can be obtained at St. Paul's, Portsmouth, Catholic High, the Sportsman's Shop or any member of the Ryan Club.

There'll be an unmistakable Notre Dame atmosphere at the Norfolk Catholic High School athletic banquet in Norfolk, May 5.

In the first place, the speaker will be Johnny Latner, the great Irish halfback who made every All-American team for two years except the Daily Worker's.

The sponsor of the banquet is the Notre Dame Club of Tidewater, composed of graduates and former students of Notre Dame.

The coach of the football and basketball teams being honored is Frank Amato, who graduated from the school of the Golden Dome in 1951.

First 'Yield' Sign Installed on State Highway

FORT STORY TELLINGS

Religious Emphasis Week ended here Friday with tri-faith misers, immensely gratified by the volume of troop attendance at the mid-day and evening services. Navy Chaplain (Lt. Cmdr.) Joseph P. Trodd, of the Little Creek Amphibious Base conducted the Roman Catholic services, Dr. Edward H. Jones, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church in Norfolk represented the Protestant faith, and Jewish services were conducted by Rabbi Joseph Schreiber of the United Orthodox Synagogue in Norfolk. Post Chaplain (Lt. L.) Emmett M. Goetschius, who also held Protestant services, worked tirelessly throughout the week to help make the event a success.

The Commanding General of Fort Story and Fort Story, Brig. Gen. Frank S. Benson, Jr., made the Norfolk front pages this week when his Piasecki helicopter made

The first "Yield Right of Way" sign to be used to replace a "Stop" sign on Virginia's roads has been installed in Nelson county, the State Highway Department reported today.

Use of the signs, which will take the place of stop signs at some intersections in the State, was made possible by legislation enacted at the recent session of the General Assembly.

J. P. Mills, Jr., traffic and planning engineer, said the sign was erected at the intersection of old and new Route 56 near Lovings-ton, where a traffic study showed a stop sign was not necessary. He said additional signs will be placed at other locations as studies indicate they are needed.

Engineers believe the yield signs, which are being used in numerous cities in the State, are preferable to stop signs at intersections where the sight distance is good and it is not necessary to halt traffic entering a State highway.

Early last Fall the Department announced plans to put up about 10 of the yield signs, but it was forced to abandon the undertaking because of a provision in the highway laws which said traffic must stop before entering an improved road which is part of the State highway system.

The Attorney General informed the Highway Department that because of the statute and its application in a case decided by the State Supreme Court, the yield signs could not lawfully be installed. The Attorney General's ruling did not apply to city streets and traffic circles where yield signs have been used for some time.

The new sign is a 36 inch equilateral triangle. It is made of aluminum and has black letters on a reflectorized yellow background.

Slingluff Residence Among Eight Selected for Garden Week Tour

"The Island," residence of Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Slingluff in Alantone, on Linkhorn Bay, is one of the 8 showplaces on the Virginia Beach Garden Club Tour during Historic Garden Week of Virginia — Tuesday, April 27th.

When Mr. Slingluff returned from a three weeks business trip to Africa last Friday, he was beset upon by his wife's Garden Club friends, who were eager to know if he had brought back any interesting examples of primitive art to enhance the Island for the Garden Week Tour.

"Charles brought back two scarves," said Mrs. Slingluff, when questioned. "One is for me, one is for Hampton."

Hampton is the Slingluff's daughter, now a student at Virginia Beach High School.

"They are primitive art, all right," continued Mrs. Slingluff. "One has a big African head, on it, the other has a native African hut."

"I was in a hurry," said Mr. Slingluff, "And frankly, I didn't see much I wanted to bring back

AGRICULTURAL NOTES

By JOHN O. HART, County Farm Agent

Improper Use Of Milking Machine

One of the top causes of mastitis is improper use of the milking machine. There is no one milking machine better than any other. It's the use that counts. Use the machine according to the specifications of the manufacturer. Each machine has its own method of use, and use any other way it will result in high incidence of mastitis.

Only one unit should be used by any one man doing the milking, at any one milking. Be sure the vacuum on the line is the one recommended by the manufacturer. Do not depend on the vacuum gauge installed on the line, as after several weeks of use it will not record accurately. Instead, keep a separate gauge, preferably in the house, with a short piece of rubber hose attached to it. Periodically, check each individual stall cock with this gauge.

Set the pulsator according to directions, and do not change it. Keep rubber liners clean. Use one set for a week, then boil in a lye solution (2 tablespoonfuls per gallon of water) for 15 minutes, cool, remove from solution and let dry for one week, while the alternative set is being used. Be sure mechanical parts of the machine are working efficiently.

Do not leave the machine on too long. If the machine is left on too long it results in an irritation, which may well lead to mastitis. Disinfect the test cups between cows. Rinse first in a clean, lukewarm water, then in a fresh warm disinfectant solution. Dip teats in a mild antiseptic solution immediately after milking.

Prepare the udder properly for milking. Use separate clean towels for each cow. Soak the towels in a disinfectant solution that is 110 to 120 degrees F., just one to two minutes before the machine is put on. Always use a strip cup, because taking two or three streams of milk from the quarter previous to milking stimulates the cow to let down her milk and removes milk that is high in bacteria.

Milk on schedule. Cows are creatures of habit, and most good dairy men are aware of the advantages of a rigid schedule.

Keep hands, clothing, and all equipment as clean as possible. Sanitation is absolutely necessary if mastitis is to be conquered.

Play Safe - Spring Clean-Up Have you finished your spring cleaning?

Tools, bags of feed, buckets, and just common debris and trash are responsible for hospitalizing one out of every five accident victims. The largest single cause of injuries, other than the personal factor of poor judgement, is disorder.

So play safe - eliminate these points for safety's sake.

Broken, wobbly steps which might cripple someone for life.

Tottery, old buildings that sometimes add to the list of those seriously injured.

Unmarked bottles of poison left within the reach of children.

Accumulations of trash, paper, scattered boxes and boards, rags and rubbish which are serious fire hazards and ideal breeding places for rats.

But be careful about gathering up trash and burning it. You may dump it in a gully to help check erosion.

Nematodes Can Be Controlled In Garden

Liquid soil fumigants applied to the soil about two or three weeks before planting effectively control nematodes in the home garden. Here are directions for use of the fumigant:

First plow or spade and rake the soil to seed-bed tilth. Break up clods and remove trash. Soil temperature should not be lower than 50 degrees and not higher than 80 degrees (Continued On Page Four)

Home Buying Requires Study Of Many Factors

What do you have to know to buy a new home?

Certainly you should be able to judge the quality of construction and to decide whether the house layout best suits your requirements for comfortable living.

It would also help if you could know how much the home is going to cost to maintain, and how much of that maintenance will descend on you in the next five years. Then you could see whether your budget would support the home and your family without undue strain.

Get Your Answers

Fortunately, you don't have to be a soothsayer or a prophet in order to figure out some of the answers for yourself. If you look at the construction and materials objectively, not being influenced by the frills that attract the average buyer, you can predict with reasonable accuracy whether your maintenance bills will be high or low.

For example, how are the sub-floors laid and supported? If they're tongue and - groove and laid on the diagonal you can almost be 100 per cent sure you won't be troubled with squeaking floors. Likewise if the girders are supported by steel posts, no more than a post length apart, you can be reasonably sure you won't be bothered with sagging floors. (Continued on Page Four)

Convocation of Churches Will Have Missions, Unity as Theme

"Christ calls to Mission and Unity - What must the churches do? will be the theme of the Convocation of Churches which will be held in Richmond on April 28 - 30. The host church will be the Grace Covenant Presbyterian Church which is located at 1627 Monument Ave.

It is expected that hundred of church people from throughout Virginia will travel to Richmond for this great religious event. The Convocation of Churches is possibly the largest and most important activity that the Protestant Churches of Virginia will engage in during the year of 1954. The National Council of Churches has requested that each State conduct a Convocation of Churches this year with the emphasis on the theme "The Mission and Unity of the Church." The State Convocation of Virginia is being sponsored by the Virginia Council of Churches, and they will be assisted by the Richmond Ministers' Association. It is hoped that the Convocation of Churches will prepare the people of America for the meeting of the second World Council of Churches which will meet in Evanston, Ill. August 15 - 30.

The Virginia Council of Churches has been successful in securing outstanding religious leaders to appear on the program of the Convocation of Church. Among those who will come to Richmond are Dr. Walter W. Van Kirk who is well known as the radio commentator on "Religion in the News," and he is also well known as an authority in the field of international justice and goodwill. At the present time he is serving as Executive Secretary of the Department of International Justice on the program of the United Church Women.

9,000 Acres of Forests Added to State Wood Crop

Approximately 9,000 acres have been added to the future timber supply in Virginia this year through the efforts of the Commonwealth's forest dependent industries.

According to American Forest Products Industries, information and education service of the nation's wood-using industries, that acreage was planted in pine on company lands and small farm woodlots with seedlings provided by companies.

This estimate was based on State Forester George Dean's report that about half of the 17,500,000 tree seedlings produced in state nurseries were purchased by forest industries of Virginia.

Nearly one million of these seedlings have been distributed to farmers, members of farm youth groups, and other woodland owners by the industries which purchased them.

Based on an average of 1,000 seedlings to the acre, the nurseries production this year will add about 17,500 acres of woodland.

James L. Camp, Jr., Franklin paper manufacturer who serves as a trustee of AFPI, pointed out that the increased emphasis on planting is in line with the wood-using industries' program of "growing their future."

The state nurseries were producing only from two to four million seedlings annually a few years ago, contrasted with the 17,500,000 for the current tree-planting season.

Tune in to Radio Station WAVY — 1350 on your dial — for latest fashion news, interesting items about people, places, stuff and things, by Alice Brewer White, each day, Monday through Saturday, 9:00 to 9:30 A. M. — NBC on Tidewater.

In all probability you're thinking about what to have for Easter. Why not a baked ham? There'll be some left, and it's always so nice to have a baked ham safely tucked in your refrigerator already for luscious sandwiches and quick lunches while the children are at home for Easter holiday. Its one of the easiest of meat to prepare for you can just bake it slowly in the oven while you're busy with other things. Bake the ham (a sugar-cured one) on a rack in a baking pan uncovered in a slow oven at 325 degrees, about 25 minutes to the pound. A cranberry glaze is nice for the ham. About 1-2 hour before ham is done — remove from oven. Remove skin, crush 1 can cranberry sauce with a fork and spread over the ham. Put back in the oven and bake 1-2 hour longer. Shiny squares of glazed ham will be a tempting addition to any dinner. They're a wonderful solution for what to do with left over ham after Easter. Here's the way to make them, just combine ground ham, an egg, crumbs and evaporated milk with seasonings.

GLAZED HAM SQUARES

- 4 cups lightly packed ground ham
- 1 egg slightly beaten
- 2-3 cup evaporated milk
- dash pepper — dash salt
- 1 tablespoon grated onion
- 1-2 cup brown sugar
- 1-2 tablespoons vinegar
- 1-2 teaspoon dry mustard

Use medium blade of food chopper for grinding ham. Mix ham thoroughly with bread crumbs moistened with milk and eggs and seasonings. Pack mixture lightly but evenly into the bottom of a well greased 8 inch square pan. Score into 6 servings. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees) 10 minutes. Meanwhile, blend brown sugar, vinegar and dry mustard in saucepan. Boil syrup 1 minute, stirring occasionally. After 10 minutes of baking, remove ham squares from oven and spoon over the syrup. Return to oven and bake 15 minutes longer to glaze.

A mixed vegetable salad in tomato shells would be just the salad to serve with the ham squares.

- 1. No. 303 can whole Kernel corn (drained)
- 1 cup drained peas
- 1 cucumber (diced)
- 1-4 cup finely chopped onion
- 1-2 cup finely chopped celery
- 1-4 cup chopped pimiento
- 1-3 teaspoon celery seed
- 1-2 cup French dressing
- 1-4 cup finely diced cheddar cheese
- 1-3 cup mayonnaise
- Salt and pepper to taste
- 6 medium sized tomatoes

Combine corn, peas, cucumber onion, celery, pimiento, celery seed and French dressing. Chill several hours. Add cheese, mayonnaise and salt and pepper, mix lightly but thoroughly. Cut tomatoes on quarters. Don't cut all the way through. Spread sections like petals and fill each tomato with vegetable salad mixture.

Oh, Yes — I meant to tell you about a delicious Cranberry Dip for fried chicken. Crush 1 pound of fresh Cranberry Sauce. Add 1-2 teaspoon prepared mustard and 1 tablespoon vinegar. Chill and just dunk the fried chicken boy — oh — boy — its some kind a good and tasty no April Fool Bye, Now.

BUY YOUR SUITS FOR LONG WEAR. — The world's smartest dressed women think nothing of being photographed, while wearing good suits that have been purchased two or three years before. Many of the internationally known women of fashion like the made-to-order American couture and wear suits designed by top designers of superior fabrics which can be worn, with a change of accessories, for several seasons. Mrs. William Paley, one of the world's ten-best-dressed, prefers simple suits of quality. She likes the pale shades and mostly soft tweeds. Perhaps only a pair of elegant earrings will be the only accessory. In a recent issue of Vogue, Mrs. Winston Guest is photographed in a 1952 Mainbocher suit of oatmeal tweed which she anticipates wearing in the future. All of which is a slight reminder right now at Easter-suit-buying time to "invest" in a really good suit and dress it up or dress it down with smart accessories and you'll have a "good" feeling knowing that you're well dressed for a long time.

CALIFORNIA FASHIONS GROUPED. — Top designers' creations were modeled at a swanky luncheon at the Mayflower Hotel in Washington Wednesday noon. Next week's column will carry the report of same since your fashion editor attended the event. The California market is the second largest fashion center in the world and is just a-blooming with wonderful fashions.

PARIS NEWNESS. — Dior's fashions are easy and blouses, they're shorter, too. He's featuring lots of navy blue in his Spring togas and that's good! His new alt, shawl collars which end up looking like a Boy Scout tie are exciting and, of course, his completely pleated skirts are fabulous. Jacques Griffe has a divine silk coat, the color and texture of a Panama hat, and when worn with a sharp red shiny straw sailor is so French. This coat is slightly fitted, high waisted with a semi-belt just in the front. Anita Colby is a great fan of Griffe's and wears Griffe's fashions as much as Dior's. Anita says it takes a king's ransom to keep her wardrobe up to par and that the big commercial companies do not give out such clothes "for free!"

PINK SUMMER AHEAD. — Rinks, in all shades will be tops for summer-time wearing. The wild roses, nasturtiums, the pink hysacinths azaleas, camellias and even the strawberries have all been inspirational for the designers of fabrics and fashions. It was interesting to note that there were five cranberry hats worn in the Wilmington Azalea Festival's parade last Saturday. One true-red shell straw hat was bravely worn by Rear Admiral J. E. Wood's wife, representing Norfolk. (But how those cranberry pink ladies fused when they saw the snappy fire-engine red convertible they had to ride in.) The Festival committee, under the terrific management of Hugh Morton, had thought of every last detail except what happens when a lady's hat does not match the color of the car she rides in!

Mrs. J. Lawrence Sprunt, gracious hostess of the famous Orton Plantation, wore a most unusual Watteau-like hat covered with beautiful velvet pansies of every hue applied to the top of the hat. With this she wore a soft Jersey, tailored dress of true lavender shade and a sky blue cashmere sweater. She looked like a dream walking in her own plantation gardens as she showed the guests from far off the White Garden she has created on the old plantation which was founded in 1725. "The Morning Star," a beautiful marble statue by F. Andreini and brought back from Italy, standing on a pedestal of white marble in a lagoon reflecting the deep blue of the sky, is surrounded by a circular walk banked with white azaleas, dogwood, hyacinths and many lovely white flowers. A heavenly spot!

Miss America, 1953, Neva Langley is still enthusiastic about meeting strangers and still interested in places even though she has been on a continuous trek up and down and back and forth this nation since she was crowned last September in Atlantic City. She was one of the most "down to earth" gals your Alisbee has met in many a moon: so sweet, intelligent and most gracious. She has excellent fashion taste and expresses it beautifully.

Mrs. White was in Washington Wednesday and Thursday attending the California Fashion Coutures' fashion show at the Mayflower Hotel and interviewing Mrs. Ivy Priest, U. S. Treasurer, and her daughter, Pat who will be the International Azalea Court Queen in Norfolk on April 10.

Mrs. Mark Clark still misses Fort Monroe, Virginia, and all her good friends in this area even though the Clark's Charleston home is located right on the water, very much as their home at Fort Monroe was, and "all the kind folks" in Charleston are so wonderful to the General and his charming little wife. The General is president of the Citadel and was greatly beloved by the crowds at the Wilmington, N. C. Seventh Annual Azalea Festival. Everyone saluted him as the great hero-soldier of World War II but it was Mrs. Clark, with her winning ways and her bird-like curiosity about everyone and her gracious charm, who won everyone's heart wherever she went. The General calls her "the General" and "Mother" and radiates love and worship for her whenever his eyes are upon her. Your Alisbee can't remember ever meeting a great man in years who was so anxious to bring his lady to the front in any of his own activities. The Clark's marriage is a happy one and Mrs. Clark's dearest and concern about everybody is a most lovable trait. Ella Raines, lovely queen of the Azalea Festival, is now co-owner

After Tubby Tyler takes a few short ones he starts telling a few tall ones.

Lots of fellers roll up their sleeves who ain't goin' is right or to work.

By the time that Tod Bolton found a parkin' place he forgot what he was goin' to do.

Yep, we've still got a good nation in spite of the politicians.

Fellers who always head for trouble should learn to back up.

Many a wolf gets trapped by a little deer.

Most fellers who shoot off just have blanks.

Yep, a jug and a bottle him sure make a feller kick the bucket.

Then with a hoe or small plow, make furrows in the soil 1/2 inch apart and 8 to 10 inches deep. A fruit jar with two nail holes punched in opposite sides of the metal cap makes a suitable applicator. Fill with the fumigant and recap the jar. Walk along the furrow distributing the liquid in the bottom of the furrow. One pint should treat from 150 to 175 linear feet of furrow. It may be advisable to test first with water to see how fast to walk. After application to every 100 feet, stop and rake over and cover the furrow. It's a good idea to pack the soil lightly after covering the furrows to help seal the gas in the soil.

Wait at least two weeks before planting anything in the treated soil since the fumigant is toxic to plants and germinating seeds. If the temperature during the two-week waiting period is low (below 60 degrees) or if there has been a lot of rain, increase the time lapse to three weeks.

Brashears Is Recruit Instructor

Peter W. Brashears, seaman, USN, son of Mrs. J. E. Whitchel of 8404 Ocean Front, Virginia Beach, Va., and husband of the former Miss Ruth J. Churchill of Evanston, Ill., has been assigned to the Physical Training Division as a recruit instructor at the Recruit Training Command of the U. S. Naval Training Center here. 7th Grade Has Hobby Show

A Hobby Show was suggested by Bobby Bennett of Mrs. Patterson's seventh grade at Virginia Beach High School, in a class meeting. It was decided that it would be held March 25 in our room. The class elected three judges - Mr. Johnson, principal; Mrs. Jeter, assistant principal; and Mr. Smith, seventh grade teacher. We decided to give ribbons and prizes to four students. The winners of the Hobby Show were: First, Bobby Bennett - shells; Second, P. B. White, Stamp; Third Alfred Mundy, Model cars; and Fourth, Lila Ross Davis, African violets.

All pupils of the sixth and seventh grades were invited to the show.

PROJECTED FREE WORLD NICKEL PRODUCTION CAPACITY

Based upon announced expansion programs, the production capacity of the nickel industry of the free world by 1960 should be at least 75 per cent greater than that existing in 1949, the year prior to the start of the Korean conflict, when production of nickel totaled about 265,000,000 pounds.

NOTES FOR HOMEMAKERS

By MRS. ELIZABETH DEAL, County Home Agent

MILK SHORTAGE

Though most mothers make an effort to see that their children get enough milk, they often don't do so well for themselves. In fact, diet surveys show that women generally have a poor record as milk consumers, often taking far less than they need for adequate nutrition.

As a group, women probably consume the least milk—less than men, less than teen-agers, nutritionists of the U. S. Department of Agriculture state. They point out, too, that older women use less than younger women. Even expectant mothers, whose nutrition needs can scarcely be met with less than a quart of milk a day in a well-chosen diet, often use much less.

This year when milk and milk products are so abundant, women may well be alerted to their need for these foods. For the money spent, milk makes excellent returns in high quality protein, calcium, riboflavin and other minerals and vitamins so that, even in planning low cost diets, liberal quantities of milk should be included for the women as well as the men and children in the family.

Protection For Washable Woolens
EQ-53, the liquid product for mothproofing wool during laundering, made its debut in stores only a year ago. Its reception by housewives was so hearty that in some places, distribution did not meet demand. But now as the spring season for laundering blankets, sweaters, scarfs and other wool washables has come around again, entomologists of the U. S. Department of Agriculture advise inquirers that distribution should be more adequate generally. More than 80 firms manufacturing it. It sells under various trade names but EQ-53 appears in prominent print on most containers.

This product was developed by Department entomologists to meet the housewife's need for an easy, economical, effective way to treat washable woolens against clothes moths and carpet beetles. It is the first insecticide to take a regular place among home laundering supplies. Its unique advantage is that it permits pestproofing to combine with laundering by hand or machine. A few spoonfuls in the wash or rinse water leaves a minute invisible quantity of DDT in the wool to ward off insects.

Treatment with EQ-53 protects wool in storage for a year or more, but also is especially convenient for blankets, sweaters or socks in use the year around. EQ-53 protects them for a season, unless they are washed or dry cleaned. Then they will need re-treatment.

GARDEN SUGGESTIONS

Many 4-Hers who have not started their gardens will be doing so in the very future, and things really begin to happen in April, so here are a few suggestions for you gardeners.

PLANTING

The soil should be thorough prepared before planting. Clods reduce germination and old plants refuse harbors insects and diseases. Get the soil in the best possible condition, apply fertilizer as recommended, and then you are ready to plant.

Many vegetables that could have been started in March may still be planted in April. Some of them are cabbage, onion sets, peas, potatoes, spinach and turnip salad. Corn and snap beans may be planted during the last of April.

Stringless Green Pod or Top-crop are good varieties of green bush snap beans. The rows should be as much as two feet apart, and plants should be three to six inches apart in the row after thinning. The seed should be planted one inch deep in heavy soil and 1-2 inch in sandy soil. About 2-3 lb. will plant a 100 foot row.

Aristogold Bantam Evergreen or Lochiel are good varieties of mid-season yellow sweet corn while Swallow's Evergreen Hybrid does well as a white sweet corn. The row should be two to three feet apart, and there should be at least four rows to insure pollinations. The seed should be planted one to two inches deep and about five inches apart. Later the plants should be thinned to stand about ten to twelve inches apart. A sidedressing of about two lbs. per 100 foot row of Nitrogen fertilizer when the corn is knee-high is sometimes beneficial, but usually heavy applications of 5-10-10 at seeding will take care of Nitrogen needs.

TRANSPLANTING

Tomato plants may be set in the garden during the early part of May. Eggplant and pepper plants are usually set a week after the earliest safe date for tomatoes.

INSECTS AND DISEASES

It is not too early to start controlling garden pests. There are important things to do, in addition to spraying or dusting to reduce injury by insects and diseases. Keep the garden clean by removing old plants. Maintain a simple rotation. Buy seed and plants from a reliable dealer. Plant only certified Irish potatoes.

Gov. Stanley Inaugurates Cancer Crusade In Virginia; Asks Support of All Citizens

The April cancer crusade of the Virginia Division, American Cancer Society - a campaign to raise $200,000 to finance the work in the state organization and its more than one hundred local chapters throughout Virginia - gets underway this week.

Governor Thomas B. Stanley is honorary chairman of the cancer crusade committee and has called upon all Virginia citizens to support the program. In accepting the chairmanship Governor Stanley said, "Cancer took the lives of 3,487 citizens of Virginia in 1953. I am glad to join in calling public attention to cancer control month and urge every citizen to support the American Cancer Society crusade and to take advantage of the opportunity to learn as much as possible about this enemy within our midst."

William R. Perkins, Jr., of Lynchburg is state campaign chairman of the Virginia Division. In commenting on the Governor's statement and the April crusade Mr. Perkins said, "I am pleased with the emphasis Governor Stanley has placed on the importance of learning the basic facts about cancer. When we conduct our April crusade we not only expect to raise money to support our year-round program of cancer activities but we also want to inform thousands of Virginians of a few basic and simple facts about the disease. Medical authorities tell us that knowledge of these facts could have saved 73,000 lives in the United States last year."

"This year's cancer crusade in Virginia has been planned over a period of months, Mr. Perkins said, "and is being carried out by the greatest number of men, women and children in our organization's history. We estimate that there will be 12,000 cancer volunteers working in local communities in Virginia during the month of April."

The program of the American Cancer Society is planned to attack the problem of cancer in three ways - through research, education and service. Most research is carried on in the medical and scientific centers of the nation and 25 per cent of all funds received by the cancer society are earmarked for this purpose.

The state organization and local chapters of the American Cancer Society concentrate their efforts on educational and service activities. The educational program is conducted through schools, business and industry groups, clubs, church organizations and other groups. The Virginia Division of the ACS also operates a cancermobile, a mobile education unit which travels throughout the state.

Many local cancer societies are engaged in active programs of service to cancer patients. These include the operation of loan closets from which beds, wheel chairs and various sick room supplies are made available to patients. Some chapters also sponsor bandage programs, giving various type bandages required by cancer patients.

The Virginia Division in cooperation with the State Department of Health, the state and local medical societies, and local hospitals, assists in the operation of 17 tumor clinics located strategically throughout the state. These clinics are used by practicing physicians in the diagnosis and treatment of their patients. Their facilities are also available for treatment of indigent cancer patients.

At present cancer is the second highest cause of death in the state of Virginia and in the nation, but the State Department of Health reports that there has been a slight drop in the death rate over the past three years. It is predicted that much greater progress can be made as the general public becomes increasingly aware of cancer's danger signals and learns to seek more prompt medical attention.

"New Look" For House Relieves Monotony

Do you sometimes wish your house would blossom each year like the flowers of spring?

You may be just plain tired of the way your house looks on the outside. Sure it looks respectable enough, but it also has become monotonous, at least it seems monotonous to you and the rest of the family.

So how about giving the house a new look this spring? It isn't necessary to undertake an all-out remodeling project. You can get the effect you want with a few simple changes in materials and colors.

Maybe a new roof will do the job, with one of those new pastel shades instead of the somber hue you've had for the past 15 years. It may well be that the roof is in good repair. All right, how about changing the materials used on the sidewalls? If the paint's peeling or beginning to look dingy you might like to try one of the versatile man-made sidewall finishing materials like

CANCER CRUSADE GETS UNDERWAY

Governor Thomas B. Stanley, honorary chairman, assists William R. Perkins, Jr., state campaign chairman, in launching this year's April Cancer Crusade of the Virginia Division, American Cancer Society. The state organization and its more than 100 local chapters have set their goal at $200,000 for the state-wide campaign. The sword is the symbol of the crusade to conquer cancer, the disease which has often been described as man's cruel enemy.

Walton, Brydges Named to Manage "Unity" Campaign

"Character Assassination" Assailed

A. R. Walton and Richard G. Brydges, two young attorneys, have been appointed co-managers of the "Unity Ticket" for the upcoming June councilmanic election. It was announced Tuesday by members of the three-man ticket.

The co-managers will direct the campaign to elect Mayor P. F. Murray, Frank D. Tarrall, Jr., and John A. Tallafiero to the Virginia Beach City Council in the election to be held June 8.

Walton and Brydges immediately released a statement in which they lashed out at "character assassination" of political principles and the "continual discord of previous election campaigns." They urged the support of the effort being made for unity by the three candidates.

The candidates made the following statement: "We are grateful to these two gentlemen for their willingness to make the sacrifice and to devote their energies in aiding us to bring about sincere, wholehearted unity among all citizens in Virginia Beach."

The two managers had this to say about past and current political campaigns in Virginia Beach: "Bitterness, hatred and personal attacks have kept many people from taking an active part in the political life of their community. People hesitate to subject themselves to character assassination even for the sake of political principles, and it seems nowhere has this been more evident than at Virginia Beach."

"Our city is fortunate in having men of this caliber offer for public office, especially when they stand on a plea for unity! I endorse this principle of unity and these men, and I believe they have the answer to the handicap under which Virginia Beach has labored for so many years," Walton said.

"I am convinced that the people of our city are sick and tired of the continual discord and personal attacks in previous political campaigns which overshadowed the real issues that existed and the inability of some of our citizens to forget their differences and to back our elected representatives."

Pointing out that Virginia Beach has become noted for its discord, Walton continued: "This is a serious handicap for our representatives when they deal with problems on a State and national

Judge Kellam Has Virginia's Busiest Circuit

A report recently released by the executive secretary of the Virginia Supreme Court of Appeals indicates that the judicial circuit in which Judge Floyd E. Kellam presides ranks first in the State in the number of cases disposed of and the number of new cases begun.

The circuit, which embraces the counties of Princess Anne and Isle of Wight and the City of Portsmouth, also ranks high among those circuits in number of cases pending.

Last year Judge Kellam's circuit was second only to Judge Harold F. Sneed's 10th district in the number of cases handled. The report shows that in the 11-month period, beginning January 1 of last year, and ending November 30, Judge Kellam's court disposed of 519 law cases and 1,111 equity cases. During the same period 515 law cases and 1,304 equity cases were started.

In Judge Sneed's court 544 law cases and 738 equity cases were disposed of and 427 law cases and 978 equity cases were started. Judge Oast's court disposed of 436 law cases and 933 equity cases. The number of law cases started was 494 and the number of equity cases started was 728.

There are now 4,807 cases pending in Judge Sneed's court, 3,375 in Judge Oast's and 2,654 in Judge Kellam's.

The report shows that in the 11-month period the courts of the State disposed of 36,720 cases, commencing 38,026 and have 49,021 pending.

Mrs. Frank Avett Honored by Natl. Red Cross

Recognition from National Headquarters, American Red Cross, Washington, D. C., has come to Mrs. Frank Avett of Rude Heights to mark her 20 years of continuous activity in Red Cross First Aid. Small Contributions Spoil 100% Record for Firms

Red Cross Drive Extended 15 Days; All Reports Not In

Virginia Beach firms having 100 per cent in the current membership drive of Princess Anne County Chapter, American Red Cross, were announced today. In listing the names, a Red Cross spokesman pointed out that some groups turned in memberships with donations of less than a dollar required for official recognition thus preventing the firm's being on the list which includes Scandals Market, Paramount Restaurant, Coates Motor Co., Holt Buick, Cam Furniture Co., Emrah Motor Co., Normandie Restaurant, and Kellam-Eaton Insurance.

With the above announcement came word from Leslie A. Weary, fund chairman, that the campaign has been extended 15 days. Weary explained that only one-third of the $18,000 goal has been reported. Although this report is discouraging, he added that he was certain the goal would be attained as many of the outlying areas such as Kempsville, Lynnhaven, Pungo and Seaboard had not turned in their reports.

Virginia Beach residential area has gone well over its goal, Weary said. However, he was disappointed in the report from the business section which has reported only $1600 of a $3,000 quota.

A list of firms and individuals who have given special gifts of $20 or more include A. & P. Market, Reese's & Co., Colonial Stores, Sherwood Hotel Corp., Dr. T. L. Brooks, Virginia Electric and Power Co., Smith and Welton, Dr. Floyd Dormire, Wilmo's and Paula's dress shops, Bank of Virginia Beach, Roy Smith, attorney, National Bank of Commerce, Holt Buick Co., Dr. L. O. Clark, Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Co., Golf Ranch Motel, Made Richardson, interior decorating, Princess Anne Lumber Co., Tourist Haven, Inc., Harrell's Pharmacy, Atlantic Cleaners, John Glover, manager of Essex, Pearl, Feed and Building Supplies, Corp., Kellam-Eaton, Inc., and Myron Sturgen, engineers.

The campaign chairman added that he was confident that the military would contribute more than $6,500 turned in last year.

Twenty-nine true bills out of 30 presentations offered by Commonwealth's Attorney Paul W. Ackiss were returned Monday by a Princess Anne County grand jury.

The grand jurors deliberated over five additional presentations and Judge Floyd E. Kellam used the time to hear several criminal cases on pleas of guilty.

Ernestine Merwin, 15, one of a quartet accused of robbing Clyde L. Dewald, entered pleas of guilty today to two charges of robbery, and ordered turned over to the State Welfare Department.

James E. Goffman of Bayside was given a two-year suspended sentence after pleading guilty to a malicious wounding charge and was placed on probation for four years.

During docket call, Judge Kellam set 49 civil and 61 criminal cases for trial during the April term of the county court.

Committee Hearing This Morning May Give $377,000 for Work Here

A group of citizens representing the City of Virginia Beach left Wednesday afternoon for Washington, D. C., where they will attend a public hearing this morning at 10 o'clock on House Document 186, which incorporates the study of erosion control at Virginia Beach and which, it is expected, will ultimately bring the Federal Government into financial participation in the project.

The hearing will be conducted by the Public Works Committee of the House of Representatives. Congressman Dondoro (Republican), of Michigan, is chairman of the committee and if the committee recommends the matter to the House as a project it will then be subject to discussion and vote.

The meeting was arranged through the combined efforts of Virginia's two senators, Harry F. Byrd and A. Willis Robertson, and Representative Edward J. Robinson. A Virginia Beach group conferred with the congressional representatives about three weeks ago and the hearing is a result of that conference.

The United States Army Engineers and the United States Erosion Board gave their stamp of approval to the project in 1952.

The Erosion Board, as a body, visited Virginia Beach prior to their meeting that year held in Atlantic City, New Jersey. The project was discussed at that time and was approved by the board.

"The hearing is a normal procedure in such matters," a spokesman for the Virginia Beach Erosion Commission said. "The project has been approved down the line and we are hopeful that the committee will favorably recommend the project so that it might be acted upon at the current session of Congress." the spokesman added.

According to the printed pamphlet pertaining to House Document 186, the Virginia Beach Erosion Control Study, the government's estimated share in the cost of the erosion program would approximate $377,000 or one-third of the total cost.

The local group is expected to return to Virginia Beach Thursday night, or early Friday morning.

Farm Bureau Head Charges Misunderstanding

H. G. Bialock, president of the Virginia Farm Bureau Federation, in a recent radio interview answered critics who have charged him with not supporting at the national Farm Bureau convention, the resolution on price supports passed earlier at the state convention.

Bialock said "there's a great deal of misunderstanding in some parts of the state on the Farm Bureau position on price supports."

"In our resolution in Virginia," he continued, "We had a few counties of course that were recommending rigid 90 percent support—90 percent of price—with-out any reservation. We had a few counties that recommended that we would be better off without any type of support program whatsoever. But in developing this program at the state level and in analyzing the recommendations of the great majority of the people who took a position we found the expression:

"That we should have 90 percent support, on our basic agricultural commodities, with reservation. Invariably those people made the reservation that in order to have 90 percent support, it is the responsibility of the producers of agricultural commodities to keep their supply level in line with demand."

In each instance, "Bialock stated, "the counties that brought out this point made it very clear that they felt unless the supply level was kept in line with demand, the support price should be reduced to prevent to the excess of normal supply."

"This is in the main the resolution adopted at the American Farm Bureau convention, and the resolution was supported by me as an instructed voting delegate of the Farm Bureau members in Virginia," Bialock concluded.

TIPPING THE CHAPEAU

"Wherever you may wander or ever care to roam, It'll be hard to find a garden Like the one round Julia's home."

We speak of the garden of the J. L. Stroles located at 202 69th Street. It started on a hill of sand about three years ago. Only two blocks from the ocean, it has for protection a white fence and hedges of lilac, yew and myrtle. Candytuft and anemones have been blooming since early February. The stock is blooming in great masses in shades of pale blue to deep purple, with borders of deep purple pansies.

An analogous arrangement of most unusual beauty! Glory-in-the-snow, blue phlox and lilies for a greater cover are heartily thriving. Columbine, daffodils, camellias and azaleas are quite prominent. The most unusual beauty of this garden is the treatment and attention it has been given in the blending and toning of colors. Both Mr. and Mrs. Stroles deserve much credit for what they have accomplished.

Mr. Stroles devotes much attention to the vegetable garden in the rear, which yields a bountiful crop of melon, asparagus, cucumbers, tomatoes, lettuce and beans. This particular garden is such a lovely one that it is included on a tour of gardens among the members of the Cavalier Garden Club.

Congratulations, Mr. and Mrs. Stroles. Your garden cannot be too highly complimented for its beauty and charm.

(Note: The Council of Garden Clubs of Princess Anne County and Virginia Beach, selects through this column a beauty spot each week.)

He said the unity ticket offered an opportunity "to remove from the mention of politics the venomous stigma of the past and to replace it with the attitude which will give each and every one of us the desire instead of the dread to participate in local governing affairs."

"These things we offer and do these ends we will pledge our entire strength and resources. We will campaign on the basis of good instead of evil and with your help and support Virginia Beach will respond by giving freely of her many opportunities; opportunities too long held in check by the lack of unity which we now extend."

The co-managers said that the three candidates would make their views known on all issues as the campaign progresses.

Fords Holding Leadership

Ford cars and trucks have held industry leadership in total registrations over the full six month period through February 1954. L. W. Smead, general sales manager, Ford Division of Ford Motor Company, announced today.

Mr. Smead disclosed that the R. L. Folk Company, the industry's official reporting agency, says Ford has passenger car leadership over the second rated competitive make of 9,126 units for the six months, and leads the second place make by 2,345 truck registrations for the same time.

"These six months cover the first extended period since World War II in which buyers have had a free choice in the car market, with production unlimited by controls, and with the postwar shortage of cars overcome," Mr. Smead explained.

"Actually, we entered this free competitive market toward the end of last August, and that was when Ford's remarkable penetration increase began," he added. In the postwar period the company designed and introduced new lines of products and expanded manufacturing plants while Ford dealers expanded facilities and sales organizations.

"We felt Fall that we were ready, and we welcomed the return to normal competition. The results during the past six months have proved we were ready," Mr. Smead declared.

"Ford's leadership in a free competitive market is clear proof of public preference for the engineering and styling of our products. We are extremely proud of the dealer organization which is achieving the industry leadership goal toward which we have been aiming ever since 1946," he added.

Cox, all charged with housebreaking. Norman Twiford, jail-breaking, malicious wounding and house breaking (two counts); Clarence Brown, murder; Jessie L. Deaver, hit-and-run (personal injury); Anna R. Newsome, grand larceny, and Willie Duncan Stubbs, malicious wounding (two charges).

Following the tour the regular monthly business meeting and luncheon was held in the Azalea Room of the Airport. The outgoing president, Mrs. A. Stanley Mundy was presented a silver tray as a token of appreciation by the members, and newly elected officers were installed for the following year. Mrs. John H. Bell is the new club president. The VTA executive committee at its meeting yesterday referred several items of business for action by the board of directors at the Roanoke meeting. These included a budget and program of work for the association's new fiscal year, and suggested new policies on Christmas Seal Sales in connection with local tuberculosis associations. The proposed program of work for the new fiscal year puts special emphasis on a fact finding project on the problem of unopinionated active cases of TB in Virginia. This project will take the form of a statewide analysis or "census" of patients who have active TB and are living at home. It will be done in cooperation with the State Department of Health, local health departments, and TB associations.

methods of instruction training aids and projects, and planning of training schedules. They represent reserve training units located in Virginia, West Virginia, Pennsylvania, Maryland, Ohio, Kentucky, and Delaware. The District of Columbia also will be represented.

The training courses will be conducted by Col. Charles H. Grahl and Lt. Col. C. H. Hartman, both regional field officers with headquarters in Washington. Col. E. Dee Insood, of National Headquarters Selective Service System, Washington, D. C., is conference director.

In the event of mobilization, these "earmarked officers" are recalled to active duty. Although the officers are affiliated with Selective Service, this group should not be confused with the local civilian draft boards which issue the calls and deferments to draftees.

While on inactive duty the officers attend 48 drill periods annually; in addition, each officer is required to serve 15 days annually under active duty orders, according to Colonel Grahl.

The conference first met at Washington, D. C., in 1951 when Congress extended the Selective Service Act. It is one of several overall direction of General Hershey-held annually in various parts of the country to enable the reserve officers to keep up with the latest Selective Service procedures.

THE BIG INSULT

The circulation of petitions purportedly to "draft" a trio of men to oppose the "Unity Ticket" in the June councilmanic election is an old political trick that has never proved popular with the voter. It is an insult to the intelligence of the citizenry of Virginia Beach for a small group to try and appear as though these men must be urged to run for office.

It is a well known fact that the three men whose candidacies are urged in the petitions have considered for sometime the possibility of offering for public office. Their announcement, when it is made, will be no surprise to anyone and they will not be "yielding to the will of the people," but will be satisfying a personal desire they have nourished for a long time.

The wording of the petitions circulated in behalf of these men has already caused indignation among some of those individuals who innocently signed the paper. They were not concerned with the exact wording of the petition since it was assumed that the petitions were offered in good faith and were worded in the accepted form of requesting that the men declare as candidates and that the electoral board place their names on the official printed ballots. But, no, these petitions had an added paragraph or provision to the effect that the signer would lend his full support to the election of these men. However, for all their subterfuge the pledge of support means nothing to the signer. It is not binding in the least.

So much for the method incorporated in these petitions. It is understood that a newspaper account credits these petitions with having 400 to 500 signatures. By the same token it is also understood that a large percentage of the signatures are those of individuals who are not qualified voters, which is another form of trickery.

While this group insults the intelligence of the people of this community, the Unity Ticket composed of Mayor P. F. Murray, Frank D. Tarrall, Jr., and John A. Taliaferro have had petitions circulated in their behalf in the accepted democratic way and worded in the prescribed way. There is no sign of deceit or trickery in these petitions.

The Unity Ticket this week announced two young and energetic citizens, A. R. Walton and Richard G. Brydges, as co-managers of their campaign for election. And, it is understood that a committee made up of this city's outstanding citizens will be announced shortly to help elect these men in their effort to bring unity to this community.

The difference between the two groups is clear. The Unity Ticket and its followers are sincere and forthright and are in the race to be elected to the City Council so that they may carry out their desire of unity. The other crowd, even before the candidates announce, have seen fit to trick their fellow citizens into signing these ill-worded petitions and at the same time try to make it appear that the three men are reluctant to run for office, but will yield "if the people demand it." This is the biggest insult to our intelligence we have ever witnessed.

UNITED WE STAND

The "unity" theme has caught sway and the men who are endeavoring to bring unity to the Virginia Beach scene are to be commended for their apparent sincere effort to create something here that has been lacking for too many years.

Announcement this week of two youthful attorneys who have volunteered to serve as co-managers of the campaign to elect Mayor P. F. Murray, Frank D. Tarrall, Jr., and John A. Taliaferro to the Virginia Beach City Council in June is another indication of the desire for unity in this community.

The co-managers, A. R. Walton and Richard G. Brydges, recognize by the statements the sincerity of these men to unify this community's efforts and their desire to serve a unified Virginia Beach.

Brydges, who previously offered for the same city council, is a clear cut example of the unity spirit which is catching on with the public here. He enthusiastically supports Murray, Tarrall and Taliaferro in their bid for council seats because he sees in them a chance to bring unity to this community.

The co-managers have offered to give their energies to the election of these candidates, not primarily because of the individuals who are seeking places on the city council, but rather because they see in these men an opportunity to bring unity to this city and it is on this belief that they will work for their election.

We trust that the good citizens of this city will unite behind this trio of candidates and elect them to the city council in the election in June.

WASHINGTON..

AS VIEWED BY YOUR SENATOR

A. Willis Robertson

Last week the President submitted to the Congress his recommendations for improving foreign trade. This message was based on the general discussion of that subject in the President's message to the Congress last January and dealt with some of the specific points covered by the report of the Randall Committee on Foreign Economic Relations.

Discussing the dollar shortage which limits the amount of goods other nations are able to buy from us, the President said the United States should taper off our program of providing dollars through economic grants but that we should help friendly nations to earn more dollars by providing technical assistance and by encouraging United States investments abroad.

I heartily agree with those principles and, as a matter of fact, be-Fore voting for the excise tax reduction bill, which became law last week, I said I hoped we could help balance the budget by cutting from foreign aid appropriations an amount equal to the loss of revenue from the excise tax cut.

The President also made recommendations for improving customs procedures, promoting trade between the Eastern and Western Hemispheres without lifting our embargoes against Communist areas and finding more outlets for our agricultural products. But the heart of his program was in the recommendation for a three year extension of the Reciprocal Trade Act, with some amendments.

Since the present trade agreement act ends on June 30, I frankly wish the President had not waited so long to recommend its renewal because it will face serious opposition and getting the law extended within the next ninety days will not be easy. The question of holding tariffs at minimum levels, which is the aim of the Reciprocal Trade program, or of raising them to the point desired by less efficient domestic producers who object to foreign competition has been a fundamental political issue between the Democratic and Republican parties for more than a century. When the Hull Reciprocal Trade program was started in 1934 it was supported by only five Senators and two House members on the Republican side. In 1937 all Republican Senators voted against renewing it and only three members of that party in the House voted for it. Again in 1940 the Republicans were solid against it.

In spite of the President's position, influential Republican leaders in the House and Senate still are opposed to further tariff reductions or to continuing the Reciprocal Trade program except with such restrictive amendments that it will have little real meaning. It is evident, therefore, that the only hope for putting into effect the President's program this year lies in its being considered on a non-partisan basis with the Democrats who have traditionally supported it rallying around a Republican executive.

As a member of the House Ways and Means Committee I had an opportunity to help inaugurate the Hull program, and nothing during my service in the Congress has given me more pleasure and satisfaction than my support of Reciprocal Trade. I believe in it as possibly the best means of winning friends and allies abroad. I believe in it because the techniques of mass production have been so mastered by our industries that they can successfully compete in any foreign market with their automobiles, locomotives, machine tools and electrical equipment. I believe in it also because Virginia has a major stake in the export of farm products and unless we have these outlets for tobacco, cotton, wheat, corn, and peanut oil, prices will be depressed and restrictions placed on production. But over and above all else, I believe in Reciprocal Trade because a tariff is a tax on our domestic consumers and I feel it never should be higher than what is necessary to permit an efficient domestic producer to compete while paying the American standard of wages.

Birdneck Club Wins Blue Ribbon

The Birdneck Point Garden Club won a blue ribbon for a large red hat entered in the flower arrangement contest at the Alice Brewer White Eighth Annual "Easter Bonnet Tea party" at the Y. W. C. A. on March 25th.

The entry from the club was a replica of the large red hat seen recently and frequently, on Mrs. White's head. It was decorated with eight small hats, each representing the style in vogue during that particular year.

The crown of the hat held an arrangement of red and white camellias.

The Birdneck Point Garden Club by popular vote of those attending, won highest honors at Mrs. White's "Mad Hatters' Tea Party" in 1953, honoring her seventh year on the air.

DALE CARNEGIE

Robert S. Barrett, 2651 W. Lake Road, Erie, Pennsylvania, had been in bed with a rheumatic heart for about a year and his mind was filled with troubles. Troubles, they say, are like babies—the more you nurse them, the bigger they get. And he really nursed them! He was so low that he became obsessed with the idea that he was a burden on his mother and father. He could see his mother shortening her own life as she walked up and down the stairs waiting on him hand and foot.

Everything looked black. On many a night before falling asleep he figured he had nothing to lose. "Robert, why don't you die—get it over with." And on several occasions he contemplated suicide.

Then one day he heard a talk on the radio by Dr. Norman Vincent Peale of New York City. The gist of it was "Your life is what your thoughts make it. If you force yourself to be cheerful, you'll automatically be cheerful." He figured he had nothing to lose—so he tried it. It revolutionized his life.

Instead of thinking of himself all the time, he did his best to cheer up his mother. He laughed and joked with her. And this gave him an entirely new outlook on life. Four years later he got out of bed. He declares that he now is probably one of the most cheerful guys in the world. Every day is a beautiful day to him—rain or shine. And there isn't a thank God for giving him a chance day goes by that he does not make use of cheerfulness.

Top Hit of the '54 season

Take a look at America's new heart throb, the new Ford Skyliner! It's the "hardtop" that gives you that wonderful outdoor feeling. And its new tinted transparent roof section is another Ford "first" in the low-price automobile field.

There's pace-setting style in the clean, honest lines of its Crestmark Body. And the color-harmonized interior matches exterior beauty in a most charming manner. What's more, there's restful comfort beneath the smart upholstery... in the foam rubber seat cushions and deep pillow seat backs.

And as in all 1954 Fords, you choose from the most modern engines in the industry: the new 115-h.p. I-block Six or the new 130-h.p. Y-block V-8... another reason why you can pay more but you can buy better than Ford.

EASY DEEP MEMBERS HAVE FITTING AND SHOWING DEMONSTRATION

At a demonstration conducted by the County Agent and his Assistant, Saturday, March 27th, at the home of Walter Lee Humphries in Kempsville, the 4-H club Beef Project learned that now is the time to start washing and curling process does two things. First, it helps to quiet down the animal off to his best advantage. In washing a steer it is necessary to wet the steer thoroughly.

This in itself will take out about half of the dirt. After thoroughly wetting the animal, then soap the animal and scrub him hard with a rubber scrubbing brush. After getting him clean, wash the soap out of his hide. If all the soap is not gotten out of the hair, dandruff will result. After getting the soap out of the hair, dry the animal and then wet him down with sheep dip or creolin in water. This has a tendency to set the hair when it is curled. After curling with a painted curry comb, pull the hair upward. This will give the animal a shorter broader look.

Virginia Wildlife Publication Said "Best in Nation"

"Virginia Wildlife," the official publication of the Virginia Commission of Game and Inland Fisheries, has been picked by the Isaac Walton League of America as the best state conservation magazine in the nation. I. T. Quinn, executive director, announced today.

Art Thompson of the Norfolk Chapter of the League and member of the national executive board made the presentation, an honor certificate, to Director Quinn this morning.

"Your state magazine," said Mr. Thompson in his presentation, "won this top award solely on its own merits and entirely on a basis of make-up, appearance, consistent editorial policy and excellence to the cause of conservation of natural resources of America."

All of the publications of the 48 states were reviewed and judged by a committee of impartial judges and Virginia's magazine was finally picked as the most outstanding. Six other states, including North Carolina and New York, were among the finalists. The award committee made its deliberations at the recent Chicago convention of the Isaac Walton League, but the presentation ceremonies took place in Richmond in March.

"One on Bike" Safety Slogan is Adopted in State

The increase in the number of young bicyclists killed and injured in recent years in very alarming said Mr. John B. Day, Vice President Tidewater Auto. Assn. today, and it indicates that more emphasis must be placed on bicycling in school safety education programs.

Approximately 500 cyclists were killed in 1952, the last year for which reports are available; this is an 11 per cent increase over the previous year. More than 27,000 persons were injured in 1952, and of both these totals, nearly three-quarters were between 5 and 14 years old.

"Obviously, if youngsters on bicycles are forced to share the streets and highways with automobiles, they need just as much safety instruction as any motorist," Mr. Day stated. "We have found however, that when working with very children it is best to concentrate on one aspect of safety at a time."

The theme of the AAA School Safety Education kit for April is highlighted by the poster "Ride One on a Bike," which was a two-page in the 9th National Safety Contest sponsored by the American Automobile Association. "Carrying an extra passenger on the handle bars, or on any other part of a bike, is very dangerous. Parents and teachers should do everything possible to

New 8c Stamp On Sale Today

The Post Office Department will introduce its first regular 8c United States stamp bearing the motto "In God We Trust" and also portraying the Statue of Liberty to a nation-wide television and radio audience on Thursday noon, April 8, 1954 in a program emanating from the Postmaster General's office.

Participants in this historic ceremony include President Dwight D. Eisenhower; Secretary of State John Foster Dulles; Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield; Bishop William C. Martin, National Council of Churches; Francis Cardinal Spellman, Archbishop of New York; and Dr. Norman Salt, President, Synagogue Council of America.

This ceremony on April 8th from 12:15 to 12:30 P. M., Eastern Standard Time, over division and radio stations to be announced later, commemorates more than the issuance of a new stamp which will be used chiefly for international mail.

The Statue of Liberty, so prominently displayed on this stamp, is a beacon of opportunity and hope today, just as it has always been to oppressed peoples. It is the proud and welcome symbol of home to every American returning to his native land.

The inscription "In God We Trust" sums up the religious faith that has always been and is today the backbone of this nation and its greatest source of strength. This stamp, then, is a symbol of great significance — of truths of our nation's glories, beliefs, hopes and faiths — all summarized in a miniature picture less than one square inch in size. It is truly a product of the people — and it meets the wishes of thousands of our citizens who have suggested that it be issued.

In announcing the introduction of these new stamps Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield said: "We think these stamps will help people to better understand America and how Americans think. And we hope they will help them gain courage as they are reminded of these truths through the daily use of these beautiful stamps."

"Above all we want these stamps to remind our friends throughout the world that this nation is re-dedicating its faith in Liberty and its belief in God as strong (Continued on Page Seven)

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

Easy Does It—Again!

Ladies Aid Society had their rummage sale the other night—and as soon as the doors opened, "Easy" Roberts was inside. Without a word, he headed straight for the coat counter, picked out a shabby old tweed jacket, and paid for it. "Easy" told me a little later that buying his jacket back was getting to be a regular habit.

"That's been my favorite rummage jacket for years," he said. "And my wife talks me into giving it away regularly. Then I get to thinking how much I like it and bury down to buy that jacket back. This is the third time I've done it!"

From where I sit, everyone's entitled to his own likes—whether it's a sports jacket, a baseball team, or the beverage he likes for dinner. For example, the wife likes coffee along with Saturday night spaghetti while I like a glass of beer. We never try to "sell" each other on our personal preferences.

I always look forward to receiving "Food Review" sent to me by United States Department of Agriculture so I can share it with you. All during April the plentiful foods listed are Irish potatoes and we often hear them called white potatoes and "spuds" and eggs are much cheaper, so you can plan many meals using eggs - for there is still a week left in the Lenten Season. Other plentiful foods are beef, onions, cabbage, oranges and grapefruit, cranberry sauce, raisins, peanuts, peanut butter, shortenings and salad oils.

Agriculture Marketing Service points to numerous advantages in adding cabbage, potatoes and onions to the family diet. Cabbage for instance furnishes a supply of B and C Vitamins, along with calcium. In fact 1 cup of raw cabbage may well supply nearly half the daily vitamin C needs. If prepared fresh and served promptly, Irish potatoes contain a mophy, Irish potatoes contain a number of nutrients and because of the quantities in which they are consumed, they too are an Important source of Vitamin C. Onions also help toward a good diet with supplies of Vitamins and minerals. Here's a suggestion. Cabbage Rolls - wash fresh green cabbage leaves and wilt them in hot water (salted), for the stuffing use your favorite recipe for meat loaf - or any meat mixture you prefer. Put some of the mixture on each cabbage leaf and roll in up-place the rolls in a large well greased baking dish, add a very little water or gravy. Cover and bake at 350 degrees for about 45 minutes. Serve baked potatoes often. They're so good and so easy to prepare. After your potatoes are done - cross them and then push until they burst open like a flower. A nice chunk of butter or margarine and a sprinkle of finely chopped chives on the potato is a real treat. Now if you want to go to a little more trouble, melt 1-2 stick of butter or margarine in top of double boiler add 2 teaspoons chopped chives, 1-3 cup sour cream, salt and pepper - do this very quickly and spoon over baked potatoes - that have had a little of the top removed - sorta push to center so potato will be well broken add sour cream so seasonings can get well down in the potato. Have you ever prepared casserole of tomatoes and onions? This is truly wonderful and here's the way you prepare it. In a frying pan meet 1-2 stick butter or margarine, cook 1 large Bunsida onion sliced (not too thin) for about 5 minutes. Do not let them brown. Add tomatoes from a No. 2 1-2 can, dip the tomatoes out leaving the liquid, then add 1-4 cup light brown sugar, salt and pepper to taste. Cook for 5 more minutes. Pour into a casserole mixture with 1 cup bread crumbs. Bake for 40 minutes 375 degrees oven.

Now for a crispy and good salad. Cranberry is the name and it is molded salad.

- 1 envelope unflavored gelatin
- 1-4 cup cold water
- 1 pound can Jellied Cranberry sauce
- 1 cup finely shredded cabbage
- 1-4 teaspoon salt
- 1-4 cup chopped celery
- 1-2 cup grated carrots

Soften gelatin in cold water after it has softened - melt over hot water - add cranberry sauce that you have crushed with fork and blend. Mix salt - cabbage - celery and carrots and add to cranberry mixture. Chill until firm and serve on crisp lettuce with your favorite dressing. You can fill individual molds or chill in square pan. Either way you'll love it. Bye now.

STRAIGHT from the SHOULDER... ... Fashion - that is

By ALICE BREWER WHITE
FASHION AND WOMAN'S EDITOR

Tune in to Radio Station WAVY - 1350 on your dial - for latest fashion news, interesting items about people, places, stuff and things, by Alice Brewer White, each day, Monday through Saturday, 9:00 to 9:30 A.M. - NBC in Tidewater.

CALIFORNIA'S SUNNY FASHIONS - Last week, while attending the second annual California Fashion Creators Cherry Blossom Luncheon in the grand ballroom of the Hotel Mayflower, Washington, it was brought home quite forcefully to your Alisbee how cherry, smart and new-looking fashions out of California are. Clear cut lines, simple styling but with brilliant sunlight colors in the fabrics and much originality of design stamped the all-California fashions shown as distinctly different. With over 900 eagerly enthusiastic ladies applauding each model as she stepped out of the cherry blossom pink runway, it was much like the excitement of spinning a giant wheel of color and waiting for that new exciting color to appear. Louis Tabak, president of the California Fashion Creators, in being interviewed later for a tape recorded playback on WAVY, said he was "especially delighted to have the opportunity to talk to the women in the climatic locality much like our own California." Every fashion from California could easily, and happily, be envisioned as appearing on our own Virginia, Ocean View, Willoughby or Chesapeake beaches. Those California fashions are so right for the sun-fun life we live here in our "long" resort year.

BRIGHT COTTONS - Sunlight shades of the citrus fruit, oranges, lime, lemon, avocado green, plum and so on were featured. Such lovelies as a red figured calico two-piece dress with chalk white rick-rack trim; a white pique voluminous skirt with a slice of a watermelon print evident and the neat bodice of black cotton; large coin-dotted white pique with attractive square neckline and worn with one of the fabulous cartwheel hats and they were large-large ones, too; a Pat Prima azure blue round-and-round striped skirt and blouse; a stunning straight-line hot orange coat, lined with the same shade of snappy lemon-lime and with the coat completely which made up the sheath dress reversible and topped off with a pert orange pill box; Tabak's bolero dress in tobacco brown; Don Loper's red and black linen dress with the long coat matching and heavily embroidered in black wool designs; a pale blue straight, slim line coat of linen with a lemonade shade sheath dress, topped with a chic lemon planter's straw hat; Don Loper's elegant champagne embroidered orandy-and-lace formal gown with the hem line shorter in front and the back sweeping into a graceful court train; the blush pink bridal gown, short length, with its exquisite detailing and short blush veil, and the sensational coat and dress worn by platinum blonde Barbara Ann Scott fabulous skating star, with the gown reputed to have cost $2400 and of exquisitely embroidered lace with a gold satin girdle to match the elegant gold voluminous great coat of heavy taffeta with simply hugh push-up sleeves! MORE SUN FUN - One word used again and again by the California commentator was "convertible". It was used especially with the swim suit features. A model entering would show no signs of wearing a swim suit, and before your very eyes she'd remove wrap-around jacket or skirt or torredor pants and there she'd be in a California swimsuit! Just the fashion for the Virginia beach sunners. Cole, Jantzen, Rose Marie Reid and other famous swimsuiters showed their snapper numbers. One trio of models, dressed like a leopard, tiger and lion, leaped through a giant papered hoop at the crack of the ringmaster's whip, and "stretched" and stealthily crept down the runway in long-legged Spanish pedal pushers of cat-like prints and wearing snug little cat-like hoods, to disrobe into really smooth swim suits with the gathered detailing and, possibly lathered for beauty lines. A blonde, a brunette and a redhead were these three "feline" models and they and their suits were really something for the boys! The convertibles - hopping out of long trousers or skirts or unwrapping from a sarong-like setup - are surely going to be every bit as popular in the East and South as they are on California's sunny shores.

PINK PANTS AND FELLAS! - If your fashion reporter isn't color blind by now, she'll never be! As if the California fashions in brilliant hues-those heavenly sunshine hues-wasn't enough, on Sunday afternoon last at Norfolk's USO, The Hub gave an all-men's fashion show for the men in the service. Interperated with chats on football by the Washington Redskins' fullback Jack Cloud and on baseball by Ray White, manager of the Norfolk Tars, the best looking warm-weather fashions were modeled by eight stalwarts. One episode had all of the chaps wearing stunning dark charcoal grey Palm Beach suits and showed what a popular shade that will be for the men folks. A charcoal grey suit, a pale pink shirt with a pale pink and light grey striped tie! Now, that was just the beginning of the color splash! In one scene the fellas wore combinations of shirts and slacks like: a shirt with charcoal slacks; black with red; white with pink slacks (yessiree, pink pants!); orange and black, and a pink and grey plaid shirt with charcoal slacks. MERRY MATRONS

Mrs. Richard Fielding Harless, beautiful mistress-of-ceremonies for the Azalea Queen and Princesses at the Municipal Gardens this Saturday, when Queen Pat Priest of Washington is officially crowned, is a merry matron of great charm, beauty and intelligence. She gave a tea for your Alisbee to meet the fourteen Washington daughters from the various embassies, so they could participate in a recorded radio show, and it was a lovely experience to watch her graciousness throughout the afternoon. Her keen interest in everything the sixteen and seventeen year olds had to say made her a good listener and you had the feeling that Meredith Howard Harless was getting a great deal of joy out of it all. She's one of the famous beautiful Howard twins who graced the Broadway stages during the George White Scandals and Earl Carroll eras.

Mrs. Richard Nixon has a warm friendly handshake and appealed to your Alisbee as being "just folks", but with prettiness thrown in, when we met at the Cherry Blossom festival luncheon in Washington last week. She was the honored guest and was as interested in the stunning and colorful fashions presented by the California Fashion Creators as any lady in the vast audience.

She applauded each fashion and looked smart in a soft light-weight wool dressmaker, suit of cinnamon shade toque wrapped with nylon net and tulle in the same shade. She had a tiger lily corsage pinned to her shoulder and her light complexion, with a sparse freckle or two, and her light Auburn hair made her so much lovelier to look at "up close" than in the newsreels or newspapers. A more agreeable little lady couldn't be found anywhere. Mrs. August H. Cuipepper and Mrs. William C. Griffin of the Federation of Garden Clubs of Norfolk and vicinity have presented labors of love to Smith and Welton's and the Hub in Norfolk with the beautiful job they've done in planning the Azalea Arrangements Event in the two stores, judged by accredited judges, and there for all of you to view and enjoy through this Saturday at the conclusion of Norfolk's first annual International Azalea Court Festival. See you outside the windows!

(1) Do not use location or soil for bedding sweet potatoes that has been used for at least three years in the past.
(2) Bed only sweet potatoes that are perfectly sound. Discard all slips showing shriveled ends or black spots.
(3) (a) The first suggested treatment is 4 ounces of corrosive sublimate to 22 gallons of water. Use a wooden container as a solution case into metal.
(b) Dissolve the corrosive sublimate in a small quantity of warm water.
(c) Use cotton sacks or baskets and immerse as many sweet potatoes as the solution will cover for ten minutes.
(d) Use this solution three times.
(e) Bring water back up to former level, dissolve and add one ounce of corrosive sublimate and use this for two more treatments.
(f) Pour out this solution and repeat as above. Note: Corrosive Sublimate is a deadly poison and should not be left where livestock or children can get to it.
(4) The second very satisfactory method of treating slips is with borax.
(a) 5 to 6 pounds of borax mixed with 30 gallons of water.
(b) Slips immersed in this solution for 10 minutes.
(c) From time to time 1 pound of borax to 5 gallons of water should be added to keep solution at proper level.
(5) Sweet Potato slips should be bedded immediately after treatment. Discard all sweet potatoes showing signs of decay that may have been overlooked in first selection.

"Not Enough Medium Flats" To Plant Corn, Order Thick Flats or Rounds

There won't be enough seed of the grade and variety ordinarily preferred to plant the 1954 corn crop - so again it may be necessary to turn to thick 'flats' and 'rounds' in ordering your seed corn.

Price-wise, it costs about 30 percent as much per acre to plant rounds as it does medium flats. However, proper plates are needed to plant round grains. Most hybrid seed corn dealers put the number of the plate needed on the seed tag. Some dealers stock the needed plates for the more commonly used planters.

The same situation concerning seed existed last year, and many farmers who planted rounds will already have the proper plates or planting. All machinery dealers have the various sizes of plates needed for the grades of corn.

Whether flats or rounds, farmers who want to have a choice of variety would do well to order early.

"Proper Fertilization of Corn Would Up State Average to 65 Bushels"

It can be done! Many Princess commendation would be to apply from 20 to 30 pounds of nitrogen per acre, depending on the soil fertility.

There are other important factors in corn production, also. Choose good soil. Lame the soil. Prepare a good seedbed. Use an adapted hybrid. Plant thick. Details on this formula are included in Circular 541, "Why Settle for less? 100 Bushels Per Acre." Drop by the County Agent's office for a free copy.

Runk also was named runner-up for the entire tournament in judging for the event's best boxer. The winner of this award was Jack Johnson, 119-pound novice king from Lynchburg.

NOTES FOR HOMEMAKERS

By MRS. ELIZABETH DEAL, County Home Agent

PACKAGE POULTRY

Good packaging—which keeps out air and prevents loss of moisture—is an important key to success in home-freezing poultry, the Minnesota Experiment Station emphasizes in a report of tests with nearly 400 chickens, turkeys and geese.
Moisture-vapor-proof wrappings applied so that the least possible air is in contact with the poultry and closely sealed to keep the meat from drying out or "frezer burn" gave best results. The tests showed that several types of materials were satisfactory for wrapping, including a number of plastic films. All were used in bag form, making it possible to obtain twist seals that were airtight.
Many other wrapping materials are available which are moisture vapor-proof but which come in sheet form only. The Minnesota scientists found that because of the irregular shape of poultry, it was difficult to get airtight seals when using sheet materials. The one exception was aluminum foil which can be moulded closely to the bird with the hands.

In using plastic bags, the scientists advise care in pushing out as much air as possible before applying the tight twist seal. They say this can be done by submerging all but the open end of the filled bag in water. They also mention special equipment that may be used to give a partial vacuum.

BUYING WOMEN'S COATS AND SUITS

Salespeople can help, and labels can help, when a woman is shopping for a coat or suit that will give lasting service. But the more the shopper her self knows about construction and materials—from high grade merchandise to low—the better her chance for getting a really good buy at the price she can pay.

To provide helpful facts, a booklet has been prepared on buying women's coats and suits including such information as a fiber and fabric chart, marks of quality that can be detected by close inspection, and a checklist of strategic points on fit. All such background knowledge can be useful two ways: It can help a woman plan her purchases and know whether a particular coat or suit that catches her fancy has the qualities most important to her. It can also help her to judge whether it has good value for its price.

Coats and suits in neat rows in a shop often look much the same even though price in a shop often look much the same very widely. Among the reasons for different prices are these:

High-Grade coats and suits are made from fabrics that tailor and press well, and the fabric is shrink and inspected for flaws in weave and color. In contrast, the most cheaply produced garments are made from cloth just as it comes, with little or no regard for flaws or shrinkage. Pattern pieces for cheap production are trimmed down take as little cloth as possible. Many layers are cut at once. There can be little cen-cern for proper grain of the goods, so the garments may later twist or sag. Buttons are not cut with the grain of the good or poorly cut, for example, are likely to stretch in wearing and hang open. Any shop per can learn to compare such features as these.

Single copies of the booklet, "Buying Women's Coats and Suits, HQ-31, may be had free from the Office of Information, U. S. Department of Agriculture, Washington 25, D. C.

MOTHS, BEETLES, DO EXTENSIVE DAMAGE

Clothes moths and carpet beetles are held responsible for $350,000,000 damage to fabrics each year. The insects may get into your home by way of furniture, rugs or clothing especially second-hand clothing containing wool or other animal fibers. Be careful in exchanging woolen wraps for use in making rugs. Clean especially the hard-to-get-to-places. Check storage for scraps of wool material.

Protect fabrics by keeping them clean, and using crystals, flakes, dusts, and sprays to kill insects or repel them, or make the fabrics "insect proof." Kill insects living in the structures of the home, mainly by spraying surfaces.

A household spray containing 3 per cent DDT, 2 per cent chlordane, or 1/2 per cent lindane is sets from the home. A good time to spray walls and floors is when you clean the closet. Do not use chlordane or lindane on clothing, blankets, furniture, or rugs (except along the edge of the wall-to-wall carpets), and do not use them for over-all spraying of the interior of rooms.

When you put away winter woens, protect them by using vapors from paradichlorobenzene and naphthalene crystals, or by flake in trunks, storage boxes, or closets. Protect washable woens with E953. On non-washable woens use DDT, 5 per cent in oil solution, as a spray. Let treated woens dry thoroughly before storage. Either of these methods is effective until the fabric is washed or dry-cleaned. Both materials should be removed from baby sweaters before they are worn.

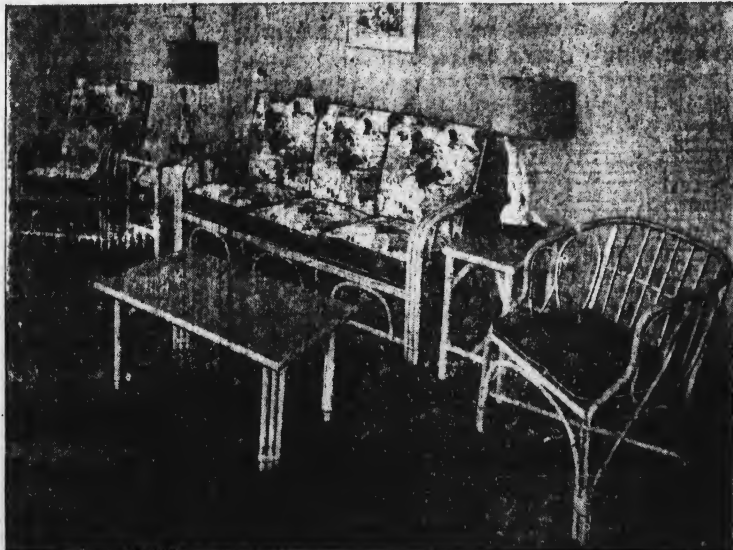

Florida solutions are available to use on clean woens to protect them from feeding damage, not to kill insects. Used in storage they are effective a year or more. In use they are effective a year unless the garment is washed. They will withstand several dry-cleanings before becoming ineffective.

Cedar chests are good proof containers because of their light construction. Be sure the

Shore Patrol Vets Reunion in Norfolk Aug. 20

World War Two veterans of the Fifth Naval District Permanent Shore Patrol will hold their 10th annual reunion in Norfolk, Va., on August 20 and 21, 1954.

Rear Admiral I. N. Kiland, USN, Fifth Naval District Commandant, will be principal speaker at the banquet the 21st, which will climax two days during which the ex-patrollers and their wives will hold a business meeting, tour the Norfolk Naval Base, visit a ship and stage a beach party.

"Organized early in World War Two with Lt. Col. James M. Bain, USMC (dec.) as commanding officer, the Fifth Naval District Permanent Shore Patrol at one time consisted of nearly 800 men and officers. As the Navy's model law enforcement agency throughout the war, its men patrolled Norfolk, Portsmouth and Newport News areas with regular city policemen. They rode all trains leaving and leaving Norfolk, patrolled the Baltimore and Washington steamers and manned approximately 15 outlying detachments from Baltimore, Md., to Elizabeth City, N. C.

More than 50 of the veterans are now residing in Tidewater Virginia. The remainder live in union where most are employed as federal, state and city law enforcement officers.

First reunion was held in Norfolk in 1949. Others have been held in Richmond, Roanoke, and

Disabled Vets Trained For Productive Lives

Nearly two-thirds of a million disabled veterans have been trained for useful, productive lives under Public Law 16 a Federal law enacted eleven years ago. Veterans Administration announced.

VA said its experience in administering this law has demonstrated that veterans with virtually every type of disability can be rehabilitated successfully.

Public Law 16, the Vocational Rehabilitation Act, was enacted March 24, 1943, during the height of the bitterly-fought "leap frog" landings in the Pacific and more than a year before the historic D-Day invasion in Europe.

Originally designed for disabled veterans of World War Two, the law was extended three years ago to cover those disabled in service since Korea.

So far, 602,000 disabled World War Two veterans have been trained for jobs they can hold despite their handicaps. Another 13,000 veteran-trainees suffered their disabilities after the outbreak of hostilities in Korea.

A recent VA survey showed that 37 percent of all Public Law 16 trainees had disabilities of the limbs; these include the ampu-

State Highway Projects Get 'Go-Ahead' Sign as Winter Ends

About 125 primary and 45 secondary road projects totaling approximately $33,000,000 were given the go-ahead April 1 when winter restrictions were lifted on highway construction throughout the State.

Highway officials said today full operations will be resumed as readily as weather permits after the first of the month. Beginning in November, restrictions normally are placed on most highway jobs and some phases of road building is held to a minimum during the winter months.

Many of the jobs on which work was started or stepped up after April 1 relieved traffic congestion in cities and towns. These include the US 220-A distribution road at Martinsville; an interchange and divided highway on Alternate US 58 in Danville; the US 70-A distribution route at Lynchburg; relocation of US 220 in Covington; and bypasses on US 11-A at Lexington and US 250-A at Charlottesville.

Other urban jobs include widening of the Petersburg Pike (US 1) to six lanes, and Broad Street Road (US 250) to four lanes in Richmond; widening Brambleton Avenue (US 460) and Hampton Boulevard (Route 337) to six lanes in Norfolk; and four-laning another section of Route 143 at Hampton and Newport News.

In the Suffolk construction district, primary highway projects totaling some $4,700,000 are under way, including a $1,154,900 Norfolk and Western railroad underpass on Brambleton Avenue in Norfolk; the $556,200 four-laning of US 301 at Emporia; a $398,700 intersection at Virginia Beach Boulevard and Laskin Road; and a $348,000 extension of improvement on Route 143 at Newport News and Hampton; widening of Hampton Boulevard costing $760,300; and a $874,300 project to widen Brambleton Avenue in Norfolk.

Other work in the district includes reconstructing piers at the Jamestown-Scotland Wharf Ferry landing; widening and straightening on Route 35 near Boykins; widening at the intersection of tees; the paraplegics, muscular injuries and others.

Another 25 percent are veterans who have suffered mental illnesses, including epilepsy and other similar disorders.

Eight percent of the trainees have had respiratory ailments; six percent had heart or blood vessel conditions; five percent suffered from ailments of the digestive system; three percent had hearing difficulties or diseases of the ear; two percent were blind or had eye diseases, and the remaining 13 percent encompassed a wide variety of other disabilities.

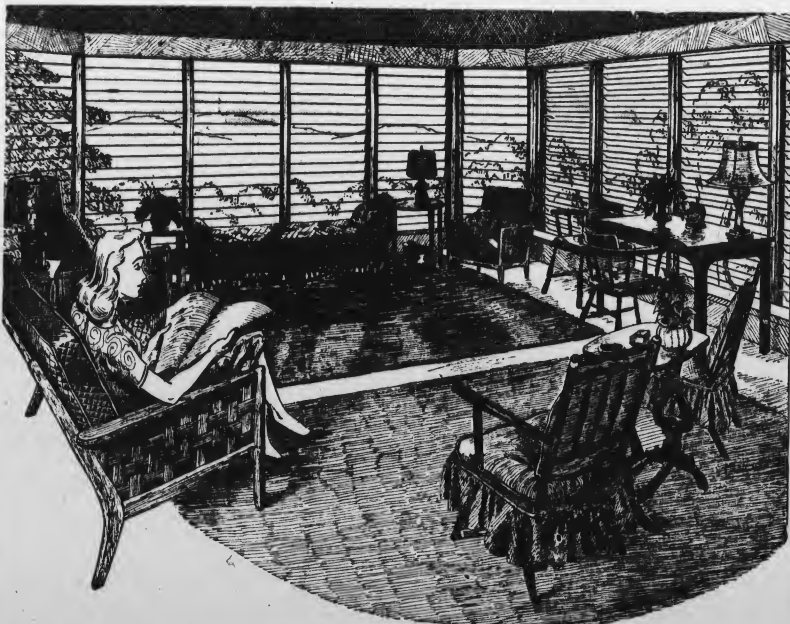

The objective for which these trainees were trained have ranged from atomic physics to airplane mechanics.

When steps add up to miles

Someone once said, "The steps you save are often as important as the steps you take." If you live on a farm, you'll probably agree with that. For instance, suppose you are to pick up a piece of equipment in town, but you're not sure it's ready. So you turn to the telephone to avoid an unnecessary trip. Time and trouble saved . . . by a single telephone call. That's why so many people say, "Telephone service is my biggest bargain."

The right recipe

You probably have a favorite recipe—one that you have had the best success with. And so it is with party-line telephone service. People have found that the best recipe there is good, old-fashioned courtesy—neighborly consideration for the other fellow. This means keeping calls reasonably brief and spaced out so that others may make use of the line in the intervals, and making sure the receiver is replaced properly after each call. Simple things, but they pay off in better, more useful telephone service for all.

"Farmers Must Stand Together," Federation Head Warns Club

Maury A. Hubbard, executive secretary of the Virginia Farm Bureau Federation, told members of the Gloucester Community Farmers Club in Smyth county last week that farmers' only hope of legislative progress as a minority group is in understanding and cooperation. "On the other hand," he warned, "the way to shackles is through division, which some groups are trying to promote with reckless statements and charges."

He listed some of the accomplishments farmers obtained this year in the General Assembly as follows:

Establishment of a wholesale produce market loan fund, a bill to insure accurate weighing of livestock at auction markets, one that increases penalties for stealing livestock from three to 18 years, five bills designed to eliminate the diseases of rabies, bangs, and V. E.

A bill to insure the proper analysis of manure feed, a bill calling for a study of telephone rates and services, and a bill to stimulate reforestation of idle acres. In addition Hubbard pointed to the funds farmers had been able to obtain for research, which he said, "is the key to the future for agriculture."

Hubbard then answered attacks by "groups who seek to divide farmers by accusing the Farm Bureau."

"I thought I knew what Farm Bureau was," he stated, "but I found that it is made up of and controlled by rich farmers, then I hear that it is bankrupt, or that it is run by bankers, or that it is a Republican organization."

"There are today in the 13 southern states, 553,972 farm families in Farm Bureau," he stated, "I suspect it would be news to these farmers if they were told that they are all rich, or Republicans, or that their organization is run by bankers, or that it is bankrupt."

"These groups," he continued, "try to stir farmers further by saying that the Farm Bureau is trying to kill R. E. A. When we get ready to the use of kerosene lamps and candles, then Farm Bureau will seek to eliminate R. E. A. Until then we will support R. E. A. and other sound movements to improve rural living conditions."

Rear Admiral A. A. Antrim's blue and white two-starred flag went up over Building 148 at the Naval Base last week as the Norfolk Naval Supply Center's new commanding officer began his tour of duty.

Change of command ceremonies March 31 marked the end of a colorful 38-year naval career for Rear Admiral John E. Wood, SC, USN, Center commanding officer and District Supply Officer, Fifth Naval District, since December, 1951.

As Rear Admiral Wood's flag was lowered, his last official act as commanding officer was to turn over the key to the Center to Rear Admiral Antrim.

"I feel especially honored," Rear Admiral Antrim said after reading his orders, "in having been selected to follow Rear Admiral Wood in command of this highly efficient Supply Center. We are losing outstanding supply officers in from the active list one of most the Navy."

High in his praise of his new command post, Rear Admiral Antrim described the supply activity as "probably the most important one in the world today."

Adm. Antrim New Commandant at Supply Center

Rear Admiral A. A. Antrim's blue and white two-starred flag went up over Building 148 at the Naval Base last week as the Norfolk Naval Supply Center's new commanding officer began his tour of duty.

Change of command ceremonies March 31 marked the end of a colorful 38-year naval career for Rear Admiral John E. Wood, SC, USN, Center commanding officer and District Supply Officer, Fifth Naval District, since December, 1951.

"I know of no other duty," Rear Admiral Wood said, prior to reading his orders detaching him from the Center, "which I could have had which could have pleased me more to have had as my last duty in the Navy than command of the Naval Supply Center—I know this organization will continue to be a source of pride to the Navy."

As Rear Admiral Wood's flag was lowered, his last official act as commanding officer was to turn over the key to the Center to Rear Admiral Antrim.

"I feel especially honored," Rear Admiral Antrim said after reading his orders, "in having been selected to follow Rear Admiral Wood in command of this highly efficient Supply Center. We are losing outstanding supply officers in from the active list one of most the Navy."

High in his praise of his new command post, Rear Admiral Antrim described the supply activity as "probably the most important one in the world today."

woolens are free of larvae when stored. The cedar oil vapor is not effective against larger larvae, it does kill small larvae. Scatter flakes or crystals between layers of articles for protection in chests that are several years old. New cedar chests should be at least 70 per cent of 3/8" red cedar heartwood to be effective.

Dry-cleaning kills all stages of clothes moths and carpet beetles, but does not give protection against infestation.

Big Attraction for Everybody!

Have you ever considered how much credit is due the people when a new industry is located in their midst?

True, manufacturers want plant locations giving them advantages in transportation, fuel, power, water, nearness to markets and other important factors. But they also want locations giving them advantages in people.

They want to build their plants where people are friendly and cooperative . . . where people have foresight and initiative . . . where people have built clean communities and created decent government.

During 1953 new factories employing 4,221 people were built along the Norfolk and Western.* Some were large, some were small — but all were important.

Each of these new factories is the strongest kind of testimonial to the quality of the people where they're located.

Good people are a big attraction for industry, and new industry, of course, is a "big attraction" for the people.

It creates jobs, expands purchasing power, raises living standards.

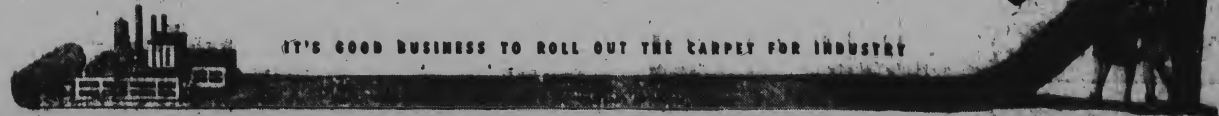

From it, everyone benefits —

For so splendidly measuring up to industry's requirements for quality people, the Norfolk and Western salutes the folks along its line . . . good workers . . . good citizens . . . good neighbors for industry.

*During 1953, in addition to new industries, established factories along the N & W expanded their operations and added 3,974 persons to their payrolls. In short, industry in these communities now provides more than 8,000 jobs which did not exist just 15 short months ago — and 8,000 jobs means income for families totaling about 27,000 persons. Yes, industry is a "big attraction" — for everybody!

Parker Nelson, of Travel Council, Will Assist Here

The Virginia Beach Chamber of Commerce announced today that the Virginia Travel Council would take an active hand in assisting with the top heavy promotion resort calendar this season.

Leo Hoarty, executive manager of the resort trade body reported that plans have been completed to have Parker Nelson, Field Director of the Council join the resort chamber staff for the summer months.

Nelson, son of Bob Nelson, founder and director of the Virginia Travel Council, will assist in all publicity and promotion work, on a lend lease basis. Both the Travel Council and the Chamber concluded arrangements this week, designed to place special emphasis on the recently completed beach in an all out publicity program.

Hoarty, in explaining the need for assistance, stated, "that" the defense on the Beach Chamber have reached an all time high, while still seasonal, represented a problem in coping with a tightly packed calendar of events at the Continued On Page Four

FRANK DUSCH SEES OPENER

Virginia Beach City Councilman Frank A. Dusch returned to Virginia Beach Wednesday from the Nation's Capital where he witnessed the official opening of the American League baseball season. Dusch saw Norfolk's "Chuck" Stobbs pitch 2 2/3 innings of five-hit ball against the World Champion New York Yankees.

Dusch also saw President Eisenhower pitch a perfect strike to open the baseball season and he saw Washington's Mickey Vernon break a 3 to 3 deadlock in the tenth inning with a climactic home run to give the Senators a 5 to 3 victory.

Attending the season's opening game in Washington is an old custom with the popular councilman. He learned the habit as a young boy when his father would take him to Washington for the game. Dusch's father was a rabid baseball fan and a close friend of Clark Griffith, owner of the Washington club. Councilman Dusch has continued the custom of making the annual trip to the Nation's Capital since his father's death, which occurred while watching one of the opening games several years ago.

Dusch reported that he could hardly remember a more exciting game than the one he saw Tuesday and the Vernon's tremendous wallop in the lower half of the 10th inning was a treat thrill.

A meeting of temples in the Mid-Atlantic Shrine for Virginia Beach was virtually assured as a result of a meeting of Shrine officials and officials of Virginia Beach at a meeting held Tuesday at the Cavalier Club, it was learned Wednesday.

The group met here some four years ago along with shriners from several southeastern states. Officials of the Shrine organization are anxious to set the dates for the week following the Labor Day weekend.

Herman Nowitzky, a veteran shriner of Norfolk's Khedive Temple, and Charles Pinnell, of Richmond's Acca Temple, met with Mayor P. F. Murray, Fred A. Haycox, Charles R. Forbes and E. Ashley Haycox, all of Virginia Beach.

The housing problems have been referred to L. Floyd Patrick, a member of the Chamber of Commerce's Board of Directors, who will be assisted by Frank A. Dusch, city councilman and also a member of the Khedive Temple of the Shrine.

The meeting held here four years ago brought large crowds to the beach and the shriners were so well pleased with Virginia Beach that they have been trying since that time to return, it was pointed out.

Exact dates have not been set but it is expected that the three day meeting would take place on Thursday, Friday and Saturday following the Labor Day Weekend.

Rotary Club to Entertain Young "City Officials"

High school students who will be elected in a special election to city offices next week will be special guests of the Virginia Beach Rotary Club at its regular meeting on Thursday night, April 29, at the Virginia Beach High School.

The youngsters, all students in the Virginia Beach High School, will fill city offices for the one day, Thursday, April 29. This election follows a proclamation issued this week by Mayor P. F. Murray setting aside Thursday, April 29, as Youth Day in Virginia Beach.

The city offices to be filled by the students include the mayor, all councilmen, city treasurer, commissioners of the revenue, city sergeant, director of public works, city engineer, chief of police and the fire chief.

Rotary clubs throughout the world are observing the week of April 25th as "Youth Week" and the local club is carrying on a project started last year in entertaining the student city officials at its regular meeting.

In the morning, on April 29, Mayor Murray and Albin R. Mailles, President of the Rotary Club, along other city officials and officers of the Rotary Club, will meet with the students in the Virginia Beach High School auditorium to discuss official problems facing the youthful office holders.

Corn Planting Policy Set Forth

"Farmers who underplant their 1954 corn acreage allotment by not more than 10 per cent will not be penalized for such underplanting in the establishment of any future allotments which may be required under existing law, Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson announced today. He said it will be the policy of the Department that farmers who plant between 90 and 100 per cent of their 1954 corn crop allotments will be treated in future programs as if the corn allotment were fully planted in 1954.

"Past acreage of corn is one of the factors which local committees must consider in the distribution of the county allotment to farms," the Secretary said, "and many farmers may feel that they should come as close to their current allotments as possible in order to protect their interests in any future allotment program. However, it is my purpose to continue to relieve farmers of the inconveniences inherent in control programs whenever it is practical to do so."

CITY AND COUNTY PASTORS TO PARTICIPATE IN SUNRISE SERVICES AT CAPE HENRY

Twelve-Point Policy Declaration Lists Long-Range Planning, Erosion Control, Better Streets, Schools

Members of the "Unity Ticket" for city council of Virginia Beach issued a 12-point platform this week for the consideration of voters and it was announced that a campaign headquarters office will be opened on 23rd street.

The candidates, Mayor P. F. Murray, Frank D. Tarrall, Jr., and John A. Tallaferro issued a comprehensive platform resolving to unity to this community. They announced that they had been moved by the more than 800 names of qualified voters who have signed petitions in their behalf. They were particularly impressed by the number of names and the fact that the petitions were circulated and signed without benefit of any organized effort on the part of the other followers.

Comaigars of the "Unity Ticket" campaign, A. R. Walton and Richard G. Brydges, announced that literature and information concerning the candidates will be available at campaign headquarters. They also announced that other information, such as voting qualifications, would be available.

The candidates' statement follows: Several weeks ago we announced our intention to become candidates for election to the City Council of Virginia Beach. At that time we resolved among us that "Unity" would be the theme of this effort. We adopted this word because we know the tremendous need for it in our community and anxiously awaited the reaction of our people to this plan. We are pleased and gratified to announce to you at this time that the citizens of this city have reacted by tendering to us a petition containing the names of some 800 qualified voters who endorsed our unity program. These names have been affixed without the benefit of any organized effort on the part of our followers to obtain them and with the benefit of no public meetings of any kind. Moved and stimulated by this reaction and with our sincere promise to intensify our efforts for an even stronger unity we hereby officially form these offices and tender our platform for your consideration.

1. We pledge our cooperation with State and Federal agencies to insure the correction and maintenance of beach erosion and we pledge our efforts to obtain the obtaining of appropriations such as the $20,000 granted our City for this work by the recent General Assembly.

2. We pledge a long range plan for city development; utilizing the talents and abilities of our experienced citizens for the orderly growth of our community.

3. We pledge our support and cooperation with all agencies interested, as we are, in the promotion of tourist trade in this area and through increased publicity and recreational facilities we hope to achieve this. We will appropriate as much money for this as our city budget will properly allow.

4. We pledge our efforts to eliminate open drainage ditches by the establishment of a city-wide program of underground storm sewers.

5. We pledge the taking of additional steps to improve and extend all educational facilities.

6. We pledge our efforts to improve our water distribution facilities and to extend sanitary services to areas not now being served.

7. We pledge intensified street improvement programs, especially for Pacific Avenue, with a comprehensive plan for curbs, gutters and sidewalks.

8. We pledge our support to the establishment of a North-South highway and to unity all effort for deep sea sport fishing in this area.

9. We will continue to favor annexation and to work toward all means to insure the continual growth of our city.

10. We pledge our cooperation with the hotel operators and business people effected to solve the parking problems of our city.

11. We recognize a great need for an adequate convention hall and will work to secure same. Steps have already been taken to secure an armory which can be used for a convention hall and we pledge to work with all groups in an effort to secure this.

12. We commend the outstanding achievements of our garden clubs and other civic groups who have contributed so greatly to the beautification of our city. We pledge our support to them in the continuation of these efforts and promise to assist them in their plans for the beautification of the entrances to Virginia Beach.

Opponents of Unity Candidates Plan Statement

Official announcement of a slate of candidates to oppose the "Unity Ticket" is expected to be made today.

The three opposition candidates, according to reports, will be W. W. McClannan, Jr., incumbent councilman, W. C. Everett, automobile dealer, and Dr. W. B. Costenbader, Norfolk dentist who resides here.

A spokesman close to the group backing these men indicated that a formal announcement would be made today following a meeting held Wednesday night.

Rev. Brown Will Conduct Service Near Smithfield

The Rt. Rev. William A. Brown, D. D., retired Bishop of the Diocese of Southern Virginia, will conduct a sunrise service with Holy Communion on Easter Sunday morning at 5:30 at St. Luke's (The Old Brick Church), which is located four miles South-east of Smithfield, Virginia, on State Highway 10.

The picturesque sylvan setting of the Historic Church makes it ideal for a sunrise service. The large East window of beautiful Savilian glass with the early sun shining through is an inspiring sight.

An association has recently been organized to restore and preserve St. Luke's Church as a National Religious Shrine.

With so many of the loveliest gardens in our midst exactly at their peak in bloom at this time it was found very difficult to select just one for the beauty spot of the week. Suddenly, we came upon a resident so well versed and familiar with our lovely gardens and beauty spots that it was unanimously agreed to take her advice and point out the places she had seen for the beauty spot of the week. The members of the week's

STATEMENT COMES LATE

Leslie A. Weary, who has accepted management of the councilman campaign to elect W. W. McClannan, Jr., W. C. Everett and Dr. W. B. Costenbader to the Virginia Beach City Council, released a platform statement to the Sun-News late Wednesday after the paper had gone to press.

Weary expressed regrets that he had failed to release the statement to this paper earlier as he did to other newspapers. Had the statement been made available to the Sun-News in time it would have appeared in this week's issue, the management announced.

The stone cross, marking the site of the landing of the Jamestown settlers on April 26, 1607, is situated on the ocean side of Atlantic Avenue to the rear of the Non-Commissioned Officers Open Mess.

A quartet from the 461st Transportation Company, a unit of the 54th Transportation Battalion at Fort Story, will offer special music as part of the service. The invocation will be given by the Reverend Berkeley, and the Benediction by the Reverend Davis.

A multi-million-dollar real estate development, embracing a 200-room motor hotel, a shopping center and a 400-unit residential subdivision, was revealed here this week as in prospect for the strategically located Hudgins tract between the Military Highway and Virginia Beach Boulevard in the Kempville District of Princess Anne County.

The 143.7-acre tract, part of which is being used by the Glenrock Airport, with another section leased to operators of the arched racetrack, has been earmarked for transfer to Janaf, Incorporated, an investment organization catering primarily to members of the military, past and present, which was founded last Summer.

James K. Beazley, of Petersburg, president of Janaf, said the motor hotel and a medical center, both fronting the Military Highway side of the property, would be the first undertakings, although plans for the residential project, which would include a community center with club-type facilities, are in the making.

The property, upon which a contract for sale has been executed, figured in plans for a

A Poem for Easter
Keep me from bitterness, dear God, it is so easy
To nurse harsh, bitter thoughts, each dull, dark hour.
Against self-pity, Man of Sorrows, defend me
With Thy sweetness and Thy gentle power.
And out of all this hurt and pain and heartbreak --
Help me to reap new sympathy, a deeper, wiser pity
For those who bear a heavier cross with Thee.

Open for Recruits Says Coast Guard

"We're wide open for recruits," Chief Ship's Clerk John T. Mears, Jr., Fifth Coast Guard District recruiting officer, said today in Norfolk, "but the trouble is that since recruiting was shut down for a couple of months recently, lots of prospective recruits think we're still closed and don't bother to contact us when they're thinking of entering military service."

Mears made the statement as the Coast Guard set out to round up recruits to meet the service's steadily increased monthly personnel quotas.

"Right now we're looking for men between the ages of 17 and 25 to join the Coast Guard. We feel that one of our service's biggest attraction to young men is its small size—about 30,000 men all told—which makes for a tighter knit and more informal organization."

He said that all new enlistments in the Coast Guard are for a period of four years, and emphasized that former servicemen can enlist even if they don't fall within the 17 and 25 age group.

It was also pointed out that many ex-Coast Guard and Navy men can join the Coast Guard with their old rates.

Defects Should be Corrected Before Child Enters School in Autumn

With pre-school clinics moving into full swing throughout the State, Dr. Mack I. Shanholz, State Health Commissioner, reminded parents today of the importance of carrying out recommendations made during the clinic sessions.

"Unless the defects discovered in pre-school clinics are followed with corrective treatment, the child has received little or no value from this experience," Dr. Shanholz said.

At about this time every year pre-school clinics are conducted by local health departments in Virginia. Children who expect to enter school in the fall for the first time are given examinations to see if they are physically fit to start school.

A state law requires that every child entering school must be vaccinated against smallpox. If the child has not been vaccinated previously, the clinicians at the pre-school clinics will perform this service. Immunization against diphtheria and whooping cough are also encouraged. Those who were safe-guarded against these diseases during babyhood can be given "booster" shots to insure continued immunity.

Clinics are held early in the spring so that parents may have plenty of time to carry out the clinicians' recommendations before school begins. Dr. Shanholz pointed out.

"Although no law requires the parent to have defects noted in his child corrected, every parent owes his child the right to start to school free from disease and unnecessary illness," he said. "If the child has a healthy start, his school experiences will be much more pleasant and profitable to him," the Commissioner concluded.

Ed Sullivan Named Marshal for Shenandoah Blossom Festival

Ed Sullivan, known to the military as sports writer, Broadway lumina, radio star, showman and as "The Host" of his famous television program, "Toast of the Town," has been named Grand Marshal of the feature parade of the 27th Shenandoah Apple Blossom Festival, to be held at Winchester at 2 P. M., Friday, April 26.

Sullivan, a native of New York City, began his club to fame with a $10 a week job as sports editor on the Port Chester, N. Y. Daily Item, fresh from high school. He joined the staff of the old New York Evening Mail as a sports writer in 1920 and, after 12 years, became a Broadway columnist.

Radio followed and Sullivan introduced to the air waves such notables as Jack Benny, George M. Cohan, Florenz Ziegfeld, Jimmy Durante, Frances Langford and Irving Berlin.

Sullivan's "Toast of the Town" show made its debut in 1943 on the Columbia television network, soared to top listener rating and has held its lead. The great in many fields are guests on his show, which he not only "emceed," but co-produces. Sullivan's main diversion is golf. He lives at a Park Avenue hotel.

More than 200,000 persons are expected in Winchester for the two-day Shenandoah Apple Blossom Festival and the greatest crowd in the festival's 27 year history is expected to greet Sullivan when he rides at the head of the three hour long Grand Feature parade in the Apple Capital. It will be "Ed Sullivan" day. As Grand Marshal, Sullivan will ride along the Trail of the Pink Petals, which has previously been trod by such celebrities as Bing Crosby, Bob Hope, Van Johnson, Howard Keel and Arthur Godfrey.

Tipping Chapeau

Cavalier Garden Club. Our informant for the day was none other than the charming, Miss Sandy V. Beach.

The first garden she visited was that of Mr. and Mrs. James H. Parsons, located at 4768 Ocean Front. And the description she gave bewildered us. Nothing has been left out in their garden overlooking the Atlantic Ocean, not even the gold fish in their pond of water lilies.

Then to "A Garden in the Rough," that of Mr. and Mrs. John E. Addenbrook, 211 69th Street. The unique charm of this as described to us, is the unusual friendly atmosphere it presents.

She then visited the one of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Strole, 252 69th Street. We were glad to hear of this since it was our selection for the award "Tipping the Chapeau" for last week.

Next to the formal garden of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Rau, 55th St. extended. She emphasized the azaleas in profusion and the daffodils in quantities.

The garden reflecting natural beauty, in that same type of atmosphere, with quantities of azaleas, dogwoods, pines, iris, candy-tuft and so many others growing on natural slopes that she could not stop enumerating them was that of Miss Chris Heidinger, 151st Street and Holly Road.

The tour then followed to the beautiful Bay Colony area and when she tried to describe the roadway through the roadways in that section, which she said reminded her of our country, we found on account of its size and quantity, we could hardly believe our ears. And she mentioned that the concrete Bay Colony "Garden Clubbers" in an effort to preserve our native state flower, had just planted an additional fifty dogwoods along the roadway.

and that, this particular group offers a $50.00 Savings Bond to the resident of Bay Colony who maintains the "best looking premises" for the year!

In this section, she visited the gardens of Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Bushman, Abingdon Road. Mr. and Mrs. Gilmore Lee Tibbels, these two having in the past received the citation "Tipping the Chapeau" and ended her tour at the perfectly charming home of Mr. and Mrs. Earl VanBuren, overlooking Lynnhaven Bay. It was in this way, indeed, that "Miss Sandy V. Beach" relaxed among the charming members and guests of the Cavalier Garden Club where a beautiful tea was in progress and the home artistically decorated with arrangements made by the members of the Club, reflecting the soft color tones of their surroundings.

Now, through this column weekly, the Council of Garden Clubs selects a beauty spot.

THE UNITY PLATFORM

Members of the "Unity Ticket" seeking election to the Virginia Beach City Council in June issued a 12-point campaign platform this week and it is a forthright comprehensive statement looking to the further advancement and welfare of Virginia Beach. It should receive widespread acceptance on the part of the voters of this community.

Another interesting aspect of the platform and the candidacy of these men is the fact that more than 800 qualified voters signed petitions in their behalf without the benefit of any organized effort on the part of the supporters of these men. This is quite in contrast to the concerted effort put forth by the trio of men who are expected to officially announce their candidacies in opposition to the "Unity Ticket" today.

The spontaneous acceptance of the "Unity Ticket's" initial announcement in seeking to bring unity to this community and the ticket's straight forward statement at that time is indicative of the desire of the voters of Virginia Beach. The voters are anxious to back a group who would have unity as its aim and by the large number of signers to the petitions and the approval voiced by a representative cross section of this city's population it is evident that the Murray - Tarrall - Taliferro platform and objective is popular with the majority of our people.

The 12-point program as outlined by these candidates can be hailed as one that has been given careful study. It embodies points which are paramount in the development of this great community. The platform, among other things, denotes thoughtful approach to the varied problems facing a fast-growing city.

While the platform lists 12 specific points, it is understood the candidates feel that these 12 points are worthy of special attention but that there are still others that will be met and accomplished should they be elected to the city council.

The candidates indicate, by their platform, that they have a broad knowledge of the problems of this city and by their statement indicate an intense desire to see that these points are explored to the fullest for the benefit of all residents of Virginia Beach.

The platform embraces matters of beach erosion control, educational facilities, the promotion of tourist trade, street improvement, water supply and sanitary services, parking problems and the establishment of a north-south highway.

In addition, the candidates state that they favor annexation and the need for an adequate convention hall for the city. They state that they will continue to work to bring about these points. The candidates take special note of the work of the garden clubs here in helping to beautify the city and commend them for this work. The platform also pledges the effort to eliminate open drainage ditches by the establishment of a city-wide program of underground sewers.

All in all, the platform is to the point on all matters and one that should have the support of every citizen, who is genuinely interested in the advancement and progress of Virginia Beach.

We believe the voters in June will voice their wholehearted approval by electing the "Unity Ticket" to the City Council.

WE DISAGREE

Comedians, quite a few big-time radio commentators and heavy thinkers of all descriptions seem to think that anybody living in a city of less than 10,000 people is a mentally retarded individual — one of the great unwashed who is entertained by listening to musical saws and who, bucolically, entertains others by playing the latest hillbilly ballads on a pocket comb encased in tissue paper.

We must disagree. Most of us who live in small towns do so by preference. We want to be able to say "Hello, Oscar," when we meet the head of the Anderson family on our way down Main Street. We live to have Mabel, the waitress at the diner, ask if we "will have today's special, just like you got last week." We small towners like the theater. We like lectures, PTA meetings, good motion pictures, band concerts and picnics. We like family reunions, church gatherings and county fairs.

And obvious as it may seem we don't think that any of us small town residents could be happy unless we could wake up to, and live with the cool, fresh, sweet, clean air that envelops us day after day, night after night. Unlike our city contemporaries, we can't see her it comes in our bedroom windows!

This train of thought resulted from reading an article prepared for the 1954 Yearbook of the America Peoples Encyclopedia. It discussed air pollution in our major cities stating that polluted air has become a major civic problem and the problem is likely to become greater, since populations of cities are increasing.

Chicago newspapers recently pointed out that as much as 142 tons of dust fall on a square mile of Chicago's Loop each month. We suppose the dustfall is heavy enough to result in both lung and traffic congestion.

Yes, in our town we know what "smog" is — but only because we've read about it in metropolitan newspapers.

And that's just another one of a hundred reasons why we like small towns.

ULTIMATE PROMISE OF EASTER

WASHINGTON.. AS VIEWED BY YOUR SENATOR

A. Willis Robertson

Hearings on the 875 page tax revision bill, which has been passed by the House, were started by the Senate Finance Committee last week and are scheduled to be concluded before the end of this month.

Much of the debate in the House centered around the question of whether priority in reducing taxes should be given to measures which would tend to stimulate business, such as a liberal depreciation allowance and the removal of some of the double taxation of dividends, or to measures which would encourage consumer spending, such as increasing personal exemptions. That same argument will be resumed in the Senate with political emphasis on the question of which portion of our population will receive the most benefits from the bill and an economic division between those who feel it is most important to keep up production and those who feel that the chief need right now is more buyers for the things which are being produced.

The important fact about this bill, to my mind, however, is the one mentioned by the Secretary of the Treasury in his testimony before the Senate Finance Committee last week. Secretary Humphrey said that the pending bill was designed primarily as a reform of our tax structure rather than as a tax reduction measure.

From my experience of ten years as a member of the House Ways and Means Committee I am well aware of the inequities and inconsistencies which have crept into our tax system over the years and of the need for a general overhauling. That need, however, does not justify us in hastily accepting a revision which has had too little consideration would thoroughly confuse taxpayers and create what has been referred to as "a tax lawyer's paradise."

Friends in the House of Representatives have informed me that not only was the pending bill passed without the members generally knowing what is in it but that even the members of the Ways and Means Committee which handled it were given little opportunity to find out what it meant and what it would do. I have been told that complicated questions of the type to which we used to devote days and even weeks of study when I was working on tax bills, were rushed to a vote in the committee meetings after only a few minutes of consideration.

It seems obvious to me, therefore, that members of the Senate cannot find out what is in this huge bill during the course of three weeks of hearings and that members of the Senate will be asked to take it on faith — not ever faith in their fellow members of the Senate, but faith that Treasury Department technicians and their outside advisers, who drew the various sections of the bill, put into it the things which we would want included.

I, for one, am not inclined to perform any such act of faith. It seems to me the best thing for us to do is to extend the corporate income tax rate of 52 percent for another year, as is done in the pending bill, and postpone the tax revision plan for more thorough study. We badly need the $1,200,000,000 of additional revenue which this tax extension would produce. We can ill afford the tax reductions totalling $1,400,000,000 which are included in the bill. But, more important, we do not want to take action which might give large wind-falls to some taxpayers who do not need them and at the same time unexpectedly penalize others, like the Virginia corporation which I was told might lose more than three-quarters of a million dollars in one lump sum if the bill is passed as sent to us from the House.

NOTES FOR HOMEMAKERS

By MRS. ELIZABETH DEAL, County Home Agent

EASTER BIRDS AND EGGS

Small turkeys will be plentiful on Easter markets, according to the U. S. Department of Agriculture. Price-wise these birds are expected to be among the best choices for the Easter dinner platter. The industry reports that Easter now is the third largest turkey day of the year, ranking next to Christmas and Thanksgiving.

Here's a suggestion about buying Easter eggs: Though the color of the shell has nothing to do with the flavor or nutritive value of eggs, people in some localities prefer those with white shells and will pay 5 to 10 cents a dozen more for them, while in other places brown eggs are in demand and bring higher prices. When it comes to buying eggs for the youngsters to color and decorate for Easter, however, you may save by selecting the less expensive shell color. White eggs are best for dyeing — in fact, some companies offer special prices on white eggs for Easter. But brown eggs may be attractively decorated in other ways.

THRIFTY MILK BUYING

To skimp on milk in order to cut family food costs is poor economy, nutritionists believe. For its calcium alone, milk is a good buy. In fact, without enough milk you can hardly provide meals that meet the family's calcium needs. Milk also is a good buy in high-quality protein and in the B-vitamin, riboflavin, and it offers other minerals and vitamins. Even in the Department's low-cost food plans a minimum of 5 1/2 to 6 1/2 quarts of milk are recommended for each family depending on age, and 5 quarts for each adult. Expectant and nursing mothers need more.

But money often may be saved on milk purchases by smart shopping and by using the less expensive forms of milk to advantage.

Culture Chairman and will be in charge of the four Districts' exhibits.

The conservation exhibit will be an interesting and instructive portrayal of "What we should conserve on our Water Shed." The basic assignment will depict "Wild Life," our natural resource. The exhibit will be made by the district Chairman, Mrs. E. S. Collins of Norfolk.

The District Year Books have been compiled in a beautiful book by Mrs. J. H. Chockley and will be on display. The History of the District will be told by the Scrapbook made and exhibited by Mrs. George R. Avery of the Pamlico Gardens Club of Norfolk who is Scrapbook Chairman for the District.

Garden Therapy exhibit will be arranged by Mrs. G. T. McNeil of the Colonial Place Garden Club of Norfolk, who is District Chairman of Garden Therapy. Mrs. Gustave Schneider, State Therapy Chairman, a member of the Lafayette Garden Club of Norfolk, is in charge of the four Districts' exhibits.

COLONY RESTAURANT GETS LAVISH PRAISE

Recent patrons of the Colony Restaurant in the Jefferson Hotel Building on Atlantic avenue were lavish in their praise of the excellent food and service found there. "We enjoyed the seafood and the service," commented Mr. and Mrs. John A. Rydel, of Humeston, Iowa.

The comments of Mr. and Mrs. Rydel are typical of the throngs of satisfied customers who have visited the Colony Restaurant. (ADV.)

M. 2:15 and 8:15 P. M.

STUDENTS VIE FOR HONORS IN CONTESTS SPONSORED BY BEACH GARDEN CLUB

Virginia Beach High School students are participating currently in two contests sponsored by the Virginia Beach Garden Club. Prizes have been offered for the three best posters calling attention to the Beach's first Historic Garden Week Tour on Tuesday April 27th, and for the best map indicating the 8 showplaces with the best routes for getting from one place to another.

The Garden Club hopes that the enthusiastic response of the students may be attributed to whole-hearted community interest. But it is willing to admit that interest may have been roused by the types of prizes offered to the enterprising teen-agers.

Makers of the three best posters will receive pairs of free passes to the Beach Theatre, courtesy of the management. Winner of the map-making contest will receive a free lunch for self and companion at the B & M delicatessen, on 23rd and Atlantic, courtesy of Mike Heneghan.

The question is: - is the way to a boy's heart really through his stomach? All contestants in the poster-making contest, reports Miss Barber, Art Teacher at Virginia Beach High School, were girls. All contestants in the map-making contest are, with one exception, boys.

Mrs. W. Peyton May, Mrs. Henry Lewis and Mrs. F. Fletcher Garlock, judges in the poster contest, were able to make their selections last week. Awards were announced in class on Friday by Miss Barber.

The three winners - of equal excellence, but employing different techniques - were Blanche McDonough, Dolores Manicus, and Linda Hebrine. For excellence in lettering, honorable mention was Esposito.

Fifteen posters are now on display at key points around Virginia Beach. Observers will find them interesting not only for the information offered, but as an example of the art work of the community's young artists.

Linda's poster may be identified by her vivid impression of the Cavalier, whose Formal Gardens will be one of the 8 designated places on the Tour. Dolores' poster is adorned with flowers and a gardening glove. The judges felt that the glove was rather suggestive of a baseball glove, but thought that with spring in the air the confusion of image was understandable. They found Blanche's poster, with its flowers, bird, and colorful lettering, rather crowded, in composition, but decided spring might as well be busting out all over there, too.

Winners of the map contest

Camptown Races Set for May 8th

The historic Camp Town Races - dating back to the pre-Civil War era - will be held at the Meadows, Richmond, known widely as the home of Bill Prince, at 7 P. M. Saturday, May 8, K. Bolling Lancaster, general chairman, announced today.

Because of last year's successful revival of the races which were famous in the 1880's the committee has increased the number of races for this year's event from seven to eight Lancaster said.

Mule races, farmers races, ladies races and regular races are included on the program, he said.

The Chenerys have offered track, stable and other facilities of the estate for the benefit event, which provides funds for maintaining the War Memorial Building in Ashland.

will be announced next week. Mrs. Selden Grandy, Mrs. Conrad Little, and Mrs. W. Peyton May will be the judges.

Coates Motor Company Receives Special Award From Chrysler

The Coates Motor Company, Inc. of Virginia Beach today received official notice from Detroit that it had been singled out for a special award from the Chrysler Corporation.

The award, a bronze plaque, was given in recognition of the completion of four years participation in the Master Technicians Service Conference - a continuous, nationwide training program in the servicing of Chrysler Corporation cars.

Notification came from W. B. Rice, director of service of Plymouth, and administrator of the program under which approximately 9,000 Chrysler Corporation dealers receive, each month, a package of training material consisting of a sound slide film, charts and booklets.

The Master Technicians Service Conference is the largest and among the most successful mechanical training programs ever attempted by American industry. It assures car owners expert service by master technicians - men to keep up-to-date on modern service methods.

Individual awards have been made to the service personnel of the Coates Motor Co. Inc., who are participating in this program. "We take our hats off to these master technicians," Rice said. "Many have taken this training on their own time, showing their determination to become experts in their field."

Luther S. Mills, who has served as the dealer's conference leader in the training program says, "The Master Technicians program takes the guesswork out of automobile service, keeps labor and material expenditure at a minimum, and, results in more accurate work at less expense to the auto owner."

AGRICULTURAL NOTES

By JOHN O. HART, County Farm Agent

Supplemental Pasture

Sweet sudan grass seeded around May 15th or later will provide excellent supplemental grazing around 6 to 8 weeks after seeding. Seed at the rate of from 20 to 30 pounds per acre and fertilize with 600-600 pounds per acre of 10-10-10 or 8-8-8 fertilizer. One bushel of soybeans may be added to this mixture if desired.

Cautions: To reduce danger of prussic acid poisoning, do not graze sudan grass until it is 18 inches high, and do not graze frosted sudan grass.

Fertilizing Soybeans

In general, more efficient results from fertilizer are obtained when applied to the rotation or to the crop preceding soybeans such as corn or small grain. Applying fertilizer for soybeans in this manner should increase both the corn and soybean yields. If soybeans are fertilized direct, apply 300 to 400 lbs. 0-14-14, 0-10-20, or 0-16-8 according to soil tests. 2-12-12 may give better results on extremely light soil. To prevent injury causing poor germination, do not apply more than 36 pounds of potash in the row.

Why the pH is extremely low, lime may be of as much benefit as fertilizer.

Herd Culling Is in Order

The specter of a milk surplus becomes more real as the spring grazing season approaches. Positive steps must be taken to cope with a growing milk surplus and lower prices.

One sure method is herd culling. It is a direct measure for dealing with milk surpluses. As the average production level per cow is built up, culling must be more rigid.

In the present dairy situation, with more milk than is currently needed in most markets, inefficient, low-producing cows should be culled from the herd. The feed, labor and time thus saved might be used profitably on fewer but more efficient cows.

It's wrong to assume that you'll make more net profit by increasing the size of the herd as the price of milk declines. It's the eficiency with which each 100 pounds of milk is produced that counts.

Now is the time to check the production record for each cow. Keep in mind that it took a production of at least 6,000 pounds of milk to pay the total cost of production in 1953. This represents an average of 20 pounds of milk production daily per cow for 10 months.

Brucellosis Disease Costs Are Staggering

What does brucellosis (Bang's disease) cost the state of Virginia? If you're a dairy farmer producing grade A milk, each infected cow will lose $55.80 for you each year. If you're producing ungraded milk, each infected cow loses $23.25.

These figures are based on the theory that the average cow in Virginia produces 4,500 pounds of milk. If she becomes infected, that production drops at least 20 per cent.

It is estimated that 2.5 per cent of the dairy cattle of Virginia's 460,000 head are infected. This is below the national average but still adds up to a whopping 10,500,000 pounds of milk that aren't there because of brucellosis. Assuming the lost milk was grade A, that means a loss of $724,500; ungraded, $333,375. The actual figure, of course, lies somewhere in between.

The losses enumerated are only in the dairy industry. In beef cattle, the loss of a calf because of the disease means the loss of an entire year's profit, not just 20 per cent. The same story holds true in sheep. Nationally, brucellosis is estimated to cause an annual $100,000,000 loss.

What about the human angle? In humans the disease is known as undulant fever, and can be transmitted through raw milk, or by coming in contact in any way with the germ. Veterinarians, packing house workers, and farmers, in that order, rank as the groups most often victims of the disease.

There are three known types of the germ. One occurs most frequently in cattle, another in swine, another in goats. All three are transmissible to humans, with the swine and goat types being the most severe.

The Chamber of Commerce of the United States reports that industry spends roughly $11,000 per worker to provide the necessary capital for plant, tools and supplies to produce goods.

Four-fifths of Bolivia's 3,064,000 people live at altitudes above 10,000 feet.

'Strike Back' Is Slogan For Cancer Fight

"Strike Back At Cancer — Man's Cruellest Enemy!" is the keynote of the 1954 Cancer Crusade for funds and increased public awareness of the American Cancer Society's three-point program of research, education and service.

With this slogan, the month-long campaign in Virginia has as its goal $302,500 to further medical research and public health progress in the early detection and treatment of cancer, one of the leading causes of death in this state and throughout the nation.

The Virginia Cancer Crusade in April — Cancer Control month — is part of the nation-wide drive of the American Cancer Society with which this state's Division is affiliated. The national campaign chairman is Elmer H. Dobson, New York business leader. Public support is being sought for a three-year program of research, education and service essential to detecting and controlling cancer.

William R. Perkins, Jr., Lynchburg, is state campaign chairman. Discussing the drive, he said, "The decisive spirit to conquer cancer, expressed in our 1954 Cancer Crusade slogan, inspires all of our volunteers. They are going ahead with this drive with the feeling that growing public awareness of the cancer problem will assure greater response than ever to their appeal."

"The funds raised in this crusade will help medical scientists seek the unknown causes of cancer. Strong support by each of our communities can mean greater progress in detection and advances in the cure of this disease. More lives can be saved and painful illness checked if the public gets behind this drive," the chairman said.

Work done by the Virginia Division of the American Cancer Society towards this end will be publicized through April, Perkins added. Proceeds of the Virginia Crusade will be used for the American Cancer Society's three-point program of research, public education and community service.

"Facts and figures prove the importance of this work," stressed the campaign chairman. "Deaths from cancer in Virginia last year numbered 3,487, according to the State Department of Health. Many of these were children — between the ages of 3 and 15 years. This enemy claims people of all ages and from all walks of life. Our big job is to strike back at cancer; help find its causes and cure. This we can do by giving generously to the 1954 Cancer Crusade."

The organizing committee for this year's drive has worked out many interesting features for

Buck Deer Kill Has Little Effect On Herd Growth

Game biologists make the interesting statement that removing buck deer from a herd has no effect on that herd's increase. According to observations of the Virginia Commission of Game and Inland Fisheries, after removing bucks at any given rate for a short period of years, it is found that the total herd (and the number of bucks) will increase at the rate set by the does and the doe fawns. The removal rate of bucks can be anything from 10 percent to 100 percent, if done after the breeding season.

Since the does and the doe fawns have everything to do with the future of our herds, it is here that management stress must be placed when dealing with the problem of controlling herds, sustaining overall health and condition of the animals. To hold a herd stable when the does are averaging 1.5 fawns in the fall would mean that one-third of the does and doe fawns would have to be removed by the next fall. This doesn't mean that we could allow that many to be shot because some are lost each year from other causes. It does mean, however, in the face of the type of increase some of our herds have been experiencing that at least 10 percent of the herd would have to be harvested from this group of deer. At the present time that means doubling our present kills in those counties that have enough deer for the good supply.

Costa Rica means "Rich Coast," but the Central American Republic has never been a prime source of mineral treasure. Its wealth lies in rich soil, valuable woods and grazing lands.

Radar, to be used by the State Police in enforcing Virginia's speed laws, is an old story to the Highway Department which has been using the same device for an entirely different purpose, according to James A. Anderson, State Highway Commissioner and member of the Governor's Highway Safety Committee.

Since early 1953, the Department has employed radar as a means of checking overall speeds in more than 250 zones with the view of revising existing limits in accordance with changing conditions. Many speeds, particularly in the vicinities of small towns, were established 20 or even 25 years ago, under modern scrutiny, can only be classified as obsolete since traffic flow has become faster, highways have been modernized, brakes are more efficient, foot travel has moved to the roadside and horses are seldom encountered.

In checking a considered zone, the Highway Department determines the prevailing safe speed of passing motorists by means of the same radar equipment which will be used in enforcement, studies the accident record of the location for the past two years, performs several other technical surveys and then confers with the State Police and local authorities. In about 65 percent of the cases, it radar on them.

Additional studies are now in progress and the project is expected to be a continuous one. At the same time, Colonel C. W. Woodson, Jr., Superintendent of State Police and Executive Chairman of the Governor's Highway Safety Committee, asked the public for voluntary compliance with Virginia's speed limits and acceptance of radar as a necessary means of speed control when its use is inaugurated this summer.

"Our Highway Department and legislators have done everything possible to give us speed restrictions and zonings which are realistic yet which are both reasonable and practical and which are clearly marked. Consequently we are asking motorists to observe them and not necessitate a large number of arrests as a result of radar," he said.

Colonel Woodson also advised that before such enforcement will commence, the Highway Department will erect large signs at the state line and outline cities and towns of more than 3,500 population on all primary highways to advise speeds may be checked by radar on them.

Parks Organizing Picnic Bureaus

The establishment of a Picnic Bureau to assist civic and church organizations, industrial and business firms and farm groups in the planning of outings, was announced jointly today by the management of Ocean View Amusement Park, of Norfolk, and Easie Park, of Virginia Beach.

Both parks have been long the scene of annual outings held by Tidewater area organizations, and in order to provide greater comfort to the public shelters have been constructed this year over the picnic areas of the two recreational landmarks.

"The Picnic Bureau, it was stated, will assist organizations in selecting recreational facilities, game planning and refreshments."

That's how the first "Irish" potatoes of the English Isles came to grow in Ireland, and they were called "Irish" because the English, when they began to eat them, got the supplies from Erin. Sounds all mixed up to me cause I didn't know Virginia even existed at that time - but when one figures up - 200 years after 1550 makes 1750 and the first permanent settlers came to Cape Henry, April 26, 1607. So Virginia was leading as she always has—way back in those POPULAR FASHIONS IN THE EASTER PARADE The Costume Look will be extremely good, especially with the cheerful print dresses topped with the silk faille duster coat, or the soft sheer wool fitted knee coat! The soft, dressmaker suits in navy, champagne-to-bisque-to-tan shades! Grey suits with bright colored topers! . . . Sleek all black silk dresses with coats to match! . . . The clever "little" hats, the true sign and seal of smartness! . . . Long, crushed colored gloves to enhance the new lengths, so varied of Large handbags resembling caravans and small, neat ones of unusually interesting new shapes! . . . Colors, especially the new burnt or "hot" orange, cranberry and fiesta shades! . . . Much chalk white jewelry, the bigger earrings the better, with spanking white shortie gloves to complement same!

The T-strap sandals for this fashion is most popular. Then there are the next-to-nothing sandals with one or two banded straps to keep these delicate shoes on one's feet. It is not too early to be intrigued with the White Touch for Spring. Two-toned combinations of white and colors are plentiful as well as white used as a trimming for some of the new honey, avocado green, blue-azure and light red shades. All in all it's to be a gaily trod feminine foot that will be trekking the Easter Parade or joyfully stepping

All these made of supple nylon combinations and with the high "pushed up" look which the newest Empire silhouettes demand in foundations beneath. After all it is the shape that's dominating what we wear this Spring with so many dresses, suits and coats shaped right to the figure so that every feminine curve may

Not until 200 years later did the potato become a staple food in the rest of the world. No history records how potatoes came to North America and I quote from the marketing service of the United States Department of Agriculture. Some way direct, or indirect the potato came to Virginia, where Sir Walter Raleigh brought it. It is believed who is said to have carried it to England. early days.

Now let's see what the United States Department of Agriculture nutritionists say - they say - the potato is a valuable food in fact. Next to bread, one of the foods most used. It also is a cheap energy food, and its energy giving starch, despite popular belief, is not fattening. One medium size potato contains about 100 calories. No more than a large apple or banana. One serving of potatoes contains about as much iron as two slices of enriched bread, or about half as much as in one egg. A medium sized potato contains as much Vitamin C as a small glass of tomato juice. Potatoes also contain appreciable amounts of Vitamin B1 (Thiamine) and Niacin.

So with an unlimited number of ways of preparation and serving potatoes afford homemakers a valuable, yet inexpensive, aid for planning your menus.

POTATO HOT POT

3 cups sliced or diced potatoes
1 medium-sized onion, sliced.
2 tablespoons fat.
3 1-2 cups tomatoes.
1 1-2 teaspoons salt.
Pepper.

Cook the potatoes and onion in the fat 10 minutes. Add the tomatoes, salt and pepper. Cover and simmer 25 to 30 minutes, or until potatoes are tender.

WITH THE 4-H CLUBS

By DICK COCKRELL, ASSISTANT COUNTY AGENT

The 4-H club to have the best club meeting this month goes to the club that did a great deal of planning in preparation for the meeting, with the result of one of the nicest 4-H meetings that have been held this year.

Every good club meeting should have three parts: an opening, followed by the business meeting, and that followed with a program. This club meeting was called to order by the President. Bible reading was conducted followed by a prayer by a group of girls. The salute to the flag was given, and then the group sang "God Bless America."

During the business meeting, the items of discussion of most importance were reports of committees, the 4-H welcome sign, and a demonstration of how this club should in the point system by which the club are scored each year. This club is also planning a tour of Washington.

The Program was most interesting since the club had its contest, Tuesday, May 13th. Members of the team are Billy Oliver, Eddie Gilbert, Jimmy Banight, and Walter Humphries. These boys will judge class of breeding and fat animals in hogs, sheep, and beef cattle.

We would like to thank all the farmers that have let us use their livestock for judging purposes in preparation for this contest.

4-Hers Compete In Area Livestock Judging Contest

The members of the Princess Anne 4-H Livestock Judging Team will go to Richmond to the area contest, Tuesday, May 13th. Members of the team are Billy Oliver, Eddie Gilbert, Jimmy Banight, and Walter Humphries. These boys will judge class of breeding and fat animals in hogs, sheep, and beef cattle.

"Home" Shows Intrigue Housewives

Home shows at this season of the year are attracting the attention of millions of visitors from one end of the nation to the other. In most of these shows (framed model homes) are major features and there model homes are designed to show the latest home design ideas, many of which will set the trend in the years ahead.

One of the most noticeable trends in these show houses is the glamorizing of the home kitchen through the bold use of color on walls and ceilings and in appliances and decorations. Even the function of the kitchen is being expanded to make it a family room or a living area. This trend is taking the home kitchen out of the category of the cubby hole finished in hospital white throughout and designed only for the preparation of food which is served in a separate dining room.

The slogan of the 1950's was "Keep Mother up of the kitchen."

Today all members of the family use the kitchen for its headquarters at all times of the day and evening. For today Mother has played it smart by changing her kitchen into so attractive a room that she is no longer kept in the kitchen and away from her family.

Architects, if we are to judge by the show houses, have listened to the voice of the American Mother. We see more and more kitchens being designed with snack bars, indoor barbecue cooking areas, members of the Junior Virginia Beach Garden Club will be delegated to do the taxi-work.

"We are expecting a lot of visitors from out of town," says Mrs. Bell. "Six people from Petersburg have already reserved a table for the special Cavalier Club luncheon on the day of the Tour. We do want to give everybody who comes a wonderful impression of what life at Virginia Beach is."

Cancer Control Month. Newspaper articles, radio, TV, magazines, billboards, and motion pictures will reach into every area with the campaign message. Civic organizations and women's clubs are assisting in all towns and counties, and merchants are cooperating with Cancer workers, displaying posters or larger window treatments of the Crusade theme.

The American Cancer Society has spear-headed the fight against cancer for more than 40 years. Today it is the only voluntary health agency devoted solely to fighting cancer, man's cruellest enemy.

Net Farm Income Off 7 Percent

Although net farm incomes for 1953 declined 7 per cent from the previous year, farmers still realized a net income of $12,500,000,000, according to an agricultural summary prepared for the 1954 Yearbook of the American Peoples Encyclopedia.

At the same time the U. S. Department of Agriculture announced that farmland values in the country declined 6 per cent between November, 1952, and November, 1953.

Purchases of farm operating items such as seed, feed and fertilizer continued at a normal rate during 1953, the article will state. Less labor was hired, farm construction declined, and purchases picture windows, comfortable chairs, and even fireplaces.

The walls and ceilings are gay splashes of color today through the use of such attractive and durable materials as prefinished wall-panels which put an end to repainting problems and long hours of cleaning. This modern wall and ceiling surfacing material is readily available in sizes up to four feet by twelve feet at most building supply stores. It is easy to apply and it comes in a wide variety of colors and patterns in plain surface, lined patterns, tile designs, wood grain, marble and leather. Finished with a rainbow range of colors and shades to fit any decorative scheme.

of farm machinery and equipment were reduced. The major effect of lower incomes was in reduced capital expenditures. New stockpiles of agricultural products were concentrated largely in wheat, cotton, corn and dairy produce, but in a larger list, including the meat and poultry groups of commodities, no accumulation took place.

Easter Sunday

GIVE GOD A CHANCE
EASTER SUNDAY

For generations the cross was an emblem of sorrow, pain and death. Thieves, murderers and other transgressors of the law paid the penalty for their offenses on the cross.

It was not until after the crucifixion of Jesus Christ the cross ceased to be an emblem of shame. It became the insignia of the Christian society, with the promise that whosoever looked upon the cross and believed in Him who glorified it, and in His teachings would have life abundant and eternal.

Next Sunday is Easter Sunday. In every church throughout the land. Pastors will again tell the story of the life, death and resurrection of this same Jesus, who changed the cross from an emblem of death and disgrace to one of life, honor and glory.

EASTER SUNDAY

Spring Brings Out Beauties of State; Starts Influx of Tourists

Spring has unfolded in Virginia, and with it the beginning of long and happy holidays. Thousands will flock on an annual pilgrimage to enjoy the spectacular spring blooms and participate in the jam-packed calendar of events planned for the visitors' enjoyment, according to the Virginia Conservation Commission.

Gloucester and Matthews Counties in Tidewater will be golden with hundreds of thousands of daffodils, and the visitor can see 601 varieties of these spring favorites concentrated in the exhibition daffodil garden at Little England plantation, located 16 miles from Williamsburg at Bena, Virginia in Gloucester County. There is no admission charge and the garden is open from 10:00 A. M. until 5:00 P. M. from April 1 through April 30.

Apple Blossom Time in the Old Dominion will begin on April 1 through April 30 from Bristol to Winchester in the scenic Shenandoah Valley of Virginia, when over 6,000,000 commercial apple trees will bloom, climaxing on April 29-30 with the Shenandoah Apple Blossom Festival at Winchester.

The Norfolk Floral Gardens opposite the Norfolk Municipal Airport at Norfolk will spill over with gorgeous blooms from April 1 through June 30, when over 100,000 azaleas in 50 varieties will hug the spotlight in this naturalized setting. The Norfolk Azalea Festival will take place in Norfolk from April 7 to 11.

Banked with forsythias and japonicas, the old Capitol of the Confederacy, Richmond, will be the scene of the Deep Run Hunt Club races at Strawberry Hill on April 10. This classic sporting event attracts spectators from the Middle Atlantic area and is one of the most gala events on the spring calendar. It will be followed by the 8th Annual Golden Horseshoe Ball, according to the Virginia Travel Council.

One of Virginia's most popular annual events is Historic Garden Week, this year from April 25 through May 1. Over 300 historic homes, colonial churches, plantations, traditional and modern gardens, including a very modern addition, a penthouse apartment at Virginia Beach, will open to the public. Garden Week is now a firmly established spring tradition, and each year many repeat visits are made by Garden Week visitors of yesteryears.

One of the most magnificent scenic drives in the country, the Blue Ridge Parkway, will open its recreation areas and accommodations for the season on May 1, while the Peaks of Otter, near Bedford, opens for the season on that date too. Buses run hourly from 11:00 A. M. to 5:30 P. M. to and from the Peaks.

Trout season will open on May 1 and the rock trolling season will be at its height in tidal waters, developed principally near the mouth of the Potomac and on the Rappahannock, York and James Rivers.

At Cape Charles on Virginia's Eastern Shore, three big game fish peculiar to the Chesapeake area, the Black Drum, Channel Bass and Cobia, will attract scores of fishermen beginning April 15 to that popular fishing resort.

Eight state parks, 35 wayides and 1,400 picnic turnouts along state highways will open for the season on May 17. For those fortunate enough to motor along the Blue Ridge Parkway and Skyline Drive from May 30 through June 30, there will be magnificent spring bloom of flame azaleas, mountain laurel and purple rhododendron.

May 30 is also the official opening of the season at Virginia Beach, Buckroe Beach, Ocean View and Colonial Beach, all famous saltwater resorts. At Virginia Beach on June 10 to 13 the Second Annual Virginia Beach Open Golf Championship will be held at the Cavalier Yacht and Country Club. The Theatre-Go-Round Company will present dramatic shows at Virginia Beach nightly, beginning June 30 at 67th and Atlantic Streets, facing the ocean.

Colonial Beach in Westmoreland County will stage its Third Annual Potomac River Water Festival on June 11.

Science Contest Deadline Apr. 23

Registration deadline for the College of William and Mary's annual science contest has been set at April 23, according to Robert J. Hart, assistant professor of physics at the College and contest chairman.

A total of $4400 in scholarships will be offered in the contest which is open to all men high school seniors in Virginia. Hart said that the purpose of the contest is to find and promote scientific ability "that might otherwise lie dormant."

The scholarships will be awarded to the six top-ranking contestants in the fields of biology, physics, and chemistry.

The contest, which will be in the form of a written examination in the three sciences, will be held at William and Mary the week-end of April 30 - May 2. Visiting students and faculty representatives will be guests of William and Mary for the week-end.

Each high school in Virginia may enter a maximum number of six contestants, including two in biology, two in chemistry, and two in physics.

First place awards in each subject will consist of a $500 scholarship, renewable annually for three successive years if the recipient maintains a creditable record. A $200 scholarship will be awarded to each second place winner.

The scholarship is good only at William and Mary and recipients must fulfill requirements for entrance to the College. They must also take the introductory course in the field of study in science, psychology, or mathematics, which the award is made. After they may also pursue a pre-engineering program, a pre-forestry program, a pre-medical program or a program in preparation for science.

Winners may use the scholar-scholarship teaching, ships to prepare for professional. According to Hart, the examination in biology, chemistry, physics itself will take one hour and a half to complete. He said that any high school textbook approved by the State Board of Education may be used satisfactorily in reviewing for the contest.

Virginia Beach and PA County Gardens Included in Historic Tour

SEVEN HOMES AND GARDENS WILL BE VISITED AT BEACH

By KAY DOUGHTIE SEWELL

This year for the first time — on Tuesday, April 27 — Virginia Beach is opening private homes and gardens to visitors on tour during Historic Garden Week. To those who have hitherto thought of the Beach in summer resort terms, the experience should come as an eye-opener.

Seven private houses and gardens, as well as the famous Cavalier Garden, will be included in the tour.

It may come as a surprise to many to discover that, with one exception, these representative homes are designed for year-round living. They belong to people who came to the beach for a season or so, fell in love with it, built according to their favorite architectural plans, brought their own family heirlooms and antiques, grew—sometimes with great difficulty—their own gardens, and, in short, settled.

THE LONE EXCEPTION

The one exception on the tour is Mary's Garden, Summer home of Mr. and Mrs. William Westerlund, of New Canaan, Conn. This is in the Altamont section, in Princess Anne County, just before Virginia Beach proper.

Mary's Garden was started some 30 years ago by Mrs. Henry Evans, of New York, the original "Mary," who above all wanted a garden in Virginia. She bought several acres on Linkhorn Bay, part of the land granted to Captain Henry Woodhouse in 1637. Apart from a grove of pine, cedar and holly on the water's edge, there was almost no other planting. From this has evolved a garden which seems as old as Colonial times, not through any attention on the part of the owner, but simply through careful planning and planting and constant care.

Visitors will notice the size of the magnolias and camellias, the use of Judas and dogwood, the massed plantings of azaleas and other blooms, and the way the purple wisteria at the edge of the woods echoes the color of the huge trees of purple lilac. A Jeffersonian serpentine wall encloses the whole; as one steps from the Colonial-type house, built in 1937, a wide grassy walk terraced by brick steps leads from one vista to another.

The Guest House, modeled after Jefferson's law office in Charlottesville, and the Tool House, copied from the Powder Horn at Williamsburg, are also perfectly in key.

From Mary's Garden, a narrow causeway leads to The Island, several acres of pine-covered land also on Linkhorn Bay. Five years ago, the Charles H. Slinguff's acquired the property and built here a large Georgian house of brick with porches and balconies of iron grillwork reminiscent of Mrs. Slinguff's native New Orleans. Over this grillwork, native woodbine (better known as coral honeysuckle) is allowed to twine itself with complete freedom.

French doors and windows give out everywhere on the water and natural woodland setting. No formal garden is here; for all the formality of the house and its furnishings, the Slinguffs have maintained in the outdoors the natural look of the land which first captured their fancy.

In sharp contrast to the woody atmosphere of Altamont is the penthouse of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Gifford, in the towering newly built Mayflower Apartments, on Atlantic Avenue at Virginia Beach. No roaming around on pine needles here; an elevator takes you to the sixteenth floor and the Gifford penthouse, with its views of the surrounding territory.

However, those expecting to find a "modern" penthouse, Hollywood style, are in for a shock. Mr. and Mrs. Gifford hail from Louisville originally, and were formerly owners of Oak Grove Plantation on the Eastern Shore. They have made the transition

OPEN FOR GARDEN TOUR

These two houses will be open next Tuesday along with six other showplaces in Virginia Beach and several in Princess Anne County as part of Garden Week in Virginia. It will mark the first time places at Virginia Beach have been opened for the tour, while it has been an annual event with the beauty spots in Princess Anne County. In the upper photo is Miss Hampton Slinguff, a student at Virginia Beach High School, standing in front of the Georgian-type home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Slinguff, in Altamont. Bottom photo is that of "Four Oaks," the residence of Mr. and Mrs. F. Sheppard Royster, located at the intersection of Cavalier Drive extended and Cedar Point. —Photos courtesy Norfolk Ledger-Dispatch from plantation penthouse in their own highly individual style. Sheraton innland, with ebony and satinwood, rubs elbows with family pieces of purely sentimental value. A vase from the tomb of King Tut-Ankh-Amen is in close juxtaposition to an old clock with a mouse, which, at 1 o'clock, "runs down."

THE CAVALIER GARDENS

From the penthouse terrace, the formal gardens of the Cavalier may be seen.

They are the fulfillment of the "bold adventure" of 1928, and are the next recommended stop on the tour.

This Gardens were modeled after some of the old Kentish gardens in England, as well as those of Colonial Tidewater. Particularly successful is the Sunken Garden on the more protected west side of the Cavalier. Here native flora has flourished, and some of the original jungle plantings have now achieved immense height. Hollies and evergreens are a specialty, and 3,000 new tulip bulbs have been planted for this Spring alone.

At the intersection of Cavalier Drive Extended and Cedar Point Road is "Four Oaks" the home of Mr. and Mrs. P. S. Royster, Jr. One of the real showplaces of Virginia Beach, complete with swimming pool, tennis court and stables, the real attraction of "Four Oaks" is its elegance and grace.

HARVEST OF BEAUTY AWAITS IN PRINCESS ANNE COUNTY.

By DOROTHY GREENE

Princess Anne County, famous for its abundant crops, will produce a harvest of beauty during Historic Garden Week, when gardens and homes will be open to visitors. The Princess Anne Garden Club will be hostess for a tour of five estates, April 25-26, from 10 a. m. to 5 p. m.

Sea Breeze Farm, home of the Misses Hill, has gone a long way from growing potatoes which were the chief crop there before the late Mr. William Collins Hill bought the farm. Today, hollies used in educational exhibits as far north as New York, prize-winning camellias and roses are grown by the Hill sisters. Avenues of azaleas lead to clumps of shrubs almost tropical in their abundance. Tree peonies and bulbs all testify to what a peak Princess Anne Agriculture reaches.

The Princess Anne camellia at White Acre is a rose type of camellia, the bush being the largest north of South Carolina, according to Mrs. B. D. White who named the blossom. Mrs. White greets visitors on the lawn in front of her four chimneyed Georgian home, and guides them to her formal garden overlooking the Lynnhaven. One of the peacocks, a pet of the late Judge White surveys the tour from a high tree.

Wolf's Snare Plantation near London Bridge is the home of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene W. Royall. An old magnolia, its proportions almost equal to the brick cottage stands to the right of the house built by Matthew Pallet about 1740. County people may remember this as the Jacob Hunter Farm when the brick walls were white-washed. Now, the old English and Flemish bond shows to advantage.

The Adam Thoroughgood House, built before 1640, is one of the oldest homes in Virginia. The owner, Mr. Roscoe Thrasher allows garden week visitors to enjoy this perfect example of early American architecture. The brick chimneys are unique in that one is built on the inside, one on the outside of the thick brick walls. An underground tunnel to the Lynnhaven, as the secret cupboards show planning against Indian attack on the part of this early colonist.

A similar Princess Anne landmark is the Old Adam Keeling House built according to tradition about 1648. Admiral and Mrs. Leon J. Mahees have recently purchased the home, and have made many improvements. The fine panelling, high mantles and original stairway are only the beginning of what there is to see. Curiosity leads one to speculate on the many uses for the deep closeted walks on either side of the living room fireplace. The beauty of the exterior requires long and careful scrutiny where the "blue headers" have formed a design.

To tour and know Princess Anne one must see the Wildflower Preserve on Lake Lawson where nature is given a free hand. Paths lead through dense growth to carpets of lilies with yellow jasmine hanging from the trees. The Princess Anne Garden Club maintains this Preserve.

Luncheons are being served both days of garden week in Princess Anne by the Ladies of Old Donation Church. "Chicken salad is on the menu," said Mrs. B. D. White.

Colonel and Mrs. Thompson thanked them warmly for contributing to the success of the service on the dunes. The 384th Army Band from Fort Huachuca played traditional Easter music during the service at the granite cross which towered above flags and banners decorating the area.

Next Sunday the cross will be the site of the 1954 Cape Henry Pilgrimage memorial services. Virginia's Governor Thomas B. Stanley, Undersecretary of the Army Hugh M. Milton, II, and the Rt. Rev. George Purnell Gunn, D. D., Bishop of the Diocese of Southern Virginia, will be among those taking part in the ceremony which commemorates the first landing of the British settlers on American soil.

The large audience gathered at the landing site also heard special Easter music by a quartet from the 461st Transportation Company, a unit of the 54th Transportation Battalion. Members of the quartet were Privates Edward L. Sweet, Milton S. Hurst, Jack Hines and Martin A. Welch.

A perfect sunrise favored the Easter service for which worshippers had gathered long before the eastern sky glowed with light. Attendance was far in excess of expectations based on last year's sunrise service, and many of the visitors stood throughout the ceremony.

Governor Stanley issued a proclamation last month designating Monday, April 26, as Cape Henry Day and calling upon the people of Virginia to join in appropriate observances. GARY RUDMAN NOW CORPORAL

According to special orders published at Riverside Military Academy, in Gainesville, Georgia, just back in Gainesville after its annual winter stay at Hollywood, Florida, Cadet Gary Lee Rudman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lee K. Rudman, 550 Dawson Road, Virginia Beach, Virginia, has just been advanced to the grade of Corporal in Riverside's outstanding military unit.

Corporal Rudman, who is a member of Riverside's special Senior School Eighth Grade Section, has received frequent citations for his proficiency.

America began with the arrival of the first settlers at Cape Henry on April 26, 1607. The Governor pointed out in the proclamation that the event has become of even broader significance in the present era when oppressed people in so many parts of the world look to America for guidance in regaining freedom and personal liberty.

The annual Cape Henry Pilgrimage is always held on the Sunday closest to April 26.

Oceana PTA to Elect Officers

The Oceana Parent Teachers Association will hold its monthly meeting in the school auditorium at eight o'clock Tuesday night, April 27.

According to Mrs. J. E. Garrett, Safety Chairman, a very interesting program has been planned. Some 7th grade students will present a thirty minute panel discussion on safety.

The nominating committee will present its slate of candidates for new officers next year. This affects everyone in the school and should be given much interest.

A report on the results of a recent survey on Discipline in the School will be given and also an opportunity for discussion of this matter. Please make an effort to attend.

that this action would "benefit the entire economy of the Nation . . . and the farmers and ranchers who benefited from the program join in this expression of appreciation."

Actual statistics on the revenue value of the program are not complete, since reports on shipments just prior to March 31, when the program ended, have not been received. More than 2,100 carloads, about 70 per cent of the estimated number shipped, have been reported, however. Virginia Department of Agriculture officials estimated that more than 8,000 carloads were shipped at the re-

The bridesmaids will be Miss Hilda Bass, Miss Rosemary Lovell, Miss Carolyn Tuner, Miss Carolyn Weaver, Miss June Altice, Miss Beverly Russell, of Norfolk. The junior bridesmaids will be Miss Nancy Langley, of Pine Tops, N. Although the Federal subsidy provided for the shipment of 46,000 tons, the railroad action boosted this to approximately 59,000 tons. Of this total 26,000 tons were shipped at half rates on federal funds only, 13,000 tons on railroad sponsorship only, and the remaining 20,000 tons as a result of the joint action of the government and the railroads.

JOB WELL DONE

E. W. Smith, commissioner of the revenue for the city, and Lewis E. Smith, city treasurer, and the City of Virginia Beach are to be congratulated that these two highly respected public officials will be nominated for re-election in the July primary without opposition.

These men have rendered valuable service to the city and are entitled to the support of all its citizens. The fact that they will be unopposed in the Democratic primary is proof of their worthiness in these highly important city positions. These men will do much to bring about the unity which these citizens supporting the Unity Council Ticket are trying to promote.

In this connection the fact that these men are without opposition is still another boost for the Unity Council Ticket since those candidates and these officials have proven that they can work together in harmony and this means much more than some people realize to the welfare of this city.

Along this same line, the letter of Mr. L. A. Weary, who is managing the campaign of the opposing council ticket, states that "I have no criticism of any member of the city government . . . have never met a Beach official I did not like, or who was less than greatly courteous." This is indeed a strong endorsement and we know the Dunns, Jordans, Bryants and Dixons will take the campaign manager to task for putting this in writing. And, we have already heard rumors of their criticizing Weary and trying to take him to task for his not being able to vote for the candidates whose campaign he is managing.

Without criticizing Mr. Weary personally we do think any man, who is campaign manager for a group of candidates should be able to vote in the election. As Mr. Weary has stated he voted just a few months ago in the state of Ohio and consequently is not a citizen of Virginia.

And, it would seem to us somewhat embarrassing for him to ask someone else to vote for these men when he is not a qualified voter, himself.

SWITCH HITTERS

Elsewhere on this page there appears three letters relative to the forthcoming councilmanic election here. One of these letters is from the campaign manager of the council ticket which was released to this newspaper too late for publication last week.

The letter is from L. A. Weary, who states that he proposes to conduct a campaign free of abuse. We are certain that all right thinking citizens in our city will join him and since they have never done it in the past we are equally as certain the Unity Council Ticket and their followers will not engage in any mudslinging.

It might be well, however, for Weary to hold classes for the Dunns, Jordans and Bryants and instruct them in the art of conducting this type campaign he refers to because only last week Wee Willie Dunn attacked W. Russell Hatchett and Richard G. Brydges because of their endorsement of the Unity Council Ticket. This newspaper and these gentlemen have differed in the past and assume that all parties reserve the right to differ again should the occasion arise.

And, should Willie Dunn wish to take anyone to task for reversing his position he should talk about two of the candidates on the ticket he has endorsed, namely, W. W. McClannan, who each time he has been elected has been with organization support and W. C. Everett, who switched sides in the middle of a campaign. But, of course to the Dunn-Jordan duo you are only wrong when you don't agree with them.

SAME OLD GAME

As has been expected and as is their custom the "antis" are starting to talk of what will be their position on the ballot. If they filed their notice first they usually say they should appear first on the ballot. However, in this election since they did not file first they want to use some other method. This practice is followed in a great many communities because in one of our neighboring communities just last year the court ruled on this practice by dismissing a petition of a candidate who had sought to direct the electoral board in what the board should do.

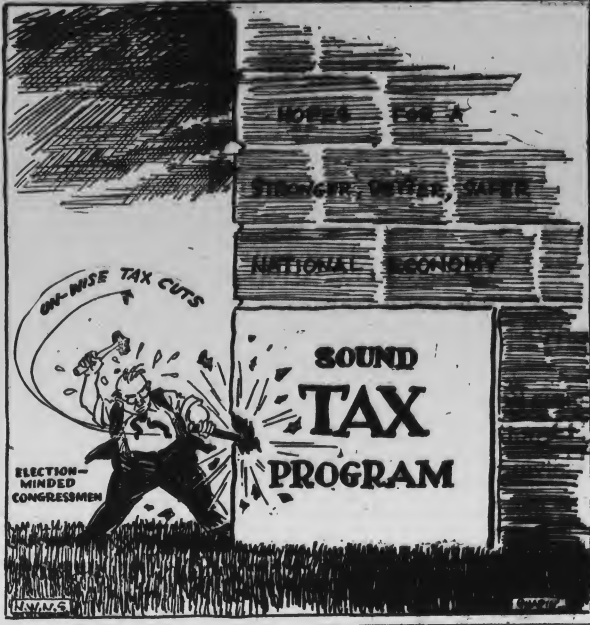

The "antis" talk of free elections but their idea of freedom is to follow what they want done. We are certain they will soon take up the purging of the books and their usual humbug. We had hoped in this election that they would try to be elected on their merits and there is still time to conduct this type of campaign if they so desire.

GRASS ROOT OPINION

MONTPELIER, VT., EVENING ARGUS: "No one would be happier than Soviet Russia of the Catholics. Protestants and Jews of the United States could be brought to hate and distrust one another. It is a foremost objective of the Communists to stir up antagonisms and sow seeds of discord among the major religious groups."

BELLINGHAM, WASH., HERALD: "The Monroe Doctrine of 1823 warned European nations—then mostly monarchies—against attempts to get a further foothold in the Americas. That was a unilateral United States doctrine. But it stood the test of time. The 20th century version of the Monroe Doctrine was voted at the 10th Inter-American Conference at Caracas, Venezuela, when the American republics condemned the activities of the international Communist movement as foreign intervention in American affairs."

The Virginia Beach Sun-News

Virginia Beach, Virginia
Dear Editor:

In reading the platform released by a group of candidates for the Virginia Beach City Council and of which group W. W. "Billy" McClannan is a member, the point of advocating an elected school board strikes me as very strange. It is strange to me since the same Mr. McClannan is presently a city councilman and as such should know full well that it takes an act of the Virginia General Assembly to bring about such a change in the school board. Looking further and questioning the sincerity of this candidate on this point I am reminded of the action of the city council some time ago in which it voted to ask the General Assembly to revise the city's charter in order to increase the city school board membership from three to five members. Mr. McClannan made no mention to his fellow councilmen at that time that he felt the school board should be elected. It seems he has found it better to wait until an election campaign. To me it doesn't speak well for Mr. McClannan.

Also in these candidates' platform is a pledge to increase the pay of school teachers. This is a desire of all of us, but it does seem that to single out one group of employees is overlooking the welfare of all other city employees. It may be that the sincere Mr. McClannan has something else in mind on this point since his wife is on the school payroll and draws a salary of some $225 per month, or $2700 per year.

It might be well for Mr. McClannan to stop posing and be natural so that the people can see him in his true light.

Yours for unity,
Val H. Matthews

The Editor

Virginia Beach, Va.
Dear Mr. Editor:

According to the latest rumors that fellow James "Butzy" Heath, who presided at last Monday night's "People's Ticket," or anti's meeting, has a burning desire to run as a candidate for Commonwealth's Attorney in next year's county election. If he should run nobody would expect him to be elected, but if perchance he was elected I predict that he would immediately appoint five investigators, namely, Frank "Professional Bondsman" Dixon, Hughie P. "Glimet Eye" Elderidge, Claiborne R. "Night Rider" Rumor Spreader, Bryant, Leo "The Slot King" Billee and the Wee Willie Dunn-Grace Jordan duo.

With these "investigators" working overtime it should keep Heath busy enough to stay out of trouble, himself. At any rate, Mr. Editor, it would make a comical situation which I don't believe we will ever witness for there are too many right intelligent people in this city for which we should give thanks.

Very truly yours
J. A. T.

(The following is the text of a statement released to this newspaper last week for press time by Mr. Leslie A. Weary, campaign manager for the McClannan-Everett-Costenbader ticket for the Virginia Beach City Council. As was reported last week the statement along with a platform pledge of the candidates was given this newspaper approximately eight hours after it had been released to other newspapers in the area.) The statement of Mr. Weary follows:

Queried as to reasons for acceptance of the campaign chairmanship, Weary said, "Someone has to take this job. It should be a man who feels he can do it passably well and is willing to work. It is a chore which must be done sometime if only because there is no harmony among our citizens. Where there is no harmony there is no health. This is as inimical to interests of the administration as it is to commercial and social interests of the Beach.

We are relatively newcomers, who cannot even vote until 1955. So I accept this duty simply as an American, and will do it as well and as fairly as I can find out how to do it.

Virginia Beach is American, too. It was built on competition; freedom of action and change. Unlike Europe, Asia, and notably, Russia, America abhors cartels, monopoly and autocracy. It's citizens believe that any political regime, like every business organization should be subject to challenge. If actions has been right no administration need fear either scrutiny or adverse vote. If seriously wrong it should be overthrown. If merely slightly offbeam, near defeat may well be salutary signal for overhaul.

In Great Britain, the leader of her Majesty's loyal opposition draws pay exactly equal to that of the Prime Minister. To do what? To criticize her own government, however savagely. Our candidates will do this for free, but say practically nothing happens when they do so.

I have absolutely no personal criticism of any member of our City government. Have never met a Beach official whom I did not like, or who was less than greatly courteous.

This is a welcome chore only because I believe in our candidates, in their integrity & earnestness, and I gladly join them in unanimous pledge that not one word of personal abuse will be addressed to any opposition leader under any circumstances. We will run as gentlemen of the Eisenhower school, sink or swim.

Perhaps we will win, certainly we will fight to do so. In defeat we will at least have given valuable expression of conviction that Virginia Beach needs changes in political policies, and that it's officials need challenge exactly as do those of every community on earth.

And - should we lose - we may even live to run again, with augmented power and authority. That would be our aim, unless the present administration can sell overwhelming majority of voters on their complete adequacy.

Can confidently predict mistakes on the part of campaign manager. I know him. But am equally sure we can all have fun. And let's have no bitterness. The present administration may well come to bless us for helping to provide a forum in which its integrity and wisdom can be proven to the hilt. I'd settle for that.

tence. The site, originally part of Rainey's Farm, became the old Princess Anne Hunt Club. In 1932 Royster tore down the club and built a small New England-type white frame house with a sporting spirit befitting a bachelor.

After his marriage, other wings were added, one by one. Noteworthy is the living room in the latest wing, with its muted colors and not-too-rigid Chinese Chipendale character. An interesting feature is the old mantel, carved in England by a craftsman of the eighteenth century from imported American pine.

UNUSUAL TREE ROOM
Most unusual is the Tree Room, a wide passage connecting two wings of the house. In planning the addition, a large 200-year-old red oak stood in the way of the architect. It had to be torn down or incorporated. The Rogger saw to it that it was incorporated.

Now, seen through an immense 9-pane wall of glass, it seems to be part of the room. A sunken bed of semitropical greenery within the room suggests the indoor-outdoor illusion. A complicated series of valves in the basement feeds the roots of the tree with a specially mixed formula. The result is a new slant on practical horticulture as well as something beautiful to see.

Not far from Four Oaks is the home of Dr. and Mrs. H. Floyd Dormire, at 103 Dogwood Drive. This handsome Georgian house, in a setting of native dogwood, holly, pine, oak and crabapple trees, is built of old brick, which Mrs. Dormire subsequently had the courage to paint white because she wanted it to be white.

Inside soft green carpeting repeats the green theme. The interior is, on the whole, formal. A unique feature is the dining room, which is papered with authentic paper from ancient Chinese tea-boxes, silvery and exquisitely patterned.

DUTCH COLONIAL HOME
Off Atlantic Avenue, at 302 Fawcett St., is a little Dutch Colonial house in the Williamsburg tradition, the home of Mrs. W. Hunter Bell. Mrs. Bell is of Williamsburg stock herself, and over the mantel in the living room is a portrait of one of her Williamsburg ancestors, Katherine Travis. Built less than five years ago, this house is often described as a "little gem."

The same feeling for balance and harmony is evident in the small formal garden, enclosed in a myrtle hedge.

Big-scale Dutch Colonial, also on the ocean side, is the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Henry Parsons and so would the citizenry of Virginia Beach.

N&W Announces New Schedules

Earlier departures of Train 26, the Cincinnati-Norfolk "Pewee Arrow," and Train 15, the Norfolk to Cincinnati "Cavalier," are among schedule changes announced by the Norfolk and Western Railway to become effective on Sunday, April 25.

Other schedule changes affect Train 21, the Norfolk-Richmond "Cannonball." Train Two from Roanoke to Hagerstown and several Petersburg-Richmond-Washington connections.

Train 21 will leave Cincinnati at 8:10 A. M., ten minutes earlier than at present, and arrive at Norfolk at 11:25 P. M., fifteen minutes earlier than now. Scheduled stops between will be made to fifteen minutes earlier.

Train 15 will leave Norfolk at 9:15 P. M. and Petersburg at 11:40 P. M., both 45 minutes earlier than at present, arriving at Cincinnati at 8:15 P. M. instead of 8:55. Scheduled stops between will be made 40 to 55 minutes earlier.

Train 21 will provide direct Richmond connection for passengers from the eastbound "Arrow." In another change, Train Two will leave Roanoke at 6:30 P. M., ten minutes earlier, arriving in Hagerstown at 1:35 A. M. also ten minutes earlier. This train carries a Roanoke-New York sleeper, arriving there 7:25 A. M.

Milk Still High on American Menus

That glass of milk still rides high on the family menu—11 quarts per capita higher during 1953 than before World War II, according to the 1954 edition of "How Americans Use Their Dairy Foods," a publication issued annually by the National Dairy Council, Chicago.

According to Dairy Council spokesmen, this is 7 percent above the pre-war consumption and means, with the tremendous rise in population since that time, that Americans drank over 6 1/2 billion more quarts of milk in 1953 than in 1939.

According to this publication, now in its 10th year of reporting, the quantities of dairy foods consumed during 1953 by the average American, were:

- 184 quarts of whole milk and cream
- 8.6 lbs. of butter
- 7 lbs. of cheese
- 15.3 quarts of ice cream and from dairy products

17.1 lbs. of evaporated and -or condensed milk
4.2 lbs. of non-fat dry milk solids
Price-wise, Americans paid less for dairy products last year than previously, in fact less than the all-foods average. For example, while the all foods index stood at 228, the index for home delivered fresh milk stood at 191, which is 35 per cent lower than the average increase for all foods. The price indexes for other dairy products were also favorable. Butter stood at 215; cheese at 218; evaporated milk at 204.

DICK COCKRELL GIVES TIPS ON BIRD REPLACEMENT, SHELTER

Many of you folks have been asking questions the use of range shelter for replacement birds. Here are some ideas that you might like to put into practice. Range shelters need not be costly or elaborate. Your club members can often pick up enough scrap lumber or poles on the farm to make the frame for a range shelter. About all you have to buy, then, is the sheet metal roofing and the wire netting plus a few nails. The list below shows the materials needed for an 8x8 foot range shelter. You can use 1 1/2 inch mesh poultry netting or 1x2 inch mesh welded wire for the floor and 2x2 inch lumber for framing instead of the 2x4 inch lumber called for below, if you would like a lighter, less expensive shelter. The lighter shelter, however, won't last as long or hold up quite as well as the heavier one. The 8x8 foot shelter will normally house from 65 to 75 pullets and the 10 x 10 foot shelter from 100 to 125 pullets, depending on the roost, construction and the breed of your birds. When moving the young chickens to the range, it is a good plan to confine them in the shelter for the first 2 or 3 days or until they feel at home in their new quarters. If the weather is cold and the shelter has a wire floor, it may be necessary to cover the floor for 2 weeks or so with heavy paper and 2 or 3 inches of litter. Sacks or other material should also be placed on 1 or 2 sides of the shelter to protect the birds against wind and rain.

HOW TO GRADUATE YOUR CHICKS FROM THE BROODER

Discontinue the heat in the brooder house gradually — never stop the heat abruptly. If the weather is not too cold, and the birds are well-feathered, the heat can usually be cut off by the time the birds are 8 weeks old. However, you should watch your birds carefully, and if they are huddling together or crowding in corners, they are too cold and some heat is still needed. It is generally best to leave the brooder stove or other heat-producing equipment in the brooder house for a few days after the heat is discontinued so that it can be used again in the event of a sudden cold spell or an exceptionally chilly night. However, after you are sure that the brooder stove is no longer needed, remove it from the brooder house, or at least hang it up out of the way.

If you are raising birds for replacement purposes, you should consider putting low roosts in your brooder houses about the time the chicks are 4 or 5 weeks old. These roosts should be near the brooder on a slant with the first pole only a few inches from the floor, so that the chicks will not have trouble getting on them. Wire netting placed under the roosts and around the sides to prevent birds from getting under the roosts as well as help prevent them from falling off the roosts is desirable. Put a few chicks on the roost each night until they become accustomed to going to roost by themselves. The chicks should be using these perches by the time they are about 5 or 6 weeks old. Teaching your heavier breed pullets to roost (Leghorns generally don't need much teaching) may help prevent bunching up in one corner of the range shelter or such troubles.

SOME THINGS TO REMEMBER

1. Never have exposed metal in the roof of a brooder or laying house. The hot-moisture-laden air hitting against the cold metal will cause sweating.
2. Don't make your birds go too far for water. You will get better growth and better egg production if clean fresh water is close by.
3. Use covered dropping pits for adult birds. Keeping birds up off the floor and out of their night droppings seemingly helps cut down on respiratory troubles and on the spread of certain other parasites and diseases as well as help you produce clearer eggs.

Ann Blyth and Howard Keel, as they appear in M-G-M's first CinemaScope musical, "Rose Marie," a song-filled romance laid against the background of activities of the famous Northwest Mounted Police. The film will be shown at the Beach Theatre next Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

Organizations, Individuals Aid Fight on Cancer

Reports to date show that many individuals and organizations in eastern Virginia have joined in the fund-raising, and educational campaign of the Virginia Division of the American Cancer Society now in progress throughout the state. Bernard W. Woodahl, executive director of the Division, said today. Additional leadership is being enlisted daily to round out local campaign committees in all of the towns and counties in this area, he added.

In this section of the state, as well as elsewhere in Virginia and the nation, leading clubs and civic groups are giving their support to the April Cancer Crusade. In letters and publications many of these with national affiliations have drawn attention of their members to the cancer fight.

"Helping to continue the vital work of the American Cancer Society is the best way we can all strike back," declared a well-known women's religious organization. "Statistics are weighted against us now in the cancer control battle. But the American Cancer Society is vigorous in the struggle to reverse figures in favor of humanity," asserted a service club. Local campaign chairmen are welcoming the interest thus aroused in such groups to swell the number of volunteers and increased contributions.

Virginia's goal for the 1954 April Cancer Crusade is $302,500, to be used for expanding the Society's three-point program of research, public education and service to cancer patients.

More Dentists in Rural Virginia Goal of Health Council

PLACEMENT PLAN GETS UNDERWAY

Dentists drills may soon be grinding in more rural areas and small towns in Virginia, at least that is the hope of the Virginia Council on Health and Medical Care as it launches a dental placement program. Through a similar service for physicians, the Council has helped place over 50 M. D.s during the last two years. It is hoped that now many dentist-short communities can be assisted in a similar manner.

For over a year the Virginia Council has been carrying on talks with the Virginia State Dental Association in an effort to sell them on the idea of a dental placement program. The Association's approval came at their recent annual meeting in Richmond, with the appointment of an Advisory Committee to work with the Virginia State Dental Association. N. Hodgekin of Warrenton was appointed chairman of this committee. Edgar J. Fisher, Jr., Director of the Council, heralded the decision as a step toward bringing better dental health and dental care to many rural Virginia people who live in areas not now served by a dentist.

Fisher pointed out that according to the latest figures from the American Dental Association there is only one dentist for every 3,358 persons in Virginia as compared with the national average of one to 1,677 persons. He said that there are only seven states with a worse ratio. There are 15 counties without a resident dentist, and 16 with only one, according to the Virginia State Board of Dental Examiners.

Appearing before the Dental Association's Executive Council aside from Fisher were Dr. Harry Lyons, Dean, School of Dentistry of the Medical College of Virginia, who endorsed the Council's program and urged the Dental Association to do likewise. He said he felt a dental placement service would be of great value to young dentists and to dentist-short communities. Also speaking in behalf of the Council's program was Ed. P. Phillips, Chairman of the Council's Dental Placement Committee which had been working with the Association. Mr. Phillips emphasized the public relations value of the service, and said that it would be an effective hedge against criticism of the dental profession and also talk of socialization of dentists. He said, "People in many sections of the State are constantly writing to the Council and asking for help in getting dentists. There is a real demand for the service, and we are ready to give it to the people of Virginia."

Fisher told the Executive Council that, "Good dental health is an essential part of the overall health program which the Council, as a privately supported voluntary organization, is promoting. Good dental health is also dependent upon the availability of dentists. We want to make sure that people living in small towns can get dentists if they want them and are willing to work for them. We feel that the know-how we have learned in placing physicians can be of great assistance to us in our new dental placement service." It was pointed out that in many communities where the Virginia Council had stimulated the construction of small clinic buildings to attract physicians, with very little expense, facilities could be added to include a dentist. Space in the clinics could be shared by the physician and dentist.

Fisher said that his first important task will be acquainting the dental students at the Medical College of Virginia with the service, and urging them to take advantage of it. Just as in the physician placement service, communities will have to come to the Council for help. Requests will be investigated to establish the need and ability of communities to support dentists.

"No doubt it will take several years to build up a satisfactory supply of dentists, but I feel sure we can, as we have been able to with physicians," Fisher commented. He pointed out that at the present time there are actually more general practitioners looking for locations than communities which have come to the Council for assistance in finding physicians.

Fisher emphasized that the dental placement service would be administered by the Council with the cooperation of the Virginia State Dental Association, Dental School at the Medical College of Virginia, and the Virginia State Board of Dental Examiners. The Council will serve as a clearing house for all requests from dentists looking for locations and for communities looking for dentists.

Wise, you were - If you baked a ham for Easter, because I know you not only enjoyed it for Easter Sunday dinner, but you have been enjoying it since then. Ham sandwiches, ham with eggs for breakfast, no doubt have been on your menu. Have you some left? A flavorful ham noodle custard will give a little variation to the meal planning.

Ham-Noodle Custard

- 1 green pepper - chopped
- 1 onion minced
- 1 heaping cup diced ham
- 1 beaten egg
- 1 cup milk
- 1 teaspoon salt
- Dash pepper
- 1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
- 4 oz. medium noodles

Cook noodles in boiling salted water about 9 minutes. Drain and rinse. Melt butter or margarine in frying pan. Add green pepper and onion. Cook until onion is clear, not brown. Add ham and mix. Combine egg, milk, salt, pepper and Worcestershire sauce fold in noodles. Arrange mixture in well greased casserole. In center, pushing noodle mixture to sides and put ham, onions and pepper mixture in center. Bake in moderate oven at 350 degrees about 30 minutes.

Extra Easter eggs sometimes pose a problem, many too many hard-cooked eggs and what to do with them? A casserole of creamed eggs and macaroni make a hearty and satisfying supper main dish. Wouldn't you like to try it?

Creamed Eggs and Macaroni

- 4 oz. elbow macaroni
- 1 stick butter or margarine

- 1-2 teaspoons salt
- 1-4 teaspoons dry mustard
- Dash pepper
- 1-2 cups milk
- 1 cup cooked peas
- 4 hard cooked eggs

Cook macaroni in boiling salted water about 9 minutes. Drain and rinse. While macaroni is cooking, melt butter or margarine in sauce pan, stir in flour, salt, pepper and mustard. Add milk, cook, stirring constantly until sauce thickens. Combine macaroni, peas and 1 cup of sauce. Chop hard-cooked eggs and add to remaining sauce. Pour macaroni mixture in well greased casserole, pour over this egg mixture.

Bake in moderate oven at 350 degrees - 30 minutes. If you like sprinkle over top before baking, grated American cheese.

Now for Bunker Hill Macaroni. Cook 4 oz. elbow macaroni in boiling salted water, about 9 minutes. Drain and rinse. Make cream sauce with 1 stick butter or margarine by melting in frying pan. Blend in 1-4 cup flour, 1 teaspoon salt, dash pepper. Add 1-2 cups milk. Cook until sauce thickens, stirring constantly. Into sauce stir 1 heaping cup diced ham then stir into macaroni with 1 cup catsup. Pour into well greased baking dish. Sprinkle with fine buttered bread crumbs in 350 degrees oven about 25 minutes. Hope these suggestions help you to use up the Easter Ham and Easter Eggs, too. Bye, Now!

COTTON OF THE YEAR - Printed cotton is the cotton of the year. Prints on pique, cotton faille and cotton chiffon are new and exciting. Many of the designs are crammed to the hemlines forming narrow, or wide, printed borders which breathe of the Orient, Africa and faraway places. Now is the time to stock up with cottons and when shopping you'll find cottons stiff with mosaic embroideries, thick white pique, linens in all shades but especially smart and new is the natural linen, mixtures of man-made and nature-made fiber for dresses made of staying pleats with some of the tiny crushed ones and others the regimental pleats. For nighttime, wear, t'here are the lovely Swiss cotton chiffons, organzas and new, exquisite eyelet embroideries. New in the organdy family are the organdies flecked with raised velvet patterns and you can bet these will continue to be extremely popular. A soft new theme in transparent cottons with masses of Valenciennes lace ruffling and insertion enhancing the sweetness of a peckaboo cotton. The night time dresses will be either short or long according to the wearer's preference. A brand new idea is the shiny black, or grey knitted straw cloth narrow sheath dresses, sleeveless and sophisticated.

AROUND-THE-GLOBE IDEAS

On the Canary Islands, a Spanish province right high on Africa's shoulder - embroidery runs riot in stripes and curlicues - you'll find grandly carved ogival doorways, insistent designs in tiles and indigenous costumes with the rhythm of Africa and the colors of Old Spain. All of these have been interpreted by our American designers into fascinating tags for this summer. For instance Greta Plater has designed a series of straight-hanging - shirts - with wheels and circles of darkness and light, a repetitious pattern taken from the beautiful tiles of the Islands. On a dress open to the neck and shoulders, very much like a jumper, she has placed a Spanish red hemline. Greta's long, slim, tight lounge pants - very much like levis - have thin stripes of Canary motif in red and white running up the legline. A new Nettle Rosenstein printed cotton has massed pinks and reds fanning the wildfire from a sole-wrapped bodice while Alex Coleman has designed in Everlast Everglaze cotton a stunning black and white cotton with a knife-edged lacquering of white on black, velvet ribbon tie sash and black velvet edging at the neckline.

JEWELS WITH COTTONS

Carolyn Schnurer's Turkey carol takes the top prize for newness in cottons. She photographed a Turkey carpet swatch and had it made up into a black and white cotton print. It's most startling and terrifically smart when worn with much gayly colored costume jewelry. Incidentally, one of Carolyn's nicest pieces is an Everglaze cotton satin of glistering white and richly ornamented with polychromatic embroidery. Jewels are embroidered right in to this shirt as they are in a neat white sweat shirt-type of blouse. All in all, you can be as gay as you please & as flamboyant as you like in the colors you choose for cotton-wearing this summer. The gayer the better - and the prettier you'll be!

SHADES OF GRANDMA'S DAY

Believe it or not, swim suits will be almost as covered up as they were in grandma's day! The difference is that grandma muffled herself up from the waist down, from the sand and sun, but her granddaughters today will do it in reverse, taking cover from the waist up. This is an alluring new look for the beaches and yet it's practical and sensible for sitting long periods in the sun. Most of the suits are fashioned in such a way that they can be peeled down to the minimum bodice when the urge is on for a swim in the water. Claire McCardell first introduced the long-sleeved bathing suits last July and they were quickly copied by French designers for Cannes and the Riviera bathers. Of course, that fashion will be picked up by the more exotic dressers and gals who freckle easily. However, there are the new jersey and wool knit swim suits with the draped halter tops that are so concealing that they wrap high around the neckline, completely hiding any bony looks. Other demure touches will be the swim suits with tiny ruffled boleros in sharp cotton prints. Of course, the beach coats for hide-up purposes will still flourish but they will be cut short at the upper thigh. As usual, even with all these new fashion furbles, there

Bayside PTA Has Foster Program, Elects Officers

The Bayside P. T. A. met Monday night at the school. The meeting was opened by Cub Scouts of Den 3, Pack 69.

The Sixth grade of Miss Jo Ann Mitchell gave a musical of the Life and Songs of Steven Foster accompanied by Mrs. Margaret Fischer.

Officers for the coming year were elected as: President, Mrs. C. M. Hodgson, Jr.; 1st Vice President, Mrs. R. E. Drumwright; 2nd Vice President, Mrs. Albin Raitz; Secretary, Mrs. R. E. Laird; and Treasurer, Mrs. John Robinson.

After the meeting refreshments were served in the lunch room by 2nd grade mothers.

For the summer months ahead what with the black accent seen in almost every combination, adding a slightly formal air to the summer scene with all-black shirts, shorts or slacks and black and white plaid cotton jackets, shirts and so on. Surprising enough the black touch adds know-how to the man's fashion's picture!

MERRY MATRONS

Summertime months, vacation days and extra hours of your own bring Merry Matrons to thinking about "earning extra money" when the Fall time rolls around. Today, there are a few thoughts to mull over and possibly many a matron here at the Beach will have a bright idea of her own after reading on.

Mrs. Bertha G. Meyers, for instance, was faced with a problem of creating a new career for herself after a severe accident. She turned to something she had done as a child - a hobby of making artificial flowers and with her secret the meticulous manner in which she made her flowers, she educated her two children and made extra money teaching others how to make flowers. There's a lot of helpful literature in our libraries on this and if you have a knack with flowers, you're set.

Mrs. Greta Koerner has developed a hospital errand service business in four Cincinnati hospitals and gives service to patients in the hospitals - even where they are not bedridden - by shopping for them, getting books to read, having their laundry done and so on.

Mrs. Dorothy Rodgers, wife of the famous songwriter Richard Rodgers, accumulated a list of craftsmen who could repair everything and who were available on call, and opened a "fix-it" business to repair anything from a chipped plate to a furnace boiler.

Mrs. Bertha Vail, a retired Omaha school teacher, opened a rental library in her own home.

Mrs. Roberta De Maree, whose earthworm raising project has grown into the Fort Collins, Colorado, Earthworm Farm, produces big fat worms and has a nation-wide business. She helped a friend go into the business with an initial investment of $10 and in three years her friend was earning an income of $4,000 a year!

Mrs. Vera Sherwood, of Buffalo, New York, runs the Baby Butler Service which sounds right for these parts. She has a shop in her home where she sells everything a baby needs except clothing. Baby food, vitamins, diapers, bottles, drugstore supplies and sundries - these are all available under one roof, a godsend to the young mother trying to run a household, take care of baby, and shop for the hundred and one items that baby needs. Mrs. Sherwood features free delivery service, making it possible for young mothers to do their shopping for baby by telephone.

Mrs. Ann Garner, of Springfield for children and plans every detail, does all the ordering, takes over and runs the party for the tiny tots. She found out the birthdays of all the children in the town and sent their mothers letters, just before their birthdays, asking if they'd like to have her take charge of every detail of a party. She's a service wife and has been most successful.

These are just a few ideas about people who have developed them. They may stimulate more original ideas popping up here at the Beach for women whose families are grown up and gone away, or for lonely matrons who have time on their hands or for happy, peppy, young matrons who may have enough energy left over to do something for fun, excitement and money with it. Your Alisbee hopes she's given you the beginnings of a Grand Idea! (Incidentally, the brand new book "Jobs After Retirement" by Maxwell Lehman and Morton Yarnon is a "must" if you're interested with thousands of facts about hundreds of full and part-time jobs that will in retirement income.)

Economy in Food For The Elderly

How to have an adequate diet on a modest income is one of the problems of many elderly people today. A great many older people must economize closely because their savings or other funds for their retired years are limited.

The type of diet recommended for older people can be expensive unless carefully planned. It emphasizes foods which "rate" for protein, minerals and vitamins, rather than the energy foods which often are cheaper but are needed less as people become less active physically. The protein foods—milk, meat, fish, poultry and eggs—so important for adequate diets, may take a large share of the food dollar. The leafy, green and yellow vegetables, tomatoes and fruits recommended also may run up food costs unless purchased wisely.

But, there are ways to keep costs down considerably and still have a good diet. Some foods cost several times as much as others of similar nutritive value and use in the diet. Among the vegetables, carrots, some of the leafy greens and many canned vegetables are relatively low in price. For the past few years citrus fruit has been an economical buy for vitamin C. Milk, a very important food in the diet of older people, is often considered too expensive but actually is an inexpensive source of calcium. On a

Miss Betty Louise Murden, a student at Sweet Briar College, spent the Easter week-end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph D. Murden, at their home at London Bridge. She had as her guest her roommate, Miss Frances May of St. Louis, Mo.

Mr. Fred G. Barham, USN, Mrs. Barham and Mrs. Barham's daughter, Miss Peggy Rucker, who have been residing on 82nd St., have recently moved to their newly purchased home on Ave. C.

Mrs. Charles Doughtie has returned to her home on 74th Street after spending a week with her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Crile, at their home, "Beagle Gap Farm," Greenwood, Virginia.

Miss Sylvia Carpenter, of New York City spent the Easter holidays with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. Clinton at their home in Bay Colony. Miss Maria Flora de Assumpcao, of Sao Paulo, Brazil, has also been the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Carpenter for several days.

Mr. and Mrs. John E. Addenbrook and Mrs. Gaston Plaintiff will leave Monday to spend a week at The Red Fox Inn, Middleburg, Va.

light budget, evaporated milk or nonfat dry milk may be used for cooking especially.

Meat poses the biggest problem, yet there is a wide variation in price. Often the leanest cuts are the least expensive and may be made tender by chopping, long slow cooking or other methods. Fish, a good alternate, is cheap in many urban centers. Poultry is a very good buy this season.

Older people generally need and prefer smaller quantities of food than younger people. Thus, it pays to save waste by not buying or preparing too much of any one food.

Familial Use Of Dairy Products

Summer ranks well ahead of winter as the season for eating most dairy foods, according to a survey of representative families in the county, conducted by Jessie V. Coles of the California Experiment Station. Families in this study used 16 percent more of 22 dairy products in summer than in winter. Exceptions were butter, condensed milk and "half and half" which were used more in winter.

As would be expected, the biggest seasonal difference was in frozen desserts, mostly ice cream. Families ate twice as much of these in summer as in winter.

In summer too, families drank more milk. The survey showed a family average of 14 quarts of fluid milk in summer compared to less than 12 quarts in winter. The difference was chiefly in the increased use of whole milk in summer.

The average use of evaporated milk was slightly higher in summer. Use of both cottage and cheddar cheese was up in summer; other cheese varied less with the season. Families used more of all kinds of cream in summer, but more half-and-half and more butter in winter.

The ways in which families used these dairy products followed much the same pattern, summer or winter. Families used about three-fourths of their fluid milk to drink. Chief use of half-and-half was at the table—on cereal and fruits or in tea and coffee. Over a third of the evaporated milk was used at the table and about the same amount for cookies, but more was used for baby feeding in summer than in winter. The big use for cottage cheese was in salads. Over half the cheddar cheese went into sandwiches.

About two-thirds of the butter used was served at the table, but a fourth was used in food preparation. In summer nearly twice as much butter was used for spreading sandwiches as in winter.

FREEZER DESSERT

If a homemaker is looking for a fruit dessert that she can prepare in quantity—as a time saver—to serve some fresh and store the rest frozen, one good prospect is orange cream sponge. Oranges are expected to be in heavy supply at reasonable prices on markets for a few more weeks.

Made by quantity-size recipes which they developed, the specialists have found that this dessert has best flavor and texture if used within 2 to 3 months of freezer storage, though it was acceptable when stored even as long as 6 months. Directions are as follows:

ORANGE CREAM SPONGE. Ingredients for 25 half-cup portions: 1-4 cup plain gelatin; 1-2 cup cold water; 1-4 cup hot water; 1-3-4 cup sugar; 1-8 teaspoon salt; 1-2 cup lemon juice; 2-1-4 cups orange juice; 1 tablespoon grated orange rind; 2-1-4 cups chilled evaporated milk.

Soak the gelatin in the cold water 5 minutes. Dissolve in the hot water. Add sugar and salt and stir until dissolved. Stir in the fruit juice and rind. Chill until the mixture is slightly thick. Beat the chilled milk until stiff. Add the gelatin gradually and continue beating well blended. Chill before serving.

To freeze: Put half-cup servings in custard cups and add cellophane overwrap. Seal and freeze. Store at zero degrees Fahrenheit. To prepare for serving, remove cellophane and thaw in refrigerator.

Caution: It has been suggested that it is unwise to use milk cartons as freezer containers as they are not made of the material best suited to keeping frozen food in best condition. Also tops which are purchased keep the idea that they are expensive from being quite as true!

Naval Ordnance Test Station Offers Technical Positions

The U. S. Naval Aviation Ordnance Test Station is offering summer employment in the fields of engineering, physics and mathematics to college students interested in a civilian career with the Navy.

This summer employment program is based on long range plans to attract and develop a competent, professional staff to carry out the station's research, development and test work, which is now being expanded. The positions offered will lead to permanent, full-time appointment upon completion of college studies and attainment of bachelor's degree. Combining practical experience with school through summer employment provides an excellent opportunity for rapid professional growth, and should help accelerate the student's scholastic progress. Such employment will also provide students with a source of regular income while pursuing their studies.

Selected students will work under the guidance of professional engineers, physicists, or mathematicians, depending on their field of endeavor. While employed, they will receive intensive training and will participate in research and engineering activities related to the design, development and test of guided missiles and aviation ordnance, such as aircraft guns, mines, bombs, fire control systems, pyrotechnics, etc.

Students who have completed their first, second, or third year of college in engineering or scientific study are eligible for appointment to positions paying $2750, $2950, and $3175 a year, respectively. Upon completion of college work leading to a bachelor's degree, students become eligible for permanent, full-time appointment to a position at grade GS-5, with entrance salary of $3410 a year.

Due to the scarcity of scientists and engineers, advancement to positions of greater responsibility and higher pay is usually rapid. Upon completion of six months of satisfactory service, employees are usually advanced to grade GS-7, the beginning salary for which is $4265.

Bayville Guernsey High Producer

AGRICULTURAL NOTES

By JOHN O. HART, County Farm Agent

Why Settle For Low Yields Of Corn?

It costs more - per bushel - to produce 35 bushels of corn per acre than it does to produce 75. So why settle for low yields? The increased cost of applying a little more fertilizer, buying more seed, and following the other practices recommended for high corn yields, is more than offset in the dollars you pocket at harvest time.

There are a few rules to follow: Use plenty of plant food. In 1,000 pounds of 10-10-10 fertilizer or its equivalent there is about enough plant food to produce 80 bushels of corn. If you apply this amount and analysis of fertilizer, any yield of corn above 80 bushels per acre must be produced on fertility from other sources. A soil test will indicate the level of fertility, particularly phosphorus and potassium, in the soil, and will serve as a guide in applying the proper amount and analysis. As a general rule, nitrogen will need to be added as a side-dress ing in addition to the regular fertilizer application for high yields and efficient production.

A thick stand is important. Plant for a stand of 12,000 to 18,000 plants per acre. Early hybrids usually produce relatively small ears and require thick planting for a high yield. Stands of 16,000 to 18,000 plants per acre should be the goal in planting early hybrids. Intermediate or medium early hybrids generally produce ears of medium size and should be planted to give stands of 14,000 to 16,000 plants per acre. Full season hybrids should be planted to give a stand for 12,000 to 15,000. About 10 percent more grains should be planted than plants expected in the final stand since disease, insects, birds and other pests will reduce the stand.

Plant shallow - about an inch deep. Tests have shown the one-inch depth to be most nearly ideal for planting corn. In the tests, as the depth of planting was increased above an inch the yield

For details on corn production, drop by the office and ask for the bulletin, "Why Settle For Less - 100 Bushels of Corn Per Acre."

Many Hybrids Succeed For Home Gardeners

Many hybrid vegetables with extra vigor and other desirable qualities are gaining favor with Virginia gardeners. The tender hybrid sweet corn, Golden Cross Bantam, a top-flight for the home freezer, leads the parade. Hybrid sweet corn, the first arrival in hybrid vegetables, is given credit for starting the enthusiasm for hybrids among gardeners.

Hybrid tomatoes, now numerous, are well represented by "Big Boy." Hybrid tomatoes usually make a larger vine so it is necessary to space them a little farther apart than the other varieties. Vigorous hybrid tomatoes are not especially resistant to soil nematodes or tomato wilt, so in soils infested with these troubles, they may be no more productive nor longer lived than the older tomato varieties.

Hybrid onion seed also are available. For earlier onions, the common sets are first choice, but since onions from sets or slips have second-rate keeping quality, gardeners who like to grow their own winter onions will do well to try the hybrids. It takes very early planting - preferably in February - to get full-sized onions from seed in one year.

The Burpee hybrid cucumber is another favorite which has been offered in seed form for several years. It lasts long into the fall if insects are controlled and enough water is provided. It is chiefly a slicing variety, but produces heavily enough for a home-grown pickle crop as well.

The sensational Les Gervais and his wife Madeline, double-trapeze artists from France, are one of the many features of the Polack Brothers Khedive Circus now at the Norfolk Arena. The circus will continue through Saturday of this week.

Hybrid eggplant and summer squash also are available from some seedsmen.

Diagnosis Important In Brucellosis Control

Progress in the control of brucellosis in both man and animal has been due in large part to the development of a reliable diagnostic method. Varying symptoms made the disease hard to diagnose by observation, so a more accurate method was badly needed. A blood test, which is not 100 per cent accurate but which is an accurate as any diagnostic procedure in any disease, is now in common use.

The need for a quicker test, in sales, stockyards, etc. prompted the development of a "plate" test. Both tests are used in Virginia, but the only time the plate test is used is an auction sales and stockyards where animals are bought for any purpose other than immediate slaughter.

In Virginia, up until now, a vaccine has been used on calves between four and eight months of age. While this is not 100 per cent effective, it is an excellent weapon in control. Recently, a new vaccine, known as the M Vaccine, has become prominent nationally and will be used in Virginia as soon as it's available. It is designed for use in the adult animal rather than the calf. It shows promise of being another efficient method of control.

While these vaccines are effective you shouldn't depend solely on them. You should observe certain basic sanitation and good management practices. The disease finds its way into a herd by several ways:

Current Vegetable Market Outlook Outlined

There've been some recent changes in the vegetable market outlook for this year. This is the way it looks right now:

Miss WTAR-TV Will Be Chosen May 1, Festival to Mark Switch

With the change of channels for WTAR-TV, Norfolk, on May 1 from Channel 4 to Channel 3, Princess Anne County will be better served through the increase in tower height and the increase in power.

WTAR-TV's new tower stands 1029 feet above the ground. - Virginia's tallest man-made structure, and 1049 feet above sea level. The power to transmit the picture will be increased from 24,000 watts to 100,000 watts and the power to transmit the sound will be increased from 12,000 watts to 50,000 watts. These new facilities will serve half a hundred counties in Virginia and North Carolina.

The festivities on May 1, the day of the switchover to Channel 3, will have a very colorful May Day theme. A representative from each of the counties in WTAR-TV's coverage area will vie for the crown of Miss WTAR-TV in a beauty contest to be held during the celebration. A unique feature will be a May Pole dance around the base of WTAR-TV's

The lucky young lady who wins the title of Miss WTAR-TV will receive an all-expense three-day stay in New York. She will be accompanied by Mildred Alexander, WTAR's fashion and woman's director. The winner and Mrs. Alexander will stay at the Ambassador Hotel on fashionable Fifth Avenue. The visit will include network television appearances, New York's fashion houses and Broadway shows.

The contestants and their chaperons will stay at the new Hotel Commodore Maury in Norfolk during the celebration. All of the contestants will appear on WTAR-TV's "Variety Show" Friday afternoon, April 30, at 4:05 P. M.

10,000 BC Man Lived in Utah

One of the most important domestic archaeological developments of the year was the intensive appraisal of the excavations at Danger Cave, near Wendover, Utah, according to a summary prepared for the 1954 Yearbook of the American Peoples Encyclopedia, published here.

The huge, dry grotto, above the Salt Lake desert, revealed ruins of a past civilization to a depth of 11 1/2 feet. Combined evidence indicated that man frequented the cave from about 10,000 B. C. to A. D. 1850. Quantities of stone artifacts, together with more perishable materials, testified to a little-changing culture in this restricted environment, the yearbook will point out.

From behind the Iron Curtain came word of excavations conducted in recent years in the remote Pazyryk Valley in southern Siberia, where a number of burials of the fifth century B. C. were uncovered, the yearbook report will state. Due to a remarkable aid from nature in the form of permafrost (permanently frozen earth), everything in the tombs was well preserved, including embalmed corpses of human beings and horses, clothing, textiles and kinds of perishable leather and wooden objects. The finds showed Persian and Chinese influence, and pointed to the first known beginnings of the famous silk routes to the West.

Polio Vaccine Cannot Cause Disease; Pharmacists Issue Assurance to Parents

In an attempt to allay the public's misapprehensions and fears about the Salk Polio Vaccine, Pharmacists all over Virginia have obtained the facts about the mass immunization tests soon to be made and will post this information in their drug stores.

"We feel that everyone will want to cooperate with these tests when they understand that the only thing experimental about this vaccine is its efficacy, not its safety," J. Curtis Nottingham, secretary of the Virginia Pharmaceutical Association, said.

"Therefore, the drugists will encourage the public to help in finding out if the vaccine effectively immunizes against polio, what strains of polio, and how long any immunity lasts."

This vaccine cannot cause polio. Pharmacists will explain, because all virus used in making the vaccine is killed as part of the production process.

Nine tests of each batch of vaccine eliminate the danger that any virus will withstand the killing procedure.

The three organizations which make three different tests on the vaccine are the control laboratories of the five pharmaceutical companies producing the vaccine on a non-profit basis for the Polio Foundation, the Biological Laboratories of the U. S. Public Health, Public Health, and the University of Pittsburgh Laboratories of Dr. Salk.

Added Facilities Here to Speed Phone Service

The installation of four new positions in the Virginia Beach telephone exchange, providing 740 new subscriber lines, is now nearing completion. L. Floyd Patrick, manager of the Virginia Beach Office of the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company, said today.

The work, which will give the exchange a total of 30 positions, is expected to cost in the neighborhood of $62,000, Patrick said. The Western Electric Company is installing the new equipment.

Patrick said the installation of the new positions is necessary to take care of the increased demand for telephone service at the resort, which has now reached an all-time high.

The work involves the tapping of existing line cables in the positions already in use and has resulted, the manager said, in some inconvenience to subscribers. He expressed regret that such inconvenience had resulted and said he appreciated the patience shown by most customers.

The Virginia Beach exchange was placed in service in 1927, at which time there were 500 telephones at the resort and in the area served by that exchange. Today there are approximately 8,735 telephones in the calling area, which represents a 268 per cent increase since 1927, when the number of telephones was 1,802.

During the peak of the resort's tourist season, the central office there serves as many as 9,000 telephones, and even this portion of the company's business shows a definite increase each year, the management reports.

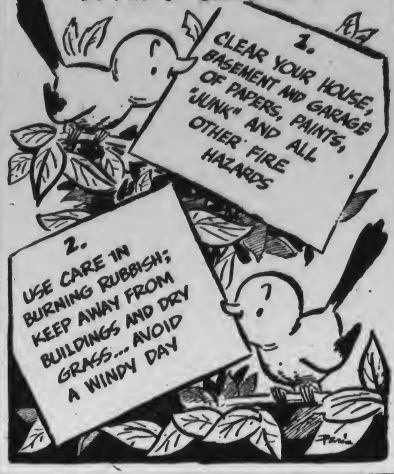

Patrick pointed out that the money expended for this addition, as well as many others now underway in the C & P system, is one of the reasons behind the rate increase the company is now seeking.

DRY... a simple little word... but, oh, how important when it applies to LUMBER.

DRY lumber is pre-shrunk. It is essential to sound frame construction because it eliminates the dangers of shrinkage problems. It's the kind of lumber that gives permanent satisfaction wherever it is used.

Drying, or seasoning, is a major part of the manufacture of good lumber. Remember this simple word DRY when you buy lumber... it means so much and costs so little more.

Old Mortar Lucky Display Piece For Mrs. Barham, New Beachite

An interesting old mortar has proved to be a lucky piece for Mrs. Frederick Barham in her flower arrangements. She has won a blue ribbon every time she has used it as a container for her entries in Petersburg flower shows. An oddly shaped stone with a tapered end almost like a handle serves as a base and the mortar is often used as an accessory.

Mrs. Barham has recently moved to her new home on Forty-seventh Street. The playroom on the lower level of the house is convenient to the garden and Mrs. Barham plans to do her flower arranging here where all her equipment will be close at hand. The cupboard at one side of the fireplace is an ideal place to keep her containers—the shelves will be crowded when she finishes moving her things from her former home in Petersburg.

Franklin stove top is one of Mrs. Barham's favorite containers. She is lucky enough to have the whole stove and has had it converted into a clever piece to use on the porch this summer. The fire box area will hold mason's and the top surface will take care of ash trays. An attractive flower arrangement in the iron top will add the finishing touch.

Mrs. Barham has a large Egyptian brass urn that she enjoys using for arrangements in the complex Flemish style. Her copper watering pot and pair of saddle water bottles make unusual containers. Her lovely old Sheffield openwork lends itself to festive occasions. One of her friends in the Cavalier Garden Club used it for her beautiful arrangement in the recent Norfolk Camellia Show. Mrs. Barham found her two brass Chinese lanterns in a New York antique shop. She was up there for a flower show and saw the warmer in the shop window and could not bear to come home without them. The lanterns are charming for dish gardens or for African violet plants.

Mrs. Barham has been a collector of antiques for many years. The beautiful old pine dough board and low table in the play room point to her interest in early American furniture but she also has fine examples of the Queen Anne and Chippendale periods. Her Queen Anne chairs signed by John Goddard are museum pieces.

Mrs. Barham's love of antiques goes hand in hand with her love of flower arranging. She finds it interesting and challenging to make flower arrangements in old containers. She is looking forward to the coming Norfolk Antiques Fair as a possible source of additions to her collection of antique containers. The Antiques Fair is sponsored by the Norfolk Branch of the American Association of University Women and the proceeds are for the Cherry Nottingham Scholarship Fund. The Fair will be held at the Pythian Castle.

Blanche McDonough Winner in Beach Garden Club Map Contest

Blanche McDonough, a student at Virginia Beach High School, is the winner of the Garden Week mapmaking contest in Mrs. Barber's Art Classes. It was announced last week by judges Mrs. Selden Grandy, Mrs. Peyton May and Mrs. Conrad Little.

Sponsored by the Virginia Beach Garden Club, the contest was for the best and clearest map depicting routes to the 6 showplaces on the Virginia Beach Garden Week Tour Tuesday April 27th.

The prize, offered by Mike Heneghan, was a free lunch for self and companion at the B & M Delicatessen on 25th and Atlantic. This comes in just right for Blanche, who in the week preceding was one of 3 winners in another Garden Club contest for the best poster advertising the tour. That prize was a pair of passes to the Beach Theatre, courtesy of the management. The Beach Theatre is diagonally across the street from the B & M.

Budget Approved by Board; Authorize 3 Extra Officers

Princess Anne County's Board of Supervisors at their meeting Monday approved the closing of all county offices with the exception of the clerk of court's office, but final say on the matter lies with Judge Floyd E. Kellam. Judge of the circuit court has sole jurisdiction over the closing. Heads of the other offices said, however, that they will not close unless the Judge approves the closing of the clerk's Office in Norfolk County and the cities of Norfolk and Portsmouth now are closing on Saturdays under permissive legislation passed at the last session of the General Assembly.

If the Judge approves the Saturday closing, the county offices will stay open until 7 or 8 o'clock on Fridays for the benefit of those who are unable to attend to business the weekdays.

In other actions Monday, the Princess Anne supervisors voted final approval of an annual budget totaling $2,709,100; approved the hiring of three new employees of the police department, and awarded a contract for the sale of the $55,000 bond issue for the North Virginia Beach Sanitary District.

Final approval of the budget met no opposition and was accomplished as a routine matter.

The employment of three men for the police department was defined as a step towards improving the security of the county jail. The radio dispatcher and jailer duties are being separated, according to Sheriff C. Roger Malbon, and the new employees will be provided to men on duty in the jail, 24 hours each day.

Named by the board in the new position were George Bryan, of Back Bay; James F. Dalton, of East Ocean View, and Otto R. Enax, of London Bridge.

The Investment Corporation of Norfolk joined with the Strader-Taylor Corporation of Lynchburg in bidding successfully on the $55,000 bond issue sold to finance the construction of new water mains in North Virginia Beach last year.

The combine offered an interest rate 3.60 per cent and a premium of $9.27 on the issue.

Woody Seamans Honored As "First Citizen of '53"

Woman's Club Takes Honors For Press Book

The Woman's Club of Princess Anne County won second place in statewide competition for the excellence of their pressbook at the 47th Annual Convention of the Virginia Federation of Women's Clubs in Richmond April 21, 22, and 23.

The award was presented in Class A competition representing clubs having memberships of 250 or more. It was the second honor won by the pressbook which finished first in Class A in the Tidewater District meeting March 30. Mrs. J. D. Wilson is pressbook chairman for the club.

The Woman's Club also won one of 26 of 377 clubs winning an honor certificate for activities endorsed by the Federation. The club was sixth on the list, with 109 honor points.

Among those attending the Federation Convention were Mrs. R. H. Overton, president; Mrs. Waverly Dickens, and Mrs. C. B. Pengold, delegates, and Mrs. R. B. Tynes, Mrs. D. Y. Malbon, Mrs. C. M. Tomko and Mrs. John P. Fleming, visitors.

Woody Seamans, 39, received a scroll naming him as First Citizen of Virginia Beach for 1953 at the fourth annual testimonial banquet Tuesday night at the Paramount Restaurant. The award, given by the resort Junior Chamber of Commerce, was given to Seamans primarily for his outstanding work in connection with the polo fund drive, of which he served last year as chairman.

J. Peter Holland, III, attorney at the resort, First Citizen of 1952, presented the award to Seamans. In making the presentation, Holland outlined the years of work that Seamans had devoted to charity drives and civic projects at the resort.

The First Citizen, who is recovering from a recent hip operation, was wearing a cast at the time of the presentation ceremony.

Sumpter Priddy, of Waverly, who was to have been the principal speaker, arrived too late for the meeting because of an illness in the family, and was unable to make the address which he had prepared. Priddy is national vice president representing Virginia in the United States Junior Chamber of Commerce.

After the dinner, the Jaycees elected 1954 officers, as follows: President, Dr. Howard Kahn, optometrist; vice presidents, Rhoe Adams, automobile dealer, and William Glitz of WTAR-TV; secretary, William Dodson, bank teller, and treasurer, Warren Sandifer, bank employee.

Directors elected were William Robertson, Warren Sandifer, Howard Nation, Theodore Ketsch, and unnumbered Clements.

GARDEN WEEK TOUR SEES THOUSAND GUESTS HERE

More than 1000 visitors descended on Virginia Beach Tuesday to enjoy the Garden Week tour of Virginia Beach gardens and homes. It was estimated by a member of the Virginia Beach Garden Club, sponsors of the local tour.

Several thousand admissions were registered during the Virginia Beach tour Tuesday, according to Mrs. Hampton H. Sewell, Jr., publicity chairman.

"We had an overwhelming turnout," Mrs. Sewell said. "It was far beyond our expectations."

Mrs. Sewell reported that more than 1000 persons visited the Mayflower Apartments, Peninsula, and other homes. Mrs. Ralph C. Clifford, and a similar number visited Four Oaks, the home of Mr. and Mrs. F. Sheppard Royster, Jr.

So many visitors arrived at the Cavalier Club for lunch that all could not be accommodated there. The tour was directed to the Princess Anne Club and the B. and M. Delicatessen in an effort to see that everyone could be served.

The visitors were from as far west as California, and from Illinois, New York, West Virginia, North Carolina, Florida and many parts of Virginia, she said.

Mrs. Charles Frank Greene, publicity chairman for the Princess Anne County Garden Club tour, reported the project was successful and that at least 1,000 adults purchased tickets. There were more than 200 persons at the Sea Breeze Pagan within a two-hour period, she said.

Many of the visitors were greatly impressed by the beauty of the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Parsons, on the Oceanfront, and the magnificent flowers found there.

Scientific Sampling Enables Accurate Piscatorial Count

Can scientists estimate within a reasonable degree of accuracy the number of small fish in a river or bay? This question frequently has been debated among scientists themselves. William H. Massmann of the Virginia Fisheries Laboratory at Gloucester Point, appearing before the gathering of the Atlantic Estuarine Research Society at its spring meeting in Solomons, Maryland, presented figures and graphs to indicate that it is possible to make reasonable estimates of the number of small fish in various parts of the Bay from careful sampling.

Approximately 65 scientists from New Jersey to Florida assembled at the Chesapeake Biological Laboratory at Solomons over the week end to discuss mutual problems of research. Dr. A. R. Armstrong of the College of William

Preliminary plans to conduct (a third annual) Teen-Age Road-e-o, driving contest for teen-agers have been made here by the Virginia Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Designed to create good driving habits among the teen-age set and select the community's most skillful young driver, the Road-e-o elimination will consist of a written examination and a skill test involving driving through prescribed exercises such as parking, smooth stopping and others.

The local winner in this National Jaycee contest will be eligible to compete in the State Road-e-o at Hopewell, Va. in June. State winners compete for $3,100 in scholarships in a national contest August 10-14 in Washington, D. C.

John Tallaferra, local Jaycee president, said six sub-committees have been organized under the general chairmanship of Ray Adams to carry out the various aspects of the program. "By emphasizing the rules of the road and the skills needed for safe driving, we intend to give local youth a chance to prove that some of American's best drivers are teen-agers," Tallaferra said.

Dain Domich, national Jaycee president, recently said this Jaycee event is "widely acclaimed by law enforcement, safety and school authorities as a positive program to encourage teen-agers to become expert drivers."

Last year 80,000 teen-agers took part in over 600 local contests. Sponsored by the National Teen-Age Road-e-o are the U. S. Jaycees, Liberty Mutual Insurance Companies and American Trucking Associations, Inc.

A MATTER OF OPINION

A SHORT STORY

"But I thought they were as good as engaged," Gus Wheeler was saying. "Leastways, that's what I been hearin' for the past month or so."

Snarling, Eoin Feeney packaged his stubby pipe. "Not by a long shot, they ain't. Not so long as I got any say in my own home."

"Well, what're you holdin' again, the boy?" Gus asked. "Far as I know, he's one of the finest boys in the country. A real comer, they say."

"I don't gainsay your word," Eoin said. He applied a match to the pipe and puffed furiously until it was burning to his satisfaction. "But that ain't the thing of it."

"That ain't it? Feeney, it seems to me you're a mite hard to understand!"

"Mebbe so — mebbe so. But I don't see as how my Norrie's got any business marryin' up with a lawyer. No sir, if farmin's good enough for me, and my Pa before me, what does she want to go marryin' up with a lawyer feller, it ain't right, I say."

"Why not?" Gus asked. "Seems to me how that's up to Norrie and Davy."

"I ain't got nothin' again' Davy personally," Eoin said. "But for the life o' me, I can't take to what he's gone and done. Why, his Pa was one of the best farmers in this section; and if farmin' was good enough for old man Walsh, why weren't it good enough for Davy? But look at him, goin' and gettin' himself educated so's he can be a lawyer."

"You're just gettin' old and set in your ways," Gus said. "Ain't nothin' wrong with what the boy did. Maybe everybody don't like farmin' the way you do. I say the boy's got a right to be what he

Three weeks later, Eoin Feeney was in the store once again, puffing his stubby pipe at a jaunty angle, a satisfied smile on his seamed and craggy face.

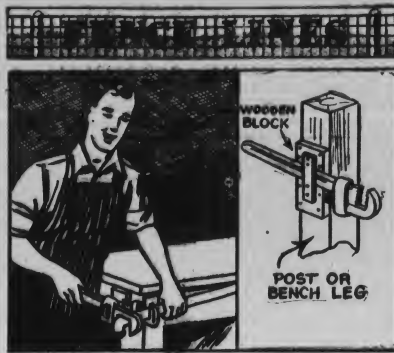

"Howdy, Eoin," Gus said. "Hear tell you been havin' a little land trouble. You and Cam Slaughter. Course it ain't hard for anybody to have trouble with him, seems like that's one man just about nobody can get along with."

"Danged if you ain't right, Gus. That Cam Slaughter's crooked as a bent nail. You know what that feller did? Well, it seems like he was over at the county seat snopin' around the court house and he run across somethin' in the land books—somethin' that gave him the notion he could twist around a few legal corners and grab part of my land that joins him. The northern acreage, it was; my best pasture field. But I guess we showed him; yes sir, I guess we sure did."

"What'd you do about it?" Gus asked.

"Well sir, it kind o' had me stumped. And that's when Norrie started workin' on me. Finally got so I couldn't stand to listen to another word from her. So she packed me in to see Davy."

"Well, Davy listens to what I got to say and then runs over to the county seat for a look at the land

Courthouse Encounter

A SHORT STORY

Old Hiram Gaylord had walked from the farm to the county courthouse in town. He liked to walk, and walking helped when a body was troubled and, too he had business to talk over with himself. Of course, he couldn't talk to himself when he was sittin' in the back seat of niece Betty's car, with Charlie, her husband drivin'.

husband, Tom, and the children to live with him. He had no living children of his own. But Tom was allin' then, and Betty and Charlie persuaded him to let them come instead. Now, they claimed he was not capable of attending to business and wanted Charlie appointed as his guardian.

"Hi!" said Old Hiram to himself. "They want control of my fine farm with the nice home on it, and my war pension."

He walked up the courthouse steps and down the hall, looking for the courthouse. He paused in front of the door. Betty and Charlie were sitting with their lawyer.

Laurie was sitting alone. Old Hiram took off his panama hat, ran a comb through his white hair, and went in. He had a minute in which to whisper something to the Judge. His honor pointed to a legal document spread out on his desk, but said nothing.

The Judge's gavel sounded awfully loud, and Old Hiram was nervous anyway. Laurie patted his hand and smiled.

He sat in shocked silence, as Betty and Charlie told of the crazy things he was supposed to have done, like talkin' to himself. Well, who in tarnation did he have to talk to? Certainly not Betty or SPRING IS TRANSFORMING SHENANDOAH SLOPES. Visible for miles from the famed Skyline Drive is the beautiful transition from winter drabness to incomparable Spring beauty as a hundred varieties of flowers and plants turn Shenandoah National Park into a colorful natural garden. Tourist accommodations including overnight lodging, dining rooms and service stations are now open along the 105 mile "highway in the sky".

Charlie, and if he went to town one of them followed him to prevent him from telling anyone about how they treated him. And they said he gave away his money, as much as ten dollars at a time. Of course, he had always helped the needy, and he and Ma had always given one-tenth of their income to the church. A tenth was the Lord's they thought. He and Ma had prospered and lived well.

The evidence proved Old Hiram feeble-minded. He felt humiliated. Betty and Charlie looked smug, and Laurie was so angry her dark eyes sparkled fire. He hadn't had a chance to speak for himself. But . . . Was the Judge speakin' for him?

"How lang would you say Mr. Gaylord has been demented?" "About a year, Your Honor."

"Would you say that he was of sound mind when he allowed you to move to his home two years ago?"

"Yes, Your Honor."

The judge picked up a legal paper from his desk. "Here's articles of agreement made out and signed by Mr. Hiram Gaylord three years ago, in which he agrees to allow Mrs. Laurie Warner and her family to move into his home and take care of him for the remainder of his natural life. In payment for this service, he agrees to will his home and farm to Mrs.

Warner. Do you wish to sign this agreement, Mrs. Warner?" he asked.

"Yes, Your Honor," she stepped to the desk, and read and signed the agreement.

Old Hiram stood up. He had resumed his military bearing. His appearance demanded attention. "Judge," he said, "I've got to get an eviction notice written up. Got to get rid of my undesirable tenants."

He left the courtroom, holding Laurie's arm protectively, bowing in response to cheers from the audience.

 Member Virginia Press Association.

This is the first in a series of editorial statements planned to be released by the SUN-NEWS during the next few weeks dealing with the political situation as it pertains to Virginia Beach. Through this series of editorial statements the SUN-NEWS hopes to give a clear, concise and intelligent analysis of the political picture in Virginia Beach to its subscribers and readers so that they may be better informed on the real issues at stake, and not be confused with petty, personal attacks on individuals.

A STATEMENT

Some two weeks ago two separate slates of candidates announced for council seats in the Virginia Beach election to be held Tuesday, June 8th. Each slate is made up of three candidates. The first announced slate was the Unity Council Ticket made up of Virginia Beach Mayor P. F. Murray, Frank D. Terrall, Jr., and John A. Talaferro.

Several days after the announcement by the Unity Council Ticket another group of candidates, namely, W. W. McClanan, Jr., W. C. Everett, and Dr. W. B. Costenbader announced that they would oppose the Unity Ticket and that they were running as the Greater Virginia Beach ticket.

The Unity Council ticket is generally conceded to have the backing of the city organization and those who sincerely desire unity. The Greater Virginia Beach ticket is backed by the anti-organization group that has offered opposition to the organization for the past several local elections.

Two well known local attorneys are serving as co-managers of the Unity Council Ticket while a retired businessman from Ohio has been announced as the manager of the Greater Virginia Beach Ticket's campaign. The attorneys are A. R. Walton and Richard G. Brydges. The retired businessman is Leslie A. Weary, who has not resided in Virginia Beach long enough to qualify as a citizen or as a voter.

When the announcement of the Greater Virginia Beach Ticket was made, Weary paid a personal visit to the SUN-NEWS and released a hand-written penciled statement in which he vowed they would be no criticism or personal abuse of any opposition candidate or opposition leader during the campaign. Weary referred to the Unity Ticket and its followers. He also said that should any bitterness or abuse develop on his side he would immediately resign his position as campaign manager. Weary insisted that he would conduct a clean, gentlemanly campaign.

This newspaper has gone on record in support of the Unity Council Ticket since it feels the candidates, themselves, are better qualified and equipped to bring about unity and conduct the affairs of this city's government. The second weekly paper here has adopted the Greater Virginia Beach Ticket's policies.

We mention the second Virginia Beach newspaper because it is through this medium that the Greater Virginia Beach Ticket and its manager, Weary, have seen fit to abuse individuals favorable to the Unity Ticket and to attack the organization, and thereby create bitterness of the lowest order. Points which Weary so carefully wished to avoid. We bring this point out because it is a well known fact that the followers of the anti-organization council ticket are in constant touch with editor of the second Virginia Beach newspaper so that the writings and expressions appearing in that newspaper are actually the tactics and practice being employed by the Greater Virginia Beach Council Ticket.

We believe that the voters of Virginia Beach are entitled to a more intelligent approach and a political campaign conducted in a manner to serve that intelligence. We believe the time is long past that personal, petty and child-like innuendoes and accusations against individuals is the type of political campaign voters of Virginia Beach deserve. We believe the real issues should be brought to light and we believe that those issues should be clouded by bitterness and hatred on the part of those who have, for years, attempted to gain public office, but each time have been turned away by the voters of this community.

If Weary is sincere in his statement to the SUN-NEWS, it is still not late to adopt those principles of campaigning that he referred to. It is still not too late to place the campaign on a high plane and to enlighten the voters on the issues of the day. We trust that Weary, if sincere, can control those elements within the anti-organization group so that we may have an intelligent, clean campaign so that the voter will not be confused and can best vote for the candidates, who will serve Virginia Beach in the best tradition.

(Next week we intend to deal with the accomplishments of the present administration during the past several years—a look at the record, so to speak.)

FULL SUPPORT NEEDED

The annual Virginia Beach Open Golf Tournament is a big undertaking for a community the size of Virginia Beach and the success of such a golfing event demands the full support of all citizens of Virginia Beach. The community reaps much in return when such a national sporting event as this is staged and with the prize money increased to $15,000 this year a greater joint effort is needed.

To make this golfing spectacle a success will require teamwork of the highest order. It might be well if we took a cue from the slogan of the political candidates for city council on the Unity Ticket. Their slogan reads: "Let's all pull together."

So, let's all pull together to make the Virginia Beach Open Golf Tournament a success. There is not much time between now and the June dates set for the golf meet so a spirit of unity and of cooperation is the number one need.

DULLES AND THE DRAGON

GARDEN WEEK

This week is historic garden week in Virginia and Virginia Beach and Princess Anne County showplaces have not been overlooked in the garden week tour that has been going on this week. The tour has attracted visitors from all parts of the State and from many neighboring states.

Virginia Beach and Princess Anne County can well be proud of its many outstanding homes and gardens and the fact that places in our county played such a prominent role in the garden week tour.

One Princess Anne County resident while writing in a Norfolk paper last Sunday fairly well summed up the pride and pleasure of being fortunate enough to live in Princess Anne County and Virginia Beach.

The writer wrote in the form of a letter to Princess Anne County opening by saying "I want to thank you for my piece of your land." The writer goes on to tell of the countless beauties of nature that abound in Princess Anne County and concludes the letter by saying, "I hope I can be a proper guardian for my little piece of your land, Princess Anne. Thank you again."

The newspaper article gives food for thought and reminds us that we do live in a veritable land of paradise, a paradise that gives us a responsibility that we should shoulder and enjoy.

VANDALS AT WORK

It has come to the attention of this newspaper that vandals are working overtime in Virginia Beach and Princess Anne County. The damage being inflicted is the usual boobycock variety, but has aroused at least one resident of Birdneck Point to such a degree that he is offering a $50 reward for information leading to the arrest of the guilty party or parties.

An advertisement in this newspaper of a resident of Birdneck Point makes the situation a little more serious than the general springtime frolics of teen-agers. Besides damage to fences, lawns and the like there have been reports of damage to the Cavalier Country Club golf course and the Princess Anne Course.

Both county and city police are on the alert for the guilty party or parties and a concerted effort by these police departments is being exerted to halt such destructive tactics.

THE COURT AUDIT

In the report of the State Auditor of the accounts and records of the Princess Anne County Trial Justice Court there appears several points that need further clearing so that the public is not left in doubt.

The report was somewhat critical but in our mind not so much of the court but a practice that came to light in the course of the audit. We refer specifically to the case of Mr. B. F. Dixon, a professional bondsman, who recalled one defendant paying him the sum of $122 in December, 1952. Mr. Dixon stated that he had not paid the money into the Court because there was no record of the case in the Court. Shortly after a conference Dixon paid the amount to the Court.

This procedure on the part of Dixon immediately raises the question of how many other cases there might be where the apprehended pays money in good faith and no record is made to the Court? The Court cannot be criticized if there is no record of the case in court. We trust that this one case is the only case that has been treated in this manner.

Another point of concern is the admitted practice of the clerk of the Trial Justice Court to accept partial payments of fines but not issuing official receipts until sometime after final payment is made. One instance of this showed that a person paid $40 to the clerk in May, 1953, and on July 25, 1953, this defendant paid the remainder of the fine, but the clerk did not issue an official receipt for the amount collected until August 11, 1953.

The audit revealed a looseness in docketing cases and definitely warrants further study by our public officials.

Mr. Leslie A. Weary
 3500 Holly Road
 Virginia Beach, Virginia

Dear Mr. Weary:

We have in our hands, a copy of your letter to Mr. Herbert A. Holt, Jr., and have taken note of the contents therein.

First of all, with regard to the suggested meeting of the opposing candidates for the purpose of discussing the placement of names ground rules for the campaign, our feeling in the matter is this: As managers of the "unity" ticket campaign, we feel that we would be invading the province of the electoral board if we were to take it upon ourselves to attempt to dictate or even suggest any other procedure than that which the board, in its discretion, decides to take according to the law. It would appear to us without going into the matter at any great length that if we were to concern ourselves with matters properly delegated to other individuals or bodies that we would inject into this campaign distrust and suspicion, both of which our candidates and ourselves vehemently oppose. The very essence of the theme upon which our candidates run is the elimination of these things and we have no desire to break the promises that we have made in this regard now or at any time in the future. Regarding the "ground rules" of which you speak, we can only repeat that our candidates have established themselves at the very beginning as being for fairness, courtesy and honesty and we propose to follow these rules during and after the campaign. It is our sincere desire to make Virginia Beach a place where every person can do his job, whether it be as a public official or private individual, without the fear of having his every act questioned and publicly condemned by whispering campaigns and innuendo and with no evidence to support such charges. When the day arrives when elected public officials can proceed without this fear, then Virginia Beach will have established itself as the ideal American Community that it rightly deserves to be.

 Very truly yours,

Dear Sir:

I am a high school student here and I feel lucky and fortunate that my mother and father selected Virginia Beach for their home for it gives me the chance to live and grow up in a wonderful community.

The fact that I live here also has given me the privilege of attending the finest high school in the State of Virginia—the Virginia Beach High School.

I have traveled to a good many places but to my way of thinking there is no place as nice and as beautiful as Virginia Beach and Princess Anne County. You might class me as a happy teen-ager youngster who is thankful to be living in a city like Virginia Beach.

Sincerely yours,

My PET PEEVE

Children have more faith—in their parents, in the goodness of human beings, in most everything. At least, they start out that way.

Is there anything more wonderful than the faith and trust of an infant, often needing only the soft touch of a mother's hand to bring contentment? And what is it that faith and trust that brings an injured child running to mother or dad for comfort?

Sure, it's faith. But, how do you make it last? I need to know because my two-year-old is already losing faith in me. Once I had him wrapped around my thumb, very tightly. But, young as he is, I can tell he knows that I don't know all the things I should.

He used to come running to me with every little thing. Not now. He's gotten mighty independent. And, you know where I slipped up?

Mayer Makes Appeal for Cleaner Beach

HOME OWNERS CAN DO MUCH BY POLICING OWN GROUNDS, MURRAY SAYS

The following is a letter written this week by Mayor P. F. Murray addressed to the citizens of Virginia Beach calling attention to the desirability of cleaning up, painting up and generally fixing up of our city.

The letter follows:

To The Citizens of Virginia Beach:

Allow me to call your attention to and appeal to you to do all that is possible on and around your property to make it more attractive.

I call your special attention to the fact that it is your responsibility to keep clean the sidewalk in front of your store or home. Trash should not be swept or pushed into the gutter but should be collected and placed in proper containers for removal by the City Trash Collection Department.

In the business area it is especially good for you, as business people, to keep your premises attractive to the tourist as well as the citizens. Debris in the gutters, on the sidewalk or in your doorway certainly brings about a condition that is not attractive to the passerby and cannot be good for your business anymore that it would be good business for the Cavalier Hotel to allow its beautiful lawns to become unkempt. It has been the custom in past years for the hotels and cottages to keep their lawns cut and in good condition.

I do not believe that the Cavalier or other hotels dress up their lawns because the owners just like to look at it. I think they do it because it is good business to keep it in order as it attracts desirable customers.

I respectfully urge you to do all that you possibly can to keep your surroundings and nearby areas free of rubbish and litter. Putting out trash to stand overnight or accumulating items which you might be laying aside for future use in some repair work is very unsightly to the tourist on whom we depend to bring us prosperity.

Your governing body has allocated $33,000.00 for advertising our fine City urging the tourists to come here for their vacations, and the hotels will spend more than $100,000.00 in similar advertising. With all this money being spent, from which we hope to obtain very good results, it would occur to me that it is a little bit for each of us to do to improve our own areas and to keep them clean. It may be thought that this is a responsibility of the City. However, to do it through your City government, I assure you, would cost the taxpayer a great deal more money than it could possibly cost him to do it himself or have it done by his own employees.

I take this opportunity to compliment the many businesses which answered the call of this office to make their premises neat in their closing for the winter and not to smear the windows or hang unsightly materials showing that they were closed for the winter. We believe that this has done some good in our City Through the winter months. Now that we are opening for the summer season we hope that you will be conscious of the appearance of your area and do all that is possible to decorate it and make it attractive. I am sure that if you do this you will be proud of your accomplishment. You will certainly be doing well for your City in general and it will be a great benefit to all concerned.

This is a courteous and sincere appeal to every citizen to join in the plan of CLEAN-UP, FIX-UP, PAINT AND DECORATE. I feel certain that with this courteous call to your attention, and as an appeal for the betterment of our City, you will cooperate and we will all enjoy the improvement.

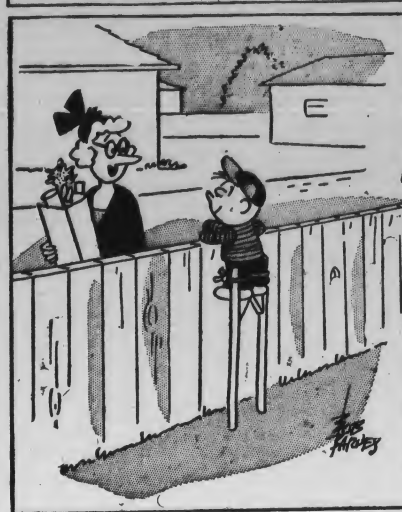

Sincerely yours,
P. F. Murray, Mayor
City of Virginia Beach

Making hard sauce? It's delightful when fluffy and easy to prepare in the manner. Use your usual recipe, then fold on one stiffly beaten egg white for the fluffy texture.

Plain cookies are much enhanced by the simple expedient of rolling them in confectioners' sugar while they're still warm. Sliced tomatoes, tossed greens or fruit salad are delicious with cottage cheese dressing, made by folding 1-2 cup cottage cheese and salt to taste into 1 cup of soured cream.

Leftover meat and chicken make wonderful treats when chunks are dipped in fritter batter and fried in deep fat.

The first prize winner in each will receive a complete sewing set; the second place winner will receive a fitted sewing box.

Grand prize winners will be selected from top entrants in 33 regional competitions in the United States and Canada, where 99 Singer Sewing Machines will be awarded. For the first place winner in each region, the prize will be the famous Singer slant-needle portable second prize will be the popular Singer Featherweight portable; third prize will be the Singer straight-needle portable.

The top grand prize winner, selected from the regional winners in the United States and Canada will receive $1000 cash or scholarship fund. Business on Upswing, Declare Automotive Dealers of Nation

A representative group of 500 Chrysler dealers from all parts of the U. S. believe that business activity is increasing and will continue to increase for the remainder of the year, reports E. C. Quinn, president, Chrysler Division, Chrysler Corporation.

"Their estimate is backed by the fact that shipments of new Chrysler cars to fill dealers' orders increased 13.5 per cent for the period March 16 through April 15 over the previous 30 days," said Quinn, who was elected to the Chrysler Corporation board of directors on April 20.

"Another factor greatly influencing our new car business is the renewed sales activity in used cars, which has resulted since the first of the year in a 20 per cent reduction in stocks in the hands of Chrysler dealers. These figures bear out the feeling by Chrysler dealers that the expected uptown in the automobile business has begun throughout the country."

Quinn said he and the Chrysler sales staff had talked with the dealers about business conditions in their selling areas when the dealers visited Detroit last week for a spring meeting. From these discussions, he said, had come six major points of agreement by the dealer group on why business will become steadily better.

"First, Chrysler dealers report that in contrast to the situation of many competitive dealers they are not over-loaded," Quinn said. "In addition almost all report that payrolls in their areas are up over last year."

Quinn said that the third reason given by dealers for business improvement is found in the fact that industries in their localities are spending large sums for expansion.

Lesson for March 21: John 13: 12-17, 34-35, 14: 21-24.

In the upper room Jesus, in the absence of a servant to minister unto them, laid aside his outer garments and began to wash the disciples' feet. Putting aside the objection of Peter, he continued with the task till all the feet were washed. Then he explained to them that he had given them an example of willingness to do the lowliest service for the good of others.

Then Jesus said that he gave them a new commandment, that they love one another. This was not a new commandment in that it had never been given to men at all, but it was new in a circumstance under which it was given and all the blessed inferences and applications to be drawn from it.

The Lord declared that the man who loves Him will keep his commandments. And the Father and He will manifest themselves unto such a man. They will come unto Him and dwell in His heart and make their abode with them.

Love alone proves that man is sincere in his profession of allegiance to the Lord and Master, for Jesus said, "If a man love me, he will keep my words." Love is to greatest proof to a cavilling world that a man is truly a Christian and that the Son of God can depend upon him in every hour.

IT'S A FACT

In Wise County, a truck driver from his vehicle and was stabbed by a screwdriver he was carrying in his pocket. A Stairton county wrecked their car when a family argument was carried to the front seat. A Pittsburgh man driving near Lynchburg, crashed through a bridge rail and soared 50 feet to land with only slight injuries. A Williamsburg man was in the car on the long end opened the hood of his car just as a fabled flew off to strike him in the face. Near Clifton Forge a man was washing his car and inadvertently released his emergency brake. It was injured when the car started down a hill and he was caught in the door.

Pennington Gap Lad Names Symbol —PA Countians Among Winners

Paul Carter, of Pennington Gap, "submitted the name 'Cargo Sam' for the Authority's handsome little advertising figure, to take first prize in the contest. The Southwestern Virginia student's award will be a $200 United Defense Bond.

Young Carter who attends Dryden High School, "is an alert young man with a pleasing personality," according to his teacher, Mrs. Reba Gilley. His father is a real estate agent at Pennington Gap, "Cargo Sam" will be used in Virginia State Ports Authority advertising both in this country and abroad.

"Cargo is what helps build ships," reasoned the Dryden student when he suggested "Cargo Sam" as the label for the caricature that will trademark the State agency's advertising to promote commerce through Virginia ports.

"Beat Deadline on Car Inspections" Plea of Police; Dates May 1 - June 15

With semi-annual motor vehicle inspection due to begin May 1 for passengers cars, Colonel C. W. Woodson, Jr., Superintendent of State Police and Executive Chairman of the Governor's Highway Safety Committee, had the same message for motorists which he says can't be reported too often. This message is, "Take your car to the station of your choice early and avoid the inevitable last-minute rush."

By so doing, Colonel Woodson observed, car owners insure their vehicles will not be held up when headline passes and that they will see a better job done at the station.

C. L. Fuller, State Police Assistant Safety Engineer, will be in the placing of the official sticker on curved windshields. In such cases, they will be applied just above the pivot of the right windshield wiper. This, Lt. Fuller feels, will provide better side vision for the driver and will also permit police officers to note the stickers more readily and work against the unnecessary stopping of a motorist. The current sticker will bear a civil defense message on the reverse.

Speaking for the State Police who supervise the program, Colonel Woodson assured any car owner of a full investigation of any charges of discourtesy, incompetence or unfair practices.

Gallilee Church Setting For Exchange of Hundt-James Vows

Gallilee Episcopal Church was setting last Saturday afternoon at 4 o'clock for the marriage of Miss Anne Wilson James, daughter of Mrs. Stuart James, of Norfolk and Virginia Beach, and the late Rorer A. James Jr., of Danville, to Robert William Hundt, of New York City & Bay Shore, Long Island, N. Y. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Henry Barton, rector of the Eastern Shore Chapel. The altar was decorated with white flowers and cathedral candles. Mrs. George L. Aldridge, organist of the church, played the wedding music.

The bride was given in marriage by her uncle, James Ewell Brown Stuart of New York. She wore a wedding gown of candlelight marquisette, fashioned with a shirred bodice, off shoulder neckline, furnished with heron lace. The very full skirt formed a cathedral train, over full length veil of French illusion fell from a cap of matching heron lace and she carried a still-cascade arrangement of white orchids and stephanotis.

Mrs. William E. Bardenheer of Mamaronick, N. Y. was matron of honor and only attendant. She wore a gown of turquoise blue lace, with shirred bodice and full skirt, worn with a bolero jacket. She carried a bouquet of pale pink carnations, violets and blue delphinium.

Spaghetti Spring Salad

A main dish spaghetti salad is just the thing to serve for supper one of these spring nights.

Spaghetti Spring Salad is typical of the plain foods that we eat often—and sometimes take for granted. We all enjoy eating elegantly on occasion. But always return to the day-to-day goodness of down-to-earth foods.

Even plain foods can assume elegant airs. This simple spring salad takes on a richer look when you serve it on a bright-colored platter. Edge it with a ruffle of spring-green lettuce. When crowned with wedges of cheese and ready-to-serve meat, it will be doubly appealing.

Low-cost spaghetti is the foundation of this salad. To it you add table-ready meat and cheese. The result is a hearty main dish salad rich in both animal and plant protein.

To complete the menu, serve a green vegetable and brown 'n' serve rolls or French bread.

1 cup cubed American cheese
1-2 cup sliced sweet pickles

Cook spaghetti in boiling salted water until tender (about 7 minutes). Drain and rinse in cold water. While spaghetti is cooking, mix together salad dressing, chili sauce, French dressing, salt and pepper. Combine spaghetti, meat, cheese and pickles. Four salad dressing mixture over spaghetti mixture and toss lightly, chill thoroughly. Toss lightly again before serving.

Makes 4 servings.

With the Spaghetti Spring Salad a Salmon Loaf would surely be delightful. Here's the recipe.

1 cup flaked salmon (8-ounce can)
1-2 cup finely chopped celery
1-3 cup chopped onion
1-4 cup chopped green pepper
2 tablespoons melted butter or margarine
3 cups toasted enriched bread cubes
1-2 teaspoon salt
Dash nutmeg

Spaghetti Spring Salad

4 ounces elbow spaghetti
1-4 cup cooked salad dressing

Dash pepper

SUMMER FASHION HITS: T-SHIRT DRESSES! T-shirts have become favorites with the men over the past years, and now, T-shirt dresses are expected to be a feminine fashion hit this summer. Cotton T-shirting is used by a number of designers for smart, comfortable dresses. With slim, pencil lines, they're good for a girl's figure and their cool comfort is good for her summer morale, too. Horizontally striped cotton T-shirting in black and white was one trim, eye-catching dress seen at the special fashion show Thalhimer's staged for the Spring District II Pilot International Conventioners last Saturday in Richmond.

Worn with a stunning black planter's hat and with the model carrying one of the largest of linen and patent leather bags, it was most effective. Another shown was Jane Irwin's pin-striped cotton T-shirting in navy blue and white, predominantly navy, in a tubular design. Garland's shoulder buttoned T-shirt dress in navy blue and white cotton knit with bandings of navy at the neck and sleeves was another stunning outfit which seemed to have stepped right out of Vogue. Incidentally, these T-shirt dresses are ideal for the homemaker and career girl for they are easy to keep fresh and clean during the hot summer months.

gaily is a wide belt of pink and aqua. Jacques Heim used white and gold cotton for a sophisticated cocktail dress and Madeline de Rauch chose a white & beige print cotton for a glamorous short formal. All in all, Beverly Pack's twenty-two suitcases are now filled with international cotton fashions for eye-viewing of the American women interested in summertime cotton fashions whether they were designed at home or abroad.

MERRY MATRONS

By Alice H.

Mrs. R. Richard Schweitzer, new president of the Virginia Federation of Women's Clubs, is an accomplished homemaker, business woman, "gentleman farmer" as well as a fond mother and is just about as young in heart as a merry matron as you'll find anywhere. She not only has a young smile and young "lift" to her to her thinking but is young in actions and young in her selections of wardrobe and fashion accessories. She leans towards tailored lines, but youthfully-looking tailored things are her favorites. She wears lots of shades of blue and prefers the little white pique touches. She's wonderful in the kitchen at whipping up tempting dishes; accomplished in the drawing room as an interested listener and gracious hostess; completely at home in the business world; happily alert in her charming small garden; helpfully at home when she's inspecting her 500-acre farm in Norfolk County, and never happier than when she's addressing an assembly of women.

She wears lots of shades of blue and prefers the little white pique touches. She's wonderful in the kitchen at whipping up tempting dishes; accomplished in the drawing room as an interested listener and gracious hostess; completely at home in the business world; happily alert in her charming small garden; helpfully at home when she's inspecting her 500-acre farm in Norfolk County, and never happier than when she's addressing an assembly of women.

Mrs. Louis J. Albano's beautiful garden of flowering shrubbery at her London Bridge home is probably one of the most colorful small gardens to be viewed this Historic Garden Week. When you're driving to Norfolk, on the Boulevard route, don't forget to get your early morning lift by noticing Mrs. Albano's lovely and heavenly spot. Her azaleas couldn't be lovelier.

Vera Ruggieri Herzel, a really accomplished artist and a member of the Feldman Chamber Music Society's group as well as a member of the Norfolk Symphony Orchestra, is the luscious brunette playing the violin in the Cavalier Club's main lounge these evenings between six and eight o'clock. Bailey Barco, who would rather play classical piano than eat, is the other member of this musical duo. They are winning many friends at the Cavalier with their musical selections and that's nice for the Beach for visitors to go back home and tell of two of our most talented musicians' fine work. They'll be there till late in the Fall.

One of the most attractively dressed matrons seen on Easter Sunday was Mrs. Jimmy Moore who chose an exquisite blue-grey, soft dressmaker suit with grey accessories and a smart little large-chip straw shell hat. With her slightly-blue-white and beautifully coiffed hair and her merry blue eyes, she was truly a picture. Nice to see her so happy and well after her long sojourn with the carnival on the Caribbean Cruise in early 1953.

White hats and navy towey still seems the happy choice of the most women in this area for Easter time wear. Meeting four members of the Garden Club of Virginia recently, three of them had chosen navy blue. Mrs. James Waters wore a most differently styled and fashionable two-piece heavy linen costume of navy with high Empire lines and a short-short wrapped around jacket with wide crossed over "wings" for a front-closing. White pique touches, a saucy side-tilted straw cap and navy calf accessories completed her lovely picture.

Mrs. Preston Hix, in a navy linen bolero suit with a Peter Pan pique collar and with a chic white pique pillbox with its perky forward-tipped bow was as pretty as the well known picture!

Mrs. Alfred Van Patten, president of the Garden Club of Virginia Beach, in her navy silk shantung dress and navy flower-trimmed straw Easter bonnet was especially attractive.

No one has taken her Historic Garden Club Week assignment more seriously than Mrs. Charles Byer who did an excellent job of arranging radio and television programs for the Virginia Beach Day last Tuesday. She is one club woman who likes detail and perfection and sees to it that things look in the proper manner. During a recent tape-recording stint, Continued On Page Four MAID OF COTTON COMES HOME - Beverly Pack of El Paso, Texas, brought back some exciting cotton fashions designed for her by French members of the Haute Couture when she visited Europe showing off her American-made cottons as the 1954 Maid of Cotton. These fashions have been added to Beverly's forty-four creations which were created for her by her own American designers before she made her two weeks trip to Europe. Michael Sherard, of London, styled a coat in pink pique, a pink and black frock to be worn under the coat, and a cocktail dress in a cotton printed with historic spots in the city of London.

FRENCH COTTON FASHIONS - In Paris, Pierre Balmain designed a dramatic evening dress in pale pink, when Beverly went to Paris, and this frock has a draped midriff characteristic of Balmain this season and it is sparkled lavishly with rhinestones. Germaine LeComte styled a cotton tweed dinner dress with the black cotton tweed designed in a smart corset effect achieved by a stiffened cummerbund of dark red velvet. The bodice is styled with a flattering off-the-shoulder neckline. The House of Jean Patou used white cotton twill to make stunning resort dress full the Maid of Cotton with full pleated skirt topped by a loose bodice featuring a flat cape collar. Stain Removal May Be "Tricky"

Today's homemaker is taking a chance of ruining her washable garments and household articles if she attempts to remove an unknown stain, according to specialists at American Institute of Laundering, research and educational center for the laundering industry.

Most housewives do not have the needed chemicals and knowledge of fabrics and dyes to remove the more aggravating spots. Particularly difficult to remove are shoe dyes, mercurchrome fruit juices, perspiration, oil and grease, vegetable and animal fats, and inks. Stains of these types should be left to the commercial laundryman who uses controlled formulas in his wash and who is an expert in textile maintenance. A. I. L. technicians say.

The best household stain removers are plain soap and water or carbon tetrachloride, explain the Institute technicians. Naptha and gasoline are both toxic and inflammable and therefore should be considered dangerous. Dab or press the stained area with soap and water or carbon tetrachloride. Rubbing may cause the staining area to spread.

NEWCOMERS CLUB HEARS TALK ON HAIR STYLING

The regular monthly meeting of the Newcomers Club was held recently at the Paramount Restaurant. Approximately twenty-five newcomers to the beach attended. Mr. Dowdy of Dowdy's Beauty Salon gave a talk on the proper styling and hair styling. Refreshments were served and then everyone played cards and games.

Next month's meeting will be a card party held at the Paramount Restaurant. Any newcomer to Virginia Beach is cordially invited and may make reservations by phoning Mickey Merrill 422-W.

The faster you get to work the better, experience has found. If the stain is allowed to set it becomes attached to the fabric and is much more difficult to remove. Informing the laundry routeman of a difficult-to-remove stain will also bring the attention of expert spotters.

Mrs. Ivy Baker Priest Urges That Women Join in Safety Crusade

One of the nation's greatest assets is its children, the Treasurer of the United States said today. Mrs. Ivy Baker Priest, speaking also as a mother, pointed out that this month's "Child Safety Month" and that motor vehicles kill more children every year than any disease.

Mrs. Priest, who is one of the judges of the 1954 Carol Lane Awards for Traffic Safety, quoted National Safety Council figures that 8,500 pedestrians were killed last year.

"Of that total, almost a fourth were children under 14," she said. "Spring means that the motorist must be doubly alert," Mrs. Priest pointed out. "Not only does spring bring more cars to streets and highways, but it is also a period of greater outdoor play and activity by children. Therefore, motorists should drive with extreme caution near schools, playgrounds, residential areas and other places where children may congregate."

"Always remember to expect the unexpected where children are concerned," Mrs. Priest warned. "Watch out for children suddenly darting into the street in pursuit of a ball, or for the youngster on a bicycle or roller skates."

"Be mindful of the fact every child pedestrian is a human caution sign," she said, "and you'll be doing your part to preserve our precious asset—our children—to enrich tomorrow's world."

Mrs. Priest has a long record of traffic safety activity. Prior to becoming Treasurer of the United States, she served as vice-president and director of the women's division of the Utah Safety Council in her home state.

She urged individual women as well as members of women's and parents' organizations to become active in traffic safety in their communities. Such women are eligible to enter the 1954 Carol Lane Awards for Traffic Safety—administered by the National Safety Council through a grant of the Shell Oil Co.—which are the nation's only awards to recognize the achievements of women in the field of accident prevention.

A $1,000 defense bond and a bronze statuette will go to first place winners in both the individual and group categories. Three honorable mention awards are presented in each category. Nominations are open through June 30, 1954.

Women interested in entering the 1954 Carol Lane Awards may obtain additional information by writing Alice C. Malt, Director of Women's Activities, National Safety Council, 425 N. Michigan Ave., Chicago 11, Ill.

Driver Gives Tips On Gas Saving

If you're interested in getting the most miles per gallon from your automobile Dick Griffith, driver of the Sweepstakes car in the recent Mobilgas Economy Run, has some tips for you.

Griffith, it will be recalled, piloted a Studebaker Land Cruiser equipped with overdrive over all kinds of roads for the 1,335 mile run from Los Angeles to San Valley, Ida., for an average of 28.11 miles for every gallon of gasoline.

As a matter of fact the drivers of the other two winning Studebakers, Bob Donkin, who got 24.58 miles per gallon with a Land Cruiser equipped with automatic transmission, and Dick Johnson, whose Champion with overdrive turned in 29.58 miles per gallon, agree with Griffith on how to get more mileage out of every drop of fuel.

Here are Griffith's tips for economy-minded drivers:

1. Avoid Jackrabbit starts. Accelerate evenly and moderately.
2. Drive at an even speed avoiding spurt-type driving. Keep your accelerator foot steady.
3. Anticipate traffic light changes, thereby avoiding extended period of engine idling and gasoline waste at a red light.
4. Drive at moderate speeds for safety as well as economy.
5. Anticipate the road ahead and avoid excessive use of brakes on curves and downgrades.
6. Use low and second gears for gaining momentum only. Shift into high at not over 25 miles per hour on level stretches or in city traffic.
7. On steep mountain upgrades shift into lower gears.

Explorer Scouts Make Canoe Trip Thru Dismal

Eleven Explorers from Princess Anne County completed a 25 mile canoe trip through Dismal Swamp last weekend, April 24 and 25th. State Forestry men who mapped out the trip for these young men said that very few people have ever canoed this route since it involves almost every obstacle imaginable except rapids.

The canoes were put over in Dismal Swamp Canal & proceeded through various canals and waterways including several portages to Lake Drummond where the group spent the night. Sunday morning the Explorers paddled from Lake Drummond to Waleston.

Traffic Fatalities Lessen in 1954

Virginia's toll of traffic deaths continued on the downward trend as the first quarter of 1954 ended with 17 less than for the comparable period of 1953, according to figures released today by Colonel C. W. Woodson, Jr., Superintendent of State Police and Executive Chairman of the Governor's Highway Safety Committee.

During the period there were 180 deaths, 34 of which were pedestrian, to compare favorably with the 197, of which 55 were pedestrian, during the first quarter of 1953. March, with only 47 deaths, produced the lowest monthly total since February, 1948. Traffic volumes, however, rose only one percent.

Commenting on the situation, Colonel Woodson expressed the opinion that public attitude towards improper driving is steadily changing for the better and that definite and forceful action by the 1954 General Assembly towards traffic safety demonstrates that Virginia's death rate may shortly drop below the national level. "Enactment of the law providing license suspension for two speeding convictions and passage of the bill legalizing the use of radar to enforce our speed laws," he said, "are certain indications that people of Virginia can expect safer streets and highways."

Colonel Woodson noted also the drastic drop in pedestrian fatalities and pointed out that the alarming rise in these during 1953 made the difference between a good and excellent record of improvement for the year.

For 1951, Virginia's traffic deaths numbered 999 and this total dropped to 960 in 1952 and 904 for 1953. Traffic volumes at this time are approximately 16 percent above those of 1951.

The canoes were put over in Dismal Swamp Canal & proceeded through various canals and waterways including several portages to Lake Drummond where the group spent the night. Sunday morning the Explorers paddled from Lake Drummond to Waleston.

The following Explorer Scouts participated in this high adventure trip: from Ship 63 sponsored by Virginia Beach Jaycees, Gene Newman & Clinton Walker; Air Squadron 61 sponsored by American Legion Post at Va. Treat your lingerie to proper washing and it will give you a longer and lovelier life.

Holes and spreading on delicate lingerie are frequently caused by rubbing the material between hands with cake soap. This causes wringing and twisting of the delicate threads, too.

Proper washing of any delicate lingerie consists of gently squeezing rich suds through the garment. Rinse, just as you wash, by squeezing water gently.

Black spots in lingerie are caused by not using enough soap or detergent. These greasy blotches can be removed, usually, by re-washing in rich suds and then rinsing until water runs clear to remove any soil remaining.

Streaking of lingerie may be caused by not rolling in a Turkish towel immediately after washing. Do not leave the garment rolled for long, but only to remove excess moisture.

Pressing garments while too damp may cause streaking. Pressing double thickness may also be a contributing factor to streakiness.

If you want your slips and gowns to hang evenly, do hang them up, finger-pressing them so they are even.

EUCLID TRAINING SCHOOL

PTA SPONSORS DRIVE FOR PLAYGROUND EQUIPMENT

On January 29, 1954, a committee composed of Mr. C. J. Siler, President, PTA, and other officers and patrons of the PTA met to formulate plans for raising funds for playground equipment for the elementary school and bleachers for the football field. This Committee presented to the PTA at large recommendations for purchasing a ten hundred dollar five piece unit of playground equipment, four pieces of which were to be erected at the Training School and one piece which was to be erected at Union-Kempville Elementary School. These recommendations also included plans to construct bleachers for the football field. A May King and Queen Contest was decided upon as a means of raising funds to carry out these plans. The contestants are patrons of the school selected from the various districts of the County. The playground equipment is now in the process of being raised and is expected to be completed in a few days.

Mrs. Elizabeth Davis of Virginia Beach, Virginia, May Queen for the Seaback Community, is asking all persons who have letters for the May Queen Contest to make their report on or before May 3, 1954.

On April 15, the Hi-Y Club of Princess Anne County High School entertained members of the football and basketball teams at an informal banquet in the high school gymnasium. Those attending were the football and basketball players, their guests and members of the faculty. Eddie Hogard is president of the club and Mr. W. J. Watson is faculty sponsor.

Senior members of the New Homemakers Club and the high school faculty were entertained last Thursday afternoon, April 22 at an informal luncheon given by the New Homemakers Club in the Home Economics Department.

The Hi-Y, Tri-Hi-Y, and New Homemakers Clubs have completed.

The committee chairman are: General Chairman, Mrs. Charles M. Lovitt; Flower Show, Mrs. R. E. Doyal; Tickets, Mrs. Hugh W. Lindsey; Publicity, Mrs. Rufus S. Knight, Jr.; Desert, Mrs. T. ed plans for an educational tour to New York City to begin on May 31. The tour will include sightseeing trips to such places as Times Square, Greenwich Village, Wall St., United Nations Headquarters, the Cathedral of St. John the Divine, Central Park, Riverside Drive, Columbia University and Chinatown. The group will stay at Hotel Belvedere while in New York and will return to Princess Anne on May 23. Chaperones will be members of the faculty.

The annual educational tour sponsored by Mr. T. C. Smith will be made this year to Detroit. The tour starts on May 8 and will stop in Pittsburgh on route to Detroit and will return via Cleveland, Ohio and Salem, Virginia. A sightseeing tour of the Pontiac Motor Division has been arranged by General Motor Corporation for the tourists who will also visit Canada. In previous years, trips have been made to Boston, Canada and Jacksonville, Florida.

Career Day, sponsored by the Guidance Committee brought many interesting consultants to the students of the Training School.

Mr. William Cooper of Hampton Institute spoke to the morning assembly. In his address, Mr. Cooper stressed the importance of pupils thinking about business, trade and industry and civil service employ as likely and good professions and pointed out that "None of these is success within itself; a person must have the right personality to accompany his chosen work."

Students selected their preferred consultants in the afternoon sessions where question and answer periods were held.

Consultants for the afternoon were: Mr. W. P. Clarke, Business; Mr. L. L. Hughes, Plumbing; Dr. Dean of King's Funeral Home, Mortuary Science; Mr. Bowser, Brick Masonry; Mrs. Myrtle Hughes, Health; and representatives of the W. A. C. U. S. A. F. and U. S. Army.

The Princess Anne Tigers played their first baseball game in five years on April 2. The Tigers bowed to L. P. Jackson with a final score of 7-0 and did a repeat at East Suffolk when they lost the game, 5-4. However, the Suffolk's glory was short-lived as the Tigers upset them in a return game with a score of 6-5, but were in turn beaten by Booker T. Washington of Suffolk on the night of the same day when the Bookers brought in 8 runs to the Tigers' 5.

The last game played was a win for the Tigers when they beat L. P. Jackson in a return game, 7-5. Clifton "Runion" Boyd pitched the first winning game for the Princess Anne Tigers and shared honors for the day with Merlin Bell who hit the first home run of the season. Douglas Jackson also has a home run to his credit.

In a non-conference game against Carver, George Simmons pitched a three-hit shut-out which resulted in the game ending in a tie score of 0-0. Such a final score is permitted and common in scholastic baseball as no more than seven endings are allowed in any game.

The teachers and the public are very much pleased with the Safety Patrol Club. The purpose of this club is keep order on the halls during the passing of classes and at the lunch period. The club is made up of all elementary school pupils who are doing a very efficient job.

The members are now making plans to attend the National Convention which is held in Washington, D. C. on May 8.

The Club is planning to leave early enough to tour some points of interest in Washington and surrounding areas, and they will take a part in the National Safety Parade down Constitution Ave.

On May 10 at 8:30 P. M. in the high school auditorium the Senior Class will present a three-act comedy, "Leave It To Grandma," by Robert St. Clair. Alma Strickland will be featured in the title role. Grandma, a supposedly wealthy and eccentric old lady promises a hilarious evening as she goes her own way weaving and unraveling problems of the house and a series of incipient love affairs. Other members of the cast are Nancy Dukes, Walter Parsons, Irvin Brinkley, Barbara James, Theodore Cason, Evelyn Munden, Jean Haynes, Gladys Hamberry, Ernest Hill and Virginia Brown.

Resists Heat And Corrosion
Cast alloys of chromium, nickel and iron retain mechanical strength at high temperatures, and also resist corrosion from various types of hot gases.

Oregon's 1952 log harvest of 9,802,471,000 board feet of timber was the largest cut in the history of any state in a single year.

Motorists Fail to Heed Lesson of Previous Years; '53 Accident Figures 'Most Shameful' in All History

The year 1953 saw more than two million casualties—the worst automobile accident toll in the nation's history—recorded on our streets and highways. This shocking record sets the year aside as a shameful one.

Even worse—except in a few cases where thoughtful people are very much concerned about this horrible slaughter—the totals were recorded without many of us realizing what was happening.

The Travelers Insurance Companies of Hartford, Connecticut, report 38,500 people killed and 2,400,000 injured in 1953. Traffic deaths increased 900 and injuries jumped 50,000 over 1952.

The lessons to be gained from previous statistics continued unheeded in 1953. Excessive speed was the most dangerous driving mistake again last year. Speed killed 13,870 persons and injured 600,000. Three out of four auto accidents happened to passenger cars driving in clear weather on dry roads, and 80 per cent of vehicles in fatal accidents were death toll increased for the fourth consecutive year.

There are hundreds of splendid safety organizations in this country dedicated to safety education. Many insurance firms make major efforts in this direction at considerable expense. In hundreds of communities, civic clubs have taken on the job of spreading safety information and education. State and community authorities have spent millions of dollars in an effort to provide safer and better roads and highways. Driver training programs at all age levels are aimed toward safer and saner driving.

State, County, local and Parkway Police are constantly patrolling streets and highways. More and better engineered thruways are coming off the drawing boards. It appears to us that almost everyone is concerned with this needless slaughter and its accompanying waste of human and property values.

Almost everyone, that is, but the drivers.

The problem starts and could ideally end with the drivers. Who are the drivers?

Each one of us knows the answer to that question. Let each one of us ponder these latest grim figures and then determine a proper and safer and saner course of action.

Fighting in Indo-China began on Dec. 19, 1946, when Communist forces blew up a French power station.

"Tarawa" Tribute To Marine Corps

A Special Tenth Anniversary Edition of Robert Sherrod's memorable "Tarawa - The Story of a Battle" will be published during the month of April as a practical tribute to those gallant Marines who lost their lives on its beaches.

The anniversary edition will lay the foundation for a fund with which the Second Marine Division Association will finance college education for deserving sons and daughters of the Division's heroic dead.

According to Brigadier General David M. Shoup, who won the Medal of Honor on Tarawa, a portion of the price of every book sold will be earmarked specifically for that purpose. Additional direct contributions to the fund will be accepted and placed one hundred percent to the credit of the fund. Plans for management of the fund already are being worked out.

One feature of the Tenth Anniversary Edition will be a new foreword by the author, in which the famed correspondent sums up his reaction from the perspective

Regulars and Newcomers Ready For Roles in "Common Glory"

Layton Zimmer, veteran featured actor in "The Common Glory," will play the role of Thomas Jefferson for the second consecutive year when the 1954 production of the Paul Green drama begins at Williamsburg in June. Director Howard Scammon announced here today.

The selection of Zimmer, during the winter months a ministerial student at Episcopal Theological Seminary, Cambridge, Mass., comprised one of the few instances in which major roles of the 1954 production will be portrayed by the same persons who enacted the parts last year.

Peter Doyle, of Lexington, Va., will return in the role of the juvenile romantic lead, Hugh Taylor; James Bray, a member of the faculty of Fork Union Military Academy, Fork Union, Va., will portray the Tory leader, Robert Gordon; Morris Law, of Rocky Mount, Va., again will play the part of Benjamin Franklin; Anne Helms, of New York City, will be the Widow Huzzitt, for her portrayal of which she was widely applauded the past two seasons, and Bristol Hardin will play Lord Dunmore, the colonial governor.

But veterans of earlier productions will return to "The Common Glory" in roles in which they were featured prior to 1953. David Friedman, of New York City, who has just completed a nationwide road engagement in "Mister Roberts," will return as the comedian, Cephus Sickleamore, after portraying Mr. Wormley last year. E. C. Ninde, Jr., veteran comedian of the silent movie days, again will play Peter Pelham after an absence from the drama of one year.

Narrator: William Moss, of Williamsburg, last year's Captain Foy, will play the part of Dr. Camm, and the following other members of last year's cast will have new roles: Ben Bray, of Fork Union, as Robert Livingston; Barry Wilson, of Ithaca, N. Y., as Captain Foy; Edgar Noel, the University of Virginia, as Francis Corbin; Robert Penny, Spartanburg, S. C., as the Town Crier; Edward J. Riley, of Washington, Sargent Jack; Morris Pruett, of Richmond, Patrick Henry; Hush Murray, of Washington, Roger Sherman; Michael Hanft, of Williamsburg, Samuel Adams; Norman Dehns, of Lexington a Virginia Delegate.
